Management of Patients with Chronic Pain Steven F. Brena,Stanley L. Chapman,2012-12-06 This book has been written for the general health care professional from every medical and paramedical specialization Because pain is the most common factor driving patients to seek professional advice it is likely that every physician psychologist and therapist has been clinically exposed to the difficulty and the frequent frustration of dealing with people in pain All of them may find in this book some explanations for their puzzles and some updated information which usually are published in specialized journals not ordinarily read by the general practitioner Actually the book has been addressed to professionals at two different levels of general practice At one level is the busy practitioner who treats most patients with acute pain and who may use this information in daily practice to prevent the onset of chronic pain a common effort from all professionals currently is needed to curb the epidemic of chronic pain in the United States At another level the book has been addressed to the practitioner who may have a more intense desire to become involved in the actual management of chronic pain patients The Multidisciplinary Pain Center Jawahar N. Ghia,2012-12-06 The pain center clinic is in the stage of transition It has come a long way since chronic pain was a nonexistent entity and patients with difficult pain problems did not receive well deserved attention or were lost in the busy practices of various specialty clinics Thirty five years ahead of the rest of us John Bonica was the first physician who had a clear vision of a pain center's potential Twenty years later in response to loud public demands for relief of chronic pain this idea was put into practice by a number of others on a somewhat larger scale A team of specialists from various disciplines trained in the management of chronic pain now offer approaches ranging from simple outpatient care to inpatient hospitalization for comprehensive care including drug detoxification behavior modification and total rehabilitation of these patients Hospitals have entered this arena with renewed enthusiasm The pain center clinic is now an established accepted and expanding method of providing care for chronic pain patients The chapters in this book are based on examples of multidisciplinary projects that deal comprehensively with management of chronic pain Aimed primarily at the pain center clinic in the university hospital setting this book ranges from historical perspectives to current pain centers with their less orthodox methods of relieving chronic pain to the future of algology as a specialty NIDA

scientific psychology and physiology Sometimes thrown into the heading of altered states of consciousness this growing research bears directly upon such time honored questions as the nature of conscious experience the mind body relationship and volition If one broadly views this research as encompassing the two interrelated areas of consciousness and self regulation one can find many relevant contemporary examples of creative and experimentally sophisticated approaches including research on the regulation of perception and sensory experience attention imagery and thinking emotion and pain hypnosis and meditation biofeedback and voluntary control hemispheric asymmetry and specialization of brain function drug induced subjective states and biological rhythms Because the material is spread over many different kinds of publications and disciplines it is difficult for anyone person to keep fully abreast of the significant advances The overall aim of the new Plenum Series in Consciousness and Self Regulation Advances in Research is to provide a scholarly forum for discussing integration of these diverse areas by presenting some of the best current research and theory

Cancer Treatment and Research in Humanistic Perspective Steven C. Gross, Solomon Garb, 1985 Perception R. Held, H.W. Leibowitz, H.L. Teubner, 2012-12-06 This volume was designed to focus on the problems of perception and originally was to have been solely edited by Professor Hans Lukas Teuber who was a member of the editorial board which initiated production of the Handbook Accordingly he issued invitations to a number of researchers III perception asking them to contribute chapters written in a style described III his words I hope that no author II ill feel COI strained to undertake a major search of the literature he could In ite instead on an area in which he has been quite active himself and II here most of the issues are immediately obvious to him In this Iray the IIting of the chapter should be enjoyable rather than a chore it should result in a personal account of the state of a given area rather than in an encyclopedic treatise the field deserves this sort of summary retell particularly if it is pointed toward the future and speeds the convergence of developments in sensory physiology and psychological studies of perception With the growing burden of national and international commitments including departmental headship Professor Teuber felt that it would be wise to share the editorial responsibilities for this volume and accordingly asked Professors Richard Held and Herschel Leibowitz to co edit the volume with him in the same spirit as outlined in his invitation to authors They agreed to help in this task Medical Research in the Veterans'
