New Directions in Psychological Anthropology Theodore Schwartz, Geoffrey M. White, Catherine A. Lutz, 1992 The field of psychological anthropology has changed a great deal since the 1940s and 1950s when it was often known as Culture and Personality Studies Rooted in psychoanalytic psychology its early practitioners sought to extend that psychology through the study of cross cultural variation in personality and child rearing practices Psychological anthropology has since developed in a number of new directions Tensions between individual experience and collective meanings remain as central to the field as they were fifty years ago but alongside fresh versions of the psychoanalytic approach other approaches to the study of cognition emotion the body and the very nature of subjectivity have been introduced And in the place of an earlier tendency to treat a culture as an undifferentiated whole psychological anthropology now recognizes the complex internal structure of cultures The contributors to this state of the art collection are all leading figures in contemporary psychological anthropology and they write about recent developments in the field Sections of the book discuss cognition developmental psychology biology psychiatry and psychoanalysis areas that have always been integral to psychological anthropology but which are now being transformed by new perspectives on the body meaning agency and communicative practice

Psychology and Its Allied Disciplines Marc H. Bornstein, 1984 First published in 1984 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Trance Forms Ronaldo Morelos, 2010-05-21 This study investigates forms of theatre performance practice and training that can be seen to employ trance states or engage the concept of states of consciousness as performative practice Trance is considered to be the result of sustained involvement with detailed information that is structurally organised invoking imaginative and affective engagements that are maintained as interactions between the performer other performers the environment and audience of the performance This thesis investigates trance performance through the conceptual lens of dramatic arts practice In their respective cultural contexts trance and theatre attain qualities considered as sacredness Trance practice and performance across a range of cultural contexts are analysed as social processes as elements of power relations that influence the performer audience and environment of the performance As performance traditions and events this study will examine strands of praxis that can be drawn from Constantin Stanislavski to Lee Strasberg to Mike Leigh from Antonin Artaud to Samuel Beckett and Jerzy Grotowski from the Balinese trance performance form of Sanghyang Dedari in the 1930s to the 1990s from the Channeling practitioners in the U S in the 1930s to Seth and Lazaris in the 1970s to the 1990s and from traditions of military training performance violence and rhetoric associated with the attacks of the 11th of September 2001 in the U S and its aftermath Learning a New Land Carola Suárez-Orozco, Marcelo M. Suárez-Orozco, Irina Todorova, 2010-09-01 One child in five in America is a child of immigrants and their numbers increase each year Based on an interdisciplinary study that followed 400 newly arrived children from the Caribbean China Central America and Mexico for five years this book details the lives dreams academic journeys and frustrations of these youngest immigrants Transforming Qualitative Data Harry F. Wolcott, 1994-02-18 Publisher's description After the glamour of working in the field is over you now face the daunting challenge of transforming your field notes and interview tapes into a completed study But where do you start In Transforming Qualitative Data Harry F Wolcott guides you through the process of completing your research study Beginning with an introductory chapter that presents his views on ethnography he explores the transformation process by breaking it down into three related activities description analysis and interpretation To illustrate each point he critically examines his own work using nine of his previous studies as illustrations Then he shows you how to learn and to teach qualitative research by applying the three principles outlined in the volume Written with the usual wit and brilliance shown in Wolcott's work Transforming Qualitative Data is a major statement on doing research by one of the master ethnographers of our time Cultures Under Siege Antonius C. G. M. Robben, Marcelo M. Suarez-Orozco, 2000-09-14 Collective violence changes the perpetrators the victims and the societies in which it occurs It targets the body the psyche and the socio cultural order How do people come to terms with these tragic events and how are cultures affected by massive outbreaks of violence This book is a groundbreaking collection of essays by anthropologists psychologists and psychoanalysts drawing on field research in many different parts of the world Profiting from an interdisciplinary dialogue the authors provide provocative at times deeply troubling insights into the darker side of humanity and they also propose new ways of understanding the terrible things that people are capable of doing to each other Weaving the Threads of Life Renaat Devisch, 1993-11 For the Yaka of Southwestern Zaire infertility is a tear in the fabric of life and the Khita fertility ritual is a trusted way of reweaving the damaged strands In Weaving the Threads of Life Rene Devisch offers an extended analysis of the Khita cult which leads to an original account of the workings of ritual healing Drawing on many years among urban and rural Yaka Devisch analyzes their understanding of existence as a fabric of firmly but delicately interwoven threads of nature body and society The fertility healing ritual calls forth forces feelings and meanings that allow women to rejoin themselves to the complex pattern of social and cosmic life These elaborate rites whether simulating mortal agony and rebirth gestation and delivery or flowering and decay using music and dance steambath or massage dream messages or scarification are not based on symbols of traditional beliefs Rather Devisch shows the rites themselves generate forces and meaning creating and shaping the cosmic physical and social world of their participants In contrast to current theoretical methods such as postmodern or symbolical interpretation Devisch s praxiological approach is unique in also using phenomenological insights into the intent and results of anthropological fieldwork This innovative work will have ramifications beyond African studies reaching into the anthropology of medicine and the body comparative religious history and women s studies
