Neanderthals In The Levant Behavioral Organization And The Beginnings Of Human Modernity:

Neanderthals in the Levant Donald O. Henry, 2003-10-01 The volume traces the controversy that revolves around the bio cultural relationships of Archaic Neanderthal and Modern humans at global and regional Levantine scales The focus of the book is on understanding the degree to which the behavioral organization of Archaic groups differed from Moderns To this end a case study is presented for a 44 70 000 year old Middle Paleolithic occupation of a Jordanian rockshelter The research centering on the spatial analysis of artifacts hearths and related data reveals how the Archaic occupants of the shelter structured their activities and placed certain conceptual labels on different parts of the site The structure of Tor Faraj is compared to site structures defined for modern foragers in both ethnographic and archaeological contexts to measure any differences in behavioral organization The comparisons show very similar structures for Tor Faraj and its modern cohorts The implications of this finding challenge prevailing views in the emergence of modern human controversy in which Archaic groups are thought to have had inferior cognition and less complex behavioral social organization than modern foragers And it is generally thought that such behaviors only emerged after the appearance of the Upper Paleolithic dated some 10 20 000 years later than the occupation of Tor Faraj

The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Hunter-Gatherers Vicki Cummings, Peter Jordan, Marek Zvelebil, 2014-04-24 For more than a century the study of hunting and gathering societies has been central to the development of both archaeology and anthropology as academic disciplines and has also generated widespread public interest and debate The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology and Anthropology of Hunter Gatherers provides a comprehensive review of hunter gatherer studies to date including critical engagements with older debates new theoretical perspectives and renewed obligations for greater engagement between researchers and indigenous communities Chapters provide in depth archaeological historical and anthropological case studies and examine far reaching questions about human social relations attitudes to technology ecology and management of resources and the environment as well as issues of diet health and gender relations all central topics in hunter gatherer research but also themes that have great relevance for modern global society and its future challenges The Handbook also provides a strategic vision for how the integration of new methods approaches and study regions can ensure that future research into the archaeology and anthropology of hunter gatherers will continue to deliver penetrating insights into the factors that underlie all human diversity

The Lithic Assemblages of Qafzeh Cave Erella Hovers, 2009-06-09 This book presents the first comprehensive description of the lithic assemblages from Qafzeh Cave one of only two Middle Paleolithic sites in the Levant that has yielded multiple burials of early anatomically modern Homo sapiens AMHs The record from this region raises the question of possible long term temporal overlap between early AMHs and Neanderthals For this reason Qafzeh has long been one of the pivotal sites in debates on the origins of AMHs and in attempts to compare and contrast the two species adaptations and behavior Although the hominin fossils from the site were published years ago until now the associated archaeological assemblages were incompletely described often leading to conflicting interpretations This monograph includes a thorough technological analysis of the lithic assemblages incorporated in their geological and sedimentological contexts This description serves as a springboard for regional comparisons as well as a more general discussion about Middle Paleolithic behavior which is relevant to important and as yet unresolved questions on the origins of modern behavior patterns The volume includes a wide ranging and up to date bibliography that provides the middle range for discussing the ecological context and behavioral complexity of the Middle Paleolithic period and ends with some thought provoking conclusions about the dynamic human interactions that existed in the region during this time Updating Neanderthals

