Classification T. Ballmer, W. Brennstuhl, 2013-03-07. This book presents a new classification of speech acts. It is an alternative to all previously published classifications of speech acts. The classification proposed here is based on an extensive set of data naming all the verbs designating linguistic activities and aspects thereof. A theoretically and methodologically justifiable method is used to proceed in a number of steps from these data to the classification. The classification is documented in a lexicon with two sections. The first section exhibits the classification in all its details. Each verb is listed to its meaning at the appropriate place in the classification according to the second, alphabetically ordered section, which enables one to locate the verbs classified in the first part. The speech act classification as presented in this book has a number of consequences for linguistic theorizing. The book makes advances in three linguistically relevant fields: speech act theory, lexicology, and theory of meaning. In speech act theory, firstly of course, a classification is proposed which is theoretically justified and which is simultaneously based explicitly and systematically on linguistic data. Secondly, a wider concept of speech acts is introduced which proves its value by making possible a linguistically justified classification. Thirdly, the concept of speech act sequence or more generally partial order is brought into focus as a major organizational principle of the semantic relation between speech acts. The Farmer's Magazine, 1849 The Home Monthly, 1865 The ACE of
