

Make CONNECTIONS

How do readers make connections?

Good readers make connections by using what they already know to connect a text to their life experiences, another text, or the world.

Text to Self:

This reminds me of when I...

Connecting the story to your life & experiences

Text to Text:

This reminds me of a book I read...

Connecting the story to another book

Text to World:

I heard about this on the news when...

Connecting the story to the real world

Making Connections Through Reading And Writing:

Transforming Literacy: Changing Lives Through Reading and Writing Robert P. Waxler, Maureen P.

Hall, 2011-05-11 The book is interdisciplinary in focus and centers on enlarging teachers' understanding of how reading and writing can change lives and how the language arts can contribute significantly to and change educational processes in the twenty-first century. Implicit in its argument is that although the emphasis on science and math is crucial to education in the digital age, it remains vitally important to keep reading and writing language and story at the heart of the educational process. This is particularly true in a democratic society because shaping stories through human language can enhance the quality of our lives and teach us something important about what it means to be human and vulnerable. In this sense, stories allow for self-reflection and an increased opportunity to enhance and understand emotional intelligence and human community.

Reading-Writing Connections Mary F. Heller, 1999-04-01 Reading Writing Connections From Theory to Practice is an extraordinary language arts methods text that enables elementary and middle school teachers to create classroom environments where all students can become lifelong readers and writers. Focusing on developmentally appropriate methods and materials, this remarkably readable book empowers a new generation of teachers to integrate reading, writing, listening, and speaking in K-8 classrooms. Heller's highly accessible writing style makes this book suitable as a primary text for undergraduate and graduate courses in language arts, reading, writing, and literacy. Special features of this second edition include a vision of how to transform cutting-edge theory and research into classroom practice that utilizes integrated language arts instruction, a unique developmental perspective with separate chapters on teaching methods and materials for kindergarten, primary 1-3, intermediate 4-6, and middle grades 7-8, instructional guidelines that offer generous, detailed suggestions for applying theory to practice, plus For You to Try and For Your Journal exercises that encourage critical thinking and reflection, and a wealth of classroom vignettes, examples of students' oral and written language, illustrations, and figures that accentuate interesting and informative theory, research, and practice. In addition, Reading Writing Connections offers expanded content on the impact of sociocultural theory and the whole language movement on the teaching of reading and writing across the curriculum, greater emphasis on cultural diversity, including new multicultural children's literature booklists that complement the general children's literature bibliographies, and current information on alternative assessment, emerging technologies, the multiage classroom, reader response to literature, and thematic teaching.

Digital Reading and Writing in Composition Studies Mary R. Lamb, Jennifer M. Parrott, 2019-03-13 As digital reading has become more productive and active, the lines between reading and writing become more blurred. This book offers both an exploration of collaborative reading and pedagogical strategies for teaching reading and writing that reflect the realities of digital literacies. This edited scholarly collection offers strategies for teaching reading and writing that highlight the possibilities, opportunities, and complexities of digital literacies. Part 1 explores reading and writing that happen digitally and offers frameworks for thinking about this process Part 2 focuses on strategies for the classroom by applying reading theories design principles and rhetorical concepts to instruction Part 3 introduces various disciplinary implications for this blended approach to writing instruction What is emerging is new theories and practices of reading in both print and digital spaces theories that account for how diverse student readers encounter and engage digital texts This collection contributes to this work by offering strategies for sustaining reading and cultivating writing in this landscape of changing digital literacies The book is essential for the professional development of beginning teachers who will appreciate the historical and bibliographic overview as well as classroom strategies and for busy veteran teachers who will gain updated knowledge and a renewed commitment to teaching an array of literacy skills It will be ideal for graduate seminars in composition theory and pedagogy both undergraduate and graduate and teacher education courses and will be key reading for scholars in rhetoric and composition interested in composition history assessment communication studies and literature pedagogy Making

Hiebert,2009-05-05 Teaching students specific literacy skills is important but equally critical and often overlooked is giving them the time and opportunity to read actual texts Bringing together leading scholars this book focuses on how teachers can improve both the quality and quantity of reading experiences in K 12 classrooms Essential topics include factors that make reading tasks more or less productive for different types of learners ways to balance independent reading with whole class and small group instruction how to choose appropriate texts and the connections between reading engagement and proficiency The relevant research literature is reviewed and exemplary practices and programs are described Reading, Writing, and Rigor Nancy Boyles,2018-04-12 What does rigor a word that frequently pops up in conversations about education really mean More specifically what does it mean for literacy instruction and how does it relate to challenging standards based assessments In this informative and practical guide literacy expert Nancy Boyles uses the framework from Webb s Depth of Knowledge DOK to answer these questions offering experience based advice along with specific examples of K 8 assessment items Boyles defines rigor and shows how it relates to literacy at each DOK level and explains the kind of thinking students will be expected to demonstrate She then tackles the essence of what teachers need to know about how DOK and its associated rigors are measured on standards based assessments Specifically readers learn how each DOK rigor aligns with standards text complexity close reading student interaction the reading writing connection and formative assessment Teachers coaches and administrators will find clear guidance easy to implement strategies dozens of useful teaching tools and resources and encouragement to help students achieve and demonstrate true rigor in reading and writing

Hollywood or History? Lisa K. Pennington, Donna Fortune, Mary E. Tackett, Paige Horst, Meghan A. Kessler, 2024-09-01 Teaching and learning through Hollywood or commercial film and television productions is anything but a new approach and has been something of a mainstay in the classroom for nearly a century However purposeful and effective instruction through film is not problem free and there are many challenges that accompany classroom applications of Hollywood motion pictures In response to the problems and possibilities associated with teaching through film we are developing a collection of practical classroom ready lesson ideas that might bridge gaps between theory and practice and assist teachers endeavoring to make effective use of film in their classrooms We believe that film can serve as a powerful tool in the social studies classroom and where appropriately utilized foster critical thinking and civic mindedness The NCSS College Career and Civic Life C3 framework represents a renewed and formalized emphasis on the perennial social studies goals of deep thinking reading and writing We believe that as teachers endeavor to digest and implement the platform in schools and classrooms across the country the desire for access to structured strategies that lead to more active and rigorous investigation in the social studies classroom will grow increasingly acute Our hope is that this edited book might play a small role in the larger project of supporting practitioners specifically K 6 teachers of social studies content by offering a collection of classroom ready tools based on the Hollywood or History strategy and designed to foster inquiry through the careful use of selected motion pictures and television productions