Francesca Romagnoli, Florent Rivals, Stefano Benazzi, 2022-06-28 Updating Neanderthals Understanding Behavioral Complexity in the Late Middle Paleolithic provides comprehensive knowledge on Neanderthals who lived throughout the European and Asian continents The book synthesizes historical information about the study of Middle Paleolithic populations and presents current debates about their genetics subsistence technology social and cognitive behaviors It focuses on the last phase of Neanderthal settlements and presents the main patterns of modern humans across Europe Written by international experts on the Middle Paleolithic who have conducted innovative studies in the last three decades this book explores the implications of interactions between different human species including Neanderthals Denisovans and Sapiens In addition the book discusses the diversity and variability of human adaptations and behaviors in the changing climate and environment of the Late Pleistocene and the relationship between these behaviors demography and cognitive capabilities Offers a comprehensive update on the variability and diversity of Neanderthal behaviors during the Late Pleistocene Presents an interdisciplinary reconstruction of Neanderthals by assessing archaeology paleontology paleoecology anthropology genetics and cognition Reviews the reliability of archaeological data and the theoretical and methodological advances of the last 30 years Discusses the most debated Neanderthal themes such as demography diet socio economy and art The Middle and Upper Paleolithic Archeology of the Levant and Beyond Yoshihiro Nishiaki, Takeru Akazawa, 2017-12-06 This volume is a compilation of results from sessions of the Second International Conference on the Replacement of Neanderthals by Modern Humans which took place between November 30 and December 6 2014 in Hokkaido Japan Similar to the first conference held in 2012 in Tokyo the 2014 conference RNMH2014 aimed to compile the results of the latest multidisciplinary approaches investigating the issues surrounding the replacement of Neanderthals by modern humans The results of the sessions supplemented by off site contributions center on the archeology of the Middle and Upper Paleolithic of the Levant and beyond The first part of this volume presents recent findings from the Levant while the second part focuses on the neighboring regions namely the Caucasus the Zagros and South Asia The 13 chapters in this volume highlight the distinct nature of the cultural occurrences during the Middle and Upper Paleolithic periods of the Levant displaying a continuous development as well as a combination of lithic traditions that may have originated in different regions This syncretism which is an unusual occurrence in the regions discussed in this volume reinforces the importance of the Levant as a region for interpreting the RNMH phenomenon in West Asia

morphometrics model based approaches phylogenetics cultural transmission studies and experimentation this volume provides insights from international contributors at the forefront of recent methodological advances

The Gender of Debt Mariano Pavanello, 2019-03-27 This book demonstrates from a historical and an economic point of view how the female contribution has been so determinant in the success of our species and how it is linked to male dominance Male hunting and female gathering were the two forces of production during 99% of the life of mankind on Earth Ethnographic evidence shows that female gathering is more productive and less time consuming than male hunting Therefore the prehistoric communities of Homo sapiens could manage their social labor time in the most productive way only if women lent their time to men through the supply of basic energy a debt that men incurred since the dawn of history but never acknowledged It is time now to give the gender economic relations the crucial place they deserve in a theory of human cooperation and sociality without forgetting that it is necessarily a theory of social inequality

Stone Tools in the Paleolithic and Neolithic Near East John J. Shea, 2013-02-28 Stone Tools in the Paleolithic and Neolithic Near East A Guide surveys the lithic record for the East Mediterranean Levant Lebanon Syria Israel Jordan and adjacent territories from the earliest times to 6 500 years ago It is intended both as an introduction to this lithic evidence for students and as a resource for researchers working with Paleolithic and Neolithic stone tool evidence Written by a lithic analyst and professional flintknapper this book systematically examines variation in technology typology and industries for the Lower Middle and Upper Paleolithic the Epipaleolithic and Neolithic periods in the Near East It is extensively illustrated with drawings of stone tools In addition to surveying the lithic evidence the book also considers ways in which archaeological treatment of this evidence could be changed to make it more relevant to major issues in human origins research A final chapter shows how change in stone tool designs points to increasing human dependence on stone tools across the long sweep of Stone Age prehistory

Millennial Landscape Change in Jordan Carlos E. Cordova, 2022-08-30 Stands of relict vegetation soil horizons and sedimentary deposits along with archaeological evidence suggest that during certain time spans within the past twenty millennia Jordan was endowed with moister and more vegetated landscapes than the ones we see today In this detailed volume Carlos E Cordova synthesizes diverse information on multiple topics to provide a comprehensive view of the changes in the Jordanian landscape and the many ways it has been affected by human habitation and the forces of nature Cordova focuses on geoarchaeological and cultural ecological aspects of research presenting data from physical chemical and biological sources He examines the changing influence of climate vegetation and hunting opportunities on cultural exploitation tactics as well as the effects of the growing population and agriculture on the environment Cordova argues that an interdisciplinary approach to studying the area is crucial to achieving a true understanding of Jordan s changing landscape Chapter topics include approaches to the study of ancient Jordanian landscapes in the Near Eastern context the physical scene endowed landscapes of the woodlands the encroaching drylands the current and future state of the paleoecological and geoarchaeological record patterns of millennial landscape change and the process of interpreting millennial landscape change The text is abundantly illustrated with photos line illustrations tables and maps providing a valuable assessment of archaeological developments over the prehistory and history of what today is the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan This volume will be especially welcomed by scholars interested in the archaeology history and geography of Jordan the Levant and the Near East and by field school students working on archaeological projects in Jordan

