The German Reformation Philip Schaff,1910 Confessionalization in Europe, 1555-1700 John M. Headley,Hans J. Hillerbrand,2017-03-02 Confessionalization in Europe 1555 1700 brings together a closely focused set of essays by leading scholars from the USA UK and Europe in memory of Bodo Nischan They address what historians of the Early Modern period have recently come to define as the pre eminent issue in the history of the Reformation as they turn their emphases from the earlier part of the 16th century to the relatively neglected latter half of the century By the time of his death Bodo Nischan had distinguished himself as a significant contributor to this central problem of confessionalization The concept involves the practice of confession building which in relation to that of social disciplining promoted interrelated processes contributing decisively to the formation of confessional churches greater social cohesion and the emergence of the Early Modern absolute state Many religious practices earlier considered as adiaphora indifferent matters now became treated as marks of demarcation between the emerging Protestant confessional churches and at the same time politicized as the early modern state sought to impose greater social control Through the analysis of such liturgical ritual and ceremonial practices Nischan helped show the way towards a better understanding of the Reformation s engagement with the people These are the themes treated in this volume History of the Christian Church: Modern Christianity: the German reformation, 1517-1530 Philip Schaff,1910 Reformations Old and New Beat Kümin,2016-12-05 This collection of essays examines the practical impact of religious change in Central and North Western Europe from the 15th to the 17th century It focuses on the effects of reform on clergy church resources ecclesiastical patronage education and poor relief The title reflects the elementary conclusion that there was no one monolithic experience of Reformation that initiatives were taken for very different reasons and that they displayed innovative as well as conservative features While offering a great breadth of original research and subject matter all authors devote particular attention to three main themes the blend between continuity and change the share of religious factors in socio economic developments and the identification of winners and losers Taken together the essays illustrate the scarcity of unambiguous trends the tenacity of socio economic structures the modification of religious dogma by the real world and the conspicuous benefits of religious change for the social lites History of the Christian Church Philip Schaff,1888
