Wisconsin Medical Journal, 1907 Greater Than Angels Carol Matas, 2013-10-01 An unforgettable reminder of the resilience of human compassion even in the face of the worst horrors of our history In the autumn of 1940 Anna Hirsch and her friends and family are rounded up by Nazis and deported to Gurs a refugee camp in the south of France Food is scarce and the living conditions inhumane Even worse is the ever present fear that they will be relocated once again this time to one of the death camps But when word comes that Anna and the other children are to be moved their destination is not Auschwitz or Buchenwald but Le Chambon sur Lignon a tiny village whose citizens have agreed to care for deported Jewish children Based on the true story of a French village that banded together to protect the Jews during WWII this unforgettable tale honours the contagious goodness that permeated one corner of a region otherwise enveloped in evil and celebrates the courage of all those who put their lives at risk to save others

Horror Fiction in the Global South Ritwick Bhattacharjee, Saikat Ghosh, 2021-04-30

Horror Fiction in the Global South Cultures Narratives and Representations believes that the experiences of horror are not just individual but also simultaneously cultural Within this understanding literary productions become rather potent sites for the relation of such experiences both on the individual and the cultural front It is not coincidental then that either William Blatty's The Exorcist or Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude become archetypes of the representations of the way horror affects individuals placed inside different cultures Such an affectation though is but a beginning of the ways in which the supernatural interacts with the human and gives rise to horror Considering that almost all aspects of what we now designate as the Global North and its concomitant the Global South political historical social economic cultural and so on function as different paradigms the experiences of horror and their telling in stories become functionally different as well Added to this are the variations that one nation or culture of the east has from another The present anthology of essays in such a scheme of things seeks to examine and demonstrate these cultural differences embedded in the impact that figures of horror and specters of the night have on the narrative imagination of storytellers from the Global South If horror has an everyday presence in the phenomenal reality that Southern cultures subscribe to it demands alternative phenomenology The anthology allows scholars and connoisseurs of Horror to explore theoretical possibilities that may help address precisely such a need