Phytoliths Dolores R. Piperno, 2006-01-30 The study of phytoliths inorganic silica remnants plants leave behind when they die and decay has developed dramatically over the last twenty years New publications have documented a diverse array of phytoliths from many regions around the globe while new understandings have emerged as to how and why plants produce phytoliths Together these developments make phytoliths a powerful tool in reconstructing past environments and human uses of plants In Phytoliths Dolores Piperno makes sense of the discipline for both those working directly with phytoliths in the field or the lab as well as for those who rely on the results of phytolith studies for their own research Including over a hundred images Piperno s book will be of great benefit to archaeologists and paleobotanists in the classroom or the lab

The Evolution of Hominin Diets Jean-Jacques Hublin, Michael P. Richards, 2009-05-15 Michael P Richards and Jean Jacques Hublin The study of hominin diets and especially how they have primates modern humans 2 faunal and plant studies 3 evolved throughout time has long been a core research archaeology and paleoanthropology and 4 isotopic studies area in archaeology and paleoanthropology but it is also This volume therefore presents research articles by most of becoming an important research area in other fields such as these participants that are mainly based on their presentations primatology nutrition science and evolutionary medicine at the symposium As can hopefully be seen in the volume Although this is a fundamental research topic much of the these papers provide important reviews of the current research research continues to be undertaken by specialists and there in these areas as well as often present new research on dietary is with some notable exceptions e g Stanford and Bunn evolution 2001 Ungar and Teaford 2002 Ungar 2007 relatively lit In the

Fairbairn, Sue O'Connor, Benjamin Marwick, 2009-02-01 Archaeological Science meetings will have a personality of their own depending on the focus of the host archaeological fraternity itself The 8th Australasian Archaeometry meeting follows this pattern but underlying the regional emphasis is the continuing concern for the processes of change in the landscape that simultaneously effect and illuminate the archaeological record These are universal themes for any archaeological research with the increasing employment of science based studies proving to be a key to understanding the place of humans as subjects and agents of change over time This collection of refereed papers covers the thematic fields of geoarchaeology archaeobotany materials analysis and chronometry with particular emphasis on the first two The editors Andrew Fairbairn Sue O Connor and Ben Marwick outline the special value of these contributions in the introduction The international nature of archaeological science will mean that the advances set out in these papers will find a receptive audience among many archaeologists elsewhere There is no doubt that the story that Australasian archaeology has to tell has been copiously enriched by incorporating a widening net of advanced science based studies This has brought attention to the nature of the environment as a human artefact a fact now more widely appreciated and archaeology deals with these artefacts among others in this way in this publication The Evolution of Paleolithic Technologies Steven L. Kuhn, 2020-09-14 The Evolution of Paleolithic Technologies provides a novel perspective on long term trajectories of evolutionary change in Paleolithic tools and tool makers Members of the human lineage have been producing stone tools for more than 3 million years These artefacts provide key evidence for important evolutionary developments in hominin behaviour and cognition Avoiding conventional approaches based on progressive stages of development this book instead examines global trends in six separate dimensions of technological behaviour between 2.6 million and 10 000 years ago Combining these independent trends results in both a broader and a more finely punctuated perspective on key intervals of change in hominin behaviour To draw this picture together the concluding section explores behavioural cognitive and demographic implications of developments in material culture and technological procedures at seven key intervals during the Pleistocene Researchers interested in Paleolithic archaeology will find this book invaluable It will also be of interest to archaeologists researching stone tool technology and to students of human evolution and behavioural change in prehistory Human origin sites and the World Heritage Convention in Eurasia Sanz, Nuria (UNESCO), 2015-09-07
