Exploiting Intellectual

Property To Promote Innovation And Create Value Joe Tidd, 2017-10-05 There are two traditional views of the role of intellectual property IP within the field of innovation management in innovation management research as an indicator or proxy for innovation inputs or outputs e.g. patents or licensing income or in innovation management practice as a means of protecting knowledge Exploiting Intellectual Property to Promote Innovation and Create Value argues that whilst both of these perspectives are useful neither capture the full potential contribution of intellectual property in innovation management research and practice The management of IP has become a central challenge in current strategies of Open Innovation and Business Model Innovation but there is relatively little empirical work available Theoretical arguments and empirical research suggest that from both an innovation policy and management perspective the challenge is to use IP to encourage risk taking and innovation and that a broader repertoire of strategies is necessary to create and capture the economic and social benefits of innovation This book identifies how intellectual property can be harnessed to create and capture value through exploiting new opportunities for innovation It is organized around three related themes public policies for IP firm strategies for IP and creating value from IP and offers insights from the latest research on IP strategies and practices to create and capture the economic and social benefits of innovation

Research Handbook on Gender and Innovation Gry Agnete Alsos, Ulla Hytti, Elisabet Ljunggren, 2016-09-30 Innovation is seen as one of the main engines of economic growth It is generally assumed to be gender neutral when in fact the gendered construction of innovation has been traditionally masculine This Handbook explores the nexus between innovation and gender by providing a wide range of studies from different analytical and methodological perspectives and from various regional and industry contexts and draws implications for a gender inclusive innovation policy The multi disciplinary group of contributors discuss topics such as gender and innovation in new and small businesses and growth businesses addressing innovation in different organizational contexts ranging from public sector health care to mining and forestry researching gender in innovation policy and in design and materiality This Handbook will be useful to researchers looking to understand parallels between research on gender and innovation on one hand and research on gender and entrepreneurship or management on the other It will also be invaluable to students looking for an overview of research in both areas Contributors include R. Aidis, G. A. Alsos, N. Amble, E. Andersson, L. Andersson, P. Axelsen, K. E. Berglund, T. Bijedic, E. B. Björsson, S. Brink, K. Ehrnberger, K. Ettl, E. Fernandes, L. Foss, C. Henry, U. Hytti, S. Huberman, Matthew B. Miles, 2013-06-29 School improvement like motherhood has many advocates Everyone is for it without having to campaign actively on its behalf And just as the 100% of people who have had mothers think they know how mothering could be done better so the nearly 100% of people who have been pupils in schools or have even taught in or managed them think they know how schools can be improved More precisely they are sure that schools ought to be improved The trouble is that they propose a staggering conflicting range of methods of improving the schools from back to the woodshed to teacher merit pay a stiffer curriculum a stronger tax base reorganization a more humane climate teacher proof innovations community involvement the list is nearly endless Furthermore the issues are not merely technical but normative and political The term improvement is itself problematic One person's version of improvement is another's version of wastefulness or even of worsening the schools Furthermore the versions that win out in any particular school are not Improvement sometimes turns out to be merely a necessarily technically best code word for the directives that administrators have successfully put into place or for the agreements that teachers have lobbied into being How much do we really know about school improvement The available research literature is quite substantial but not as helpful as it might be
