Adventures and Enthusiasms Edward Verrall Lucas, 1920 There are certain qualities that we all claim We are probably wrong of course but we deceive ourselves into believing that short as we may fall in other ways we really can do this or that superlatively well I'll say this for myself we remark with an approving glance in the mirror at any rate I'm a good listener or Whatever I may not be I'm a good host These are things that may be asserted of oneself by oneself without undue conceit I pride myself on being a wit a man may not say or I am not ashamed of being the handsomest man in London but no one resents the tone of those other arrogations even if their truth is denied It is less common although also unobjectionable to hear people felicitate with themselves Pg 14 on being good guests Indeed I have lately met two or three who quite impenitently asserted the reverse and I believe that I am of their company Trying very hard to be good I can never lose sight of the fact that my host's house is not mine Fixed customs must be surrendered lateness must become punctuality cigarette ends must not burn the mantelpiece one misses one's own China tea The bathroom is too far and other people use it There is no hook for the strop In short to be a really good guest and at ease under alien roofs it is necessary I suspect to have no home ties of one's own certainly to have no very tyrannical habits

Deconstructing Paradise Patricia E. Reagan, 2016-06-23 Deconstructing Paradise investigates Christian symbols that appear in Latin American Literature in an inverted way The texts under investigation invert the Christian center to generate a social political cultural or even artistic commentary In doing so each text underscores a search for meaning that rejects the centering presence of the more traditional Christian focus that has long validated humankind's existence both in society and in literature As Deconstructing Paradise examines finding a unified center around which to construct meaning is no longer possible although the search for meaning persists in the inverted Christian center The first three chapters analyze the trifecta of novels that offer a full allegory of inverted Christian symbolism including Miguel Angel Asturias El Señor Presidente Juan Rulfo's Pedro Páramo and José Donoso's El lugar sin límites Chapters Four and Five focus on inverted Christ and inverted Judas figures in multiple novels and short fiction As many Latin American literary critics affirm it is increasingly difficult to categorize fiction after the Boom although even the usefulness of these categories is ultimately questionable Literary critics now look for patterns and Deconstructing Paradise offers one such pattern by identifying a trend in an impressive scope of the well known authors of twentieth century Latin American literature while also tracing this pattern back to nineteenth century precursors Deconstructing Paradise offers a unique and comprehensive look at a significant trend that will undoubtedly foment new ideas and paths of study in contemporary Latin American literature
