Heavy Traffic Daniel Madar, 2011-11-01 Canada and the United States exchange the world s highest level of bilateral trade valued at 1 4 billion a day Two thirds of this trade travels on trucks Heavy Traffic examines the way in which the regulatory reform of American and Canadian trucking coupled with free trade has internationalized this vital industry Before deregulation restrictive entry rules had fostered two separate national highway transportation markets and most international traffic had to be exchanged at the border When the United States deregulated first the imbalance between its opened market and Canada s still restricted one produced a surprisingly difficult bilateral dispute American deregulation was motivated by domestic incentives but the subsequent Canadian deregulation blended domestic incentives with transborder rate comparisons and concerns about trade competitiveness Daniel Madar shows that deregulation created a de facto regime of free trade in trucking services Removing regulatory barriers has enabled Canadian and American carriers to follow the expansion of transborder traffic that began with the Canada US Free Trade Agreement and continues with NAFTA The services available with deregulated trucking have also supported sweeping changes in industrial logistics As transborder traffic has surged the two countries carriers from billion dollar corporations to family firms have exploited the latitude provided by deregulation This book is a valuable contribution to our understanding of the policy processes and economic conditions that led to trucking deregulation As a study in public policy formation and the international effects of reform it will be of interest to students and scholars of political economy international relations and transportation

Gralf-Peter Calliess,Peer Zumbansen,2010-05-31 Private law has long been the focus of efforts to explain wider developments of law in an era of globalisation As consumer transactions and corporate activities continue to develop with scant regard to legal and national boundaries private law theorists have begun to sketch and conceptualise the possible architecture of a transnational legal theory Drawing a detailed map of the mixed regulatory landscape of hard and soft laws official unofficial direct and indirect modes of regulation rules recommendations and principles as well as exploring the concept of governance through disclosure and transparency this book develops a theoretical framework of transnational legal regulation Rough Consensus and Running Code describes and analyses different law making regimes currently observable in the transnational arena Its core aim is to reassess the transnational regulation of consumer contracts and corporate governance in light of a dramatic proliferation of rule creators and compliance mechanisms that can no longer be clearly associated with either the state or the market The chosen examples from two of the most dynamic legal fields in the transnational arena today serve as backdrops for a comprehensive legal theoretical inquiry into the changing institutional and normative landscape of legal norm creation The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1979 Conflict and Transformation Christian Joerges,2022-10-06 In this important compendium one of the leading scholars of EU law and its legal framework reflects on his previous writings in the context of current challenges the European project is facing More than a simple restatement it offers an important theoretical comment at this defining time for EU law The author offers a welcome counterbalance to what some perceive to be a surfeit of optimism when assessing the EU and its development In so doing Professor Joerges identifies three flaws in the current European ideology Firstly he points to the intellectual weakness of the integration through law ideology Secondly the book sets out the systematic neglect of the economic and its political dynamics Finally it addresses the complacency with respect to Europe s darker legacies This is an important critical and candid assessment of Europe at its half century
