Making Devolution Work for Service Delivery in Kenya Abdu Muwonge, Muratha Kinuthia, Timothy Stephen Williamson, Christine Owuor, 2022-02-23 Kenya adopted a new Constitution and began the process of devolution in 2010 The new Constitution was the institutional response to longstanding grievances over the centralization of state powers and public sector resources and regional disparities in service delivery and development outcomes This radical restructuring of the Kenyan state has three main objectives decentralizing political power public sector functions and public finances ensuring a more equitable spatial distribution of resources between regions and promoting more accountable participatory and responsive government at all levels The first elections under the new Constitution were held in 2013 Alongside the national government 47 new county governments were established Each county government is made up of a County Executive headed by an elected Governor and works under the oversight of an elected County Assembly Seven years after the devolution train left the station this report takes stock of how devolution has affected the delivery of devolved basic services to Kenyan citizens Whereas devolution was driven by political reform the ensuing institutions and systems were expected to deliver greater socioeconomic equity through devolved service delivery The Making Devolution Work for Service Delivery MDWSD study is the first major assessment of Kenya's devolution reform The study was a jointly coordinated effort by the Government of Kenya and the World Bank The study provides key messages with respect to what is working what is not working and what could work better to enhance service delivery based on the currently available data It provides an independent assessment of service delivery performance in five sectors namely health education agriculture urban and water services and includes an in depth review of the main pillars of devolved service delivery namely public financial management intergovernmental finance human resource management politics and accountability

Design of Enterprise Systems Ronald Giachetti, 2016-04-19 In practice many different people with backgrounds in many different disciplines contribute to the design of an enterprise Anyone who makes decisions to change the current enterprise to achieve some preferred structure is considered a designer What is problematic is how to use the knowledge of separate aspects of the enterprise to achieve a globally optimized enterprise The synthesis of knowledge from many disciplines to design an enterprise defines the field of enterprise engineering Because enterprise systems are exceedingly complex encompassing many independent domains of study students must first be taught how to think about enterprise systems Specifically written for advanced and intermediate courses and modules Design of Enterprise Systems Theory Architecture and Methods takes a system theoretical perspective of the enterprise It describes a systematic approach called the enterprise design method to design the enterprise The design method demonstrates the principles models methods and tools needed to design enterprise systems The author uses the enterprise system design methodology to organize the chapters to mimic the completion of an actual project Thus the book details the enterprise engineering process from initial conceptualization of an enterprise to its final design Pedagogical tools available include For instructors PowerPoint slides for each chapter Project case studies that can be assigned as long term projects to accompany the text Quiz questions for each chapter Business Process Analyzer software available for download For students Templates checklists forms and models to support enterprise engineering activities The book fills a need for greater design content in engineering curricula by describing how to design enterprise systems Inclusion of design is also critical for business students since they must realize the import their decisions may have on the long term design of the enterprises they work with The book s practical focus and project based approach coupled with the pedagogical tools gives students the knowledge and skills they need to lead enterprise engineering projects

The State of Food Security and Nutrition in the World 2024 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Fund for Agricultural Development, United Nations Children's Fund, World Food Programme, World Health Organization, 2024-07-23. Six years from 2030, hunger and food insecurity trends are not yet moving in the right direction to end hunger and food insecurity. SDG Target 2.1 by 2030. The indicators of progress towards global nutrition targets similarly show that the world is not on track to eliminate all forms of malnutrition. SDG Target 2.2. Billions of people still lack access to nutritious, safe and sufficient food. Nevertheless, progress in many countries provides hope of the possibility of getting back on track towards hunger and malnutrition eradication. Implementing the policies, investments and legislation needed to revert the current trends of hunger, food insecurity and malnutrition requires proper financing for food security and nutrition. Despite a broad agreement on the urgent need to increase financing for food security and nutrition, the same cannot be said for a common understanding regarding how this financing should be defined and tracked. The report provides a long-awaited definition of financing for food security and nutrition and guidance for its implementation. There are recommendations regarding the efficient use of innovative financing tools and reforms to the food security and nutrition financing architecture. Establishing a common definition of financing for food security and nutrition and methods for its tracking, measurement and implementation is an important first step towards sustainably increasing the financing flows needed to end hunger, food insecurity and all forms of malnutrition and to ensure access to healthy diets for all today and tomorrow.
