The M/M/ $\infty$  Service System with Ranked Servers in Heavy Traffic G.F. Newell, 2012-12-06 We are concerned here with a service facility consisting of a large finite number of servers in parallel The service times for all servers are identical but there is a preferential ordering of the servers Each newly arriving customer enters the lowest ranked available server and remains there until his service is completed It is assumed that customers arrive according to a Poisson process of rate  $A$  that all servers have exponentially distributed service times with rate  $\mu$  and that  $A$  is large compared with  $\mu$  Generally we are concerned with the stochastic properties of the random function  $N_s(t)$  describing the number of busy servers among the first  $s$  ordered servers at time  $t$  Most of the analysis is motivated by special applications of this model to telephone traffic If one has a trunk line with  $s$  primary channels but a large number  $\infty$  of secondary overflow channels each newly arriving customer is assigned to one of the primary channels if any are free otherwise he is assigned to a secondary channel The primary and secondary channels themselves could have a preferential ordering For some purposes it is convenient to imagine that they did even if an ordering is irrelevant
