Regulation of Airspace Liberalisation in Brazil Delphine Defossez, 2022-05-30 The book starts from the premise that the current aviation framework in Brazil cannot sustain a full liberalisation in the long run While the competition rules in place offer a strong framework which only requires small modifications these rules are not enough to foster a healthy liberalisation In fact until recently Brazilian airlines were operating in a homogenous market where competition was artificial This artificial competition obtained through the imposition of a legal obligation to provide water and a snack and grant a 23kg bag allowance has resulted in a highly concentrated domestic market with very few players Compared to other same size markets such as China or India Brazil is far behind in terms of airlines operating at national level Consequently the opening of the domestic market must be closely regulated to avoid national carriers suffocating under external pressure For this reason state intervention during the liberalisation process is crucial State intervention is also with regard to the protection of passengers The other major problem is the protection framework for passengers which is much too uncertain and burdensome In a sense it is detrimental to the domestic market and passengers Indeed there is no harmonisation of passenger compensation leading to contradictory judgments and possible high moral damages which hinders legal certainty for airlines Compared to the situation in the EU in Brazil airlines have a limited range of defences which are often dismissed by courts This book therefore critically analyses the policies and regulations in place by mainly comparing the Brazilian framework to the European one This choice has been motivated by the fact that European liberalisation is considered the best so far and as Brazil is starting this process much later it could benefit from the European experience This book will be of particular interest to scholars and practitioners interested in the Brazilian system Markets, Pricing, and Deregulation

Alleman, Eli M. Noam, 2007-08-19 Randall B Lowe Piper Marbury L L R The issue of costing and pricing in the telecommunications industry has been hotly debated for the last twenty years Indeed we are still wrestling today over the cost of the local exchange for access by interexchange and competitive local ex change carriers as well as for universal service funding The U S telecommunications world was a simple one before the emergence of competition comprising only AT T and independent local exchange carriers Costs were allocated between intrastate and interstate jurisdictions and then again between intrastate local and toll The Bell System then divided those costs among itself using a process referred to as the division of revenues and independents using a process called settlements Tolls subsidized local calls to keep the politi cians happy and the firm as a whole covered its costs and made a fair return State regulators however lacked the wherewithal to audit this process Their con cerns centered generally on whether local rates irrespective of costs were at a po litically acceptable level Although federal regulators were better able to determine the reasonableness of the process and the resulting costs they adopted an approach of continuous surveillance where like the state regulator the appearance of rea sonableness was what mattered With the advent of competition this historical costing predicate had to change The Bell System as well as the independents were suddenly held accountable
