Hutchinson, 1992 Hutchinson focuses initially on movement as concept and metaphor affirming its centrality in the conceptualization of all discursive activities He draws on an array of authors including Heraclitus Plato Longinus Rabelais Nietzsche Saussure Frances Yates Kristeva Meschonnic and Deleuze to demonstrate the motion of discourse and of those engaged in it He then turns to Cervantes novels to show how metaphors of movement and travel appearing on nearly every page dominate the conceptualization of the soul the self desire love and life processes Viewing travel as a composite of concurrent modes of experience with differing content and rhythms Hutchinson considers the concept of errancy the nature of place and the traveler's shifting relations with it and the values that travel may have as a motion displacement encounter and goal Of key importance are the means of improvisation developed en route His re examination of Bakhtin's chronotope in light of Cervante's novels reveals the dynamic character of time spaces in which travelers move He shows moreover that unlike typical Renaissance utopias the many worlds of Cervantes novels have the principles of becoming and dissolution inscribed in them Reflecting on the narrative of journeys both as memory and invention Hutchinson concludes with an examination of the relations between travel experience and travel narrative and a discussion of the whereabouts of writers and readers in Cervantes novels The narration of journeys he argues necessitates and encourages improvisatory writing
