the first underground in the 1860s to its role in WW2 Each chapter explores perspectives on the underground in a number of writers starting with George Gissing in the 1880s moving through the work of H G Wells and into the writing of the 1920s 1930s including Virginia Woolf and George Orwell It concludes with its portrayal in the fiction poetry and art including Henry Moore of WW2 The approach takes a broadly cultural studies perspective crossing the boundaries of transport history literature and London urban studies It draws mainly on fiction but also uses poetry art journals postcards and posters to illustrate It links the actual underground trains tracks and stations to the metaphorical world of underground writing and places the writing in a social political context As American as Mom, Baseball, and Apple Pie Linda J.

Holland-Toll,2001 This book does nothing less than redefine the very genre of horror fiction calling into question the usual conventions motifs and elements Unlike many critics of this genre Linda Holland Toll sees dis affirmative horror fiction acting neither to soothe fears nor reduce them to the vicarious thrills n chills mode but as intensifying the fears inherent in everyday life HALLOWEEN Ultimate Collection: 550+ Horror Classics, Supernatural Mysteries & Macabre
