Regionalism and the Humanities Timothy R. Mahoney, Wendy J. Katz, 2008-12-01 Although the framework of regionalist studies may seem to be crumbling under the weight of increasing globalization this collection of seventeen essays makes clear that cultivating regionalism lies at the center of the humanist endeavor With interdisciplinary contributions from poets and fiction writers literary historians musicologists and historians of architecture agriculture and women this volume implements some of the most innovative and intriguing approaches to the history and value of regionalism as a category for investigation in the humanities In the volume's inaugural essay Annie Proulx discusses landscapes in American fiction comments on how she constructs characters and interprets current literary trends Edward Watts offers a theory of region that argues for comparisons of the United States to other former colonies of Great Britain including New Zealand Australia and Canada Whether considering a writer's connection to region or the idea of place in exploring what is meant by regionalism these essays uncover an enduring and evolving concept Although the approaches and disciplines vary all are framed within the fundamental premise of the humanities the search to understand what it means to be human

Bioregionalism Michael Vincent McGinnis, 2005-07-28 Bioregionalism is the first book to explain the theoretical and practical dimensions of bioregionalism from an interdisciplinary standpoint focusing on the place of bioregional identity within global politics Leading contributors from a broad range of disciplines introduce this exciting new concept as a framework for thinking about indigenous peoples local knowledge globalization science global environmental issues modern society conservation history education and restoration Bioregionalism's emphasis on place and community radically changes the way we confront human and ecological issues

Rural Literacies Kim Donehower, Charlotte Hogg, Eileen E Schell, 2007 Rural Literacies identifies the problems inherent in trying to understand rural literacy addresses the lack of substantive research on literacy in rural areas and reviews traditional misrepresentations of rural literacy This innovative volume frames debates over literacy in relation to larger social political and economic forces such as the impact of the No Child Left Behind Act on rural schools and the effects of out migration globalization and the loss of small family farms on rural communities Drawing upon traditional literacy and composition research and employing theory from education and sociology the text engages compositionists in broader conversations regarding rural literacies The authors share strategies that will help compositionists participate in pedagogies that are rooted in a richer understanding of rural literacies and work toward sustainability for all communities in a globalized age

A Wetland Biography Gay M. Gomez, 2010-07-05 Louisiana's Chenier Plain is a 2 200 square mile region of marshes and oak covered ridges cheniers that stretches along the Gulf of Mexico from Sabine Lake to Vermilion Bay Its inhabitants some 6 000 people of Cajun and other ancestries retain strong economic and cultural ties to the land and its teeming wildlife

They call it paradise but it is a vulnerable paradise In this multifaceted study Gay Gomez explores the interaction of the land people and wildlife of the Chenier Plain revealing both the uniqueness of the region and the challenges it faces After describing the geography and history of the Chenier Plain Gomez turns to the lifeways of its people Drawing on their words and stories she tells how the chenier dwellers combine modern occupations with traditional pursuits such as alligator and waterfowl hunting fur trapping and fishing She shows how these traditions of wildlife use provide both economic incentives for conservation and a source of personal and place identity This portrait of a working wetland reveals how wildlife use and appreciation can give rise to a stewardship that balances biological economic and cultural concerns in species and habitat protection

Lone Star Mind Ty Cashion, 2018-11-01 There is the story the Lone Star State likes to tell about itself and then there is the reality a Texas past that bears little resemblance to the manly Anglo myth of Texas exceptionalism that maintains a firm grip on the state's historical imagination Lone Star Mind takes aim at this traditional narrative holding both academic and lay historians accountable for the ways in which they craft the state's story A clear sighted far reaching work of intellectual history this book marshals a wide array of pertinent scholarship analysis and original ideas to point the way toward a new usable past that twenty first century Texans will find relevant Ty Cashion fixes T R Fehrenbach's Lone Star A History of Texas and the Texans in his crosshairs in particular laying bare the conceptual deficiencies of the romantic and mythic narrative the book has served to codify since its first publication in 1968 At the same time Cashion explores the reasons why the collective efforts of university trained scholars have failed to diminish the appeal of the state's iconic popular culture despite the fuller and more accurate record these historians have produced Framing the search for a collective Texan identity in the context of a post Christian age and the end of Anglo male hegemony Lone Star Mind illuminates the many historiographical issues besetting the study of American history that will resonate with scholars in other fields as well Cashion proposes that a cultural history approach focusing on the self interests of all Texans is capable of telling a more complete story a story that captures present day realities

Invitation to an Execution Gordon Morris Bakken, 2010-11-16 Until the early twentieth century printed invitations to executions issued by lawmen were a vital part of the ritual of death concluding a criminal proceeding in the United States In this study Gordon Morris Bakken invites readers to an understanding of the death penalty in America with a collection of essays that trace the history and politics of this highly charged moral legal and cultural issue Bakken has solicited essays from historians political scientists and lawyers to ensure a broad treatment of the evolution of American cultural attitudes about crime and capital punishment Part one of this extensive analysis focuses on politics legal history multicultural issues and the international aspects of the death penalty Part two offers a regional analysis with essays that put death penalty issues into a geographic and cultural context Part three focuses on specific states with emphasis on the need to understand capital punishment in terms of state law development particularly because states determine on whom the death penalty will be imposed Part four examines the various means of death from hanging to lethal injection in state law case studies And finally part five focuses on the portrayal of capital punishment in popular culture

The Natural West Dan Flores,2003-03-30 The Natural West offers essays reflecting the natural history of the American West as written by one of its most respected environmental historians Developing a provocative theme Dan Flores asserts that Western environmental history cannot be explained by examining place culture or policy alone but should be understood within the context of a universal human nature The Natural West entertains the notion that we all have a biological nature that helps explain some of our attitudes towards the environment FLores also explains the ways in which various cultures including the Comanches New Mexico Hispanos Mormons Texans and Montanans interact with the environment of the West Gracefully moving between the personal and the objective Flores intersperses his writings with literature scientific theory and personal reflection The topics cover a wide range from historical human nature regarding animals and exploration to the environmental histories of particular Western bioregions and finally to Western restoration as the great environmental theme of the twenty first century

Regions J. Nicholas Entrikin,2017-05-15 This volume gathers a collection of the most seminal essays written by leading experts in the field which identify or signal many of the changing directions of regional research in geography during the past fifty years Various forms of new regionalism or new regional geography have emerged over the last several decades especially in political and economic geography but in general the region has been a concept in declining use Despite this the region has gained new currency in sub areas of political and economic geography and a so called new regionalism has emerged in studies of the changing nature of the nation state in a globalizing economy Taken together the essays in this volume provide the reader with a comprehensive overview of academic developments in this area of geographical research
