The 1930s: A Decade of Modern British Fiction Nick Hubble,Luke Seaber,Elinor Taylor,2021-01-14 With austerity biting hard and fascism on the march at home and abroad the Britain of the 1930s grappled with many problems familiar to us today Moving beyond the traditional focus on the Auden generation this book surveys the literature of the period in all its diversity from working class women queer and postcolonial writers to popular crime and thriller novels In this way the book explores the uneven processes of modernization and cultural democratization that characterized the decade A major critical re evaluation of the decade the book covers such writers as Eric Ambler Mulk Raj Anand Katharine Burdekin Agatha Christie Lewis Grassic Gibbon Christopher Isherwood Storm Jameson Ethel Mannin Naomi Mitchison George Orwell Christina Stead Evelyn Waugh and many others The Oxford Handbook of British and Irish War Poetry Tim Kendall,2007-02-22 The Handbook ranges widely and in depth across 20th century war poetry incorporating detailed discussions of some of the key poets of the period It is an essential resource for scholars of particular poets and for those interested in wider debates Contributors include some of the most important international poetry critics of our time Death by Cliché Susan Kiernan-Lewis,2020-04-14 Claire Baskerville is a woman of a certain age trying to make a new life for herself in the City of Light When one of her clients the owner of a popular expat bookstore ends up brutally murdered in his bookstore Claire finds herself in the hot seat Working with a handsome police detective who was once her sworn enemy Claire will need to find her client s killer while keeping herself out of jail and at the same time not the killer s next victim Criminals and their Scientists Peter Becker,Richard F. Wetzell,2006-01-09 This book presents research on the history of criminology from the late eighteenth to the mid twentieth century in Western Europe Austria Britain France Germany Italy and in Argentina Australia Japan and the United States Approaching the history of criminology as a history of science and practice the essays examine the discourse on crime and criminals that surfaced as part of different discourses and practices including the activities of the police and the courts parliamentary debates media reports as well as the writings of moral statisticians jurists and medical doctors In addition the book seeks to elucidate the relationship between criminological discourse and politics society and culture by providing a comparative study of the worldwide reception of Cesare Lombroso's criminal anthropological ideas

The Cliché Killer Conor Lynam, 2020-06-17 A body is found in the Dublin Mountains but it soon becomes apparent that this isn't your run of the mill murder The lacerations on the corpse discovered by an early morning jogger amount to 1000 each one identical to the other The Hellfire club is where the killer chose to leave the brutalised woman a place that's synonymous with darkness and death Detective Ray Byrne who has his own demons heads up the investigation Since his wife passed his own struggle with life has become a challenge that he attempts to overcome with a drink in one hand and a badge in the other He knows what most don't when he sees the body he knows that there will be more Greystones is the scene of the second murder and if possible it's more disturbing than the first Although the bodies are almost polar in presentation Ray suspects the same killer is responsible Dublin becomes nervous the city has never witnessed such random depravity and Ray is struggling to keep up with the case It becomes evident as the investigation and the murders gather pace that the killer has some unfinished business with the ageing detective Ray deals with the pressure by attempting to drink it away His younger partner Emer O Leary witnesses his descent there is nothing that she can do it's up to Ray and Ray alone As bodies appear and Dublin locks down the pressure mounts When a celebrity is murdered the city demands the killer is stopped Will Ray be able to put a stop to the madness or will it push him over the edge The clock is ticking the body count is mounting and Ray's health is deteriorating Can he put an end to the madness before it ends him

A Deadly Cliche Ellery Adams, 2011-03-01 While walking her poodle Olivia Limoges discovers a dead body buried in the sand Could it be connected to the bizarre burglaries plaguing Oyster Bay North Carolina At every crime scene the thieves set up odd tableaux a stick of butter with a knife through it dolls with silver spoons in their mouths a deck of cards with a missing queen Olivia realizes each setup represents a cliché And who better to decode the cliché clues than her Bayside Book Writers group

Conflicting Masculinities Katherine Byrne, Julie Anne Taddeo, James Leggott, 2018-06-14 Never before has period drama offered viewers such an assortment of complex male characters from transported felons and syphilitic detectives to shell shocked soldiers and gangland criminals Neo Victorian Gothic fictions like Penny Dreadful represent masculinity at its darkest Poldark and Outlander have refashioned the romantic hero and anti heritage series like Peaky Blinders portray masculinity in crisis at moments when the patriarchy was being bombarded by forces like World War I the rise of first wave feminism and the breakdown of Empire Scholars of film media literature and history explore the very different types of maleness offered by contemporary television and show how the intersection of class race history and masculinity in period dramas has come to hold such broad appeal to twenty first century audiences

Foundational Pasts Alon Confino,2011-09-26 Alon Confino seeks to rethink dominant interpretations of the Holocaust by examining it as a problem in cultural history As the main research interests of Holocaust scholars are frequently covered terrain the anti Semitic ideological campaign the machinery of killing the brutal massacres during the war Confino's research goes in a new direction He analyzes the culture and sensibilities that made it possible for the Nazis and other Germans to imagine the making of a world without Jews Confino seeks these insights from the ways historians interpreted another short violent and foundational event in modern European history the French Revolution The comparison of the ways we understand the Holocaust with scholars' interpretations of the French Revolution allows Confino to question some of the basic assumptions of present day historians concerning historical narration explanation and understanding New York

Magazine, 1991-11-04 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea

Sub-versions of the Archive Carlos Riobó, 2010-12-29 Sub Versions of the Archive Manuel Puig's and Severo Sarduy's Alternative Identities analyzes recent theories of the archive to examine how Manuel Puig and Severo Sarduy reformulate the Latin American literary tradition This study focuses on eclectic theories of the archive as both repository and danger drawing from an array of sources both within and outside the Hispanic literary tradition from Borges Foucault Arrom Derrida Gonz lez Echevarría and Guillory to digital media and biotechnology This book also applies theories of cultural contamination Maria Lugones and symbolic capital Pierre Bourdieu to the novels of Puig and Sarduy to explore the representation of marginal cultures within a body of literature that previously altered or elided these subaltern cultures from the tradition Through close readings and critical theoretical applications this book demonstrates how archival fiction continues to be one of the most popular strategies among Latin American novelists and most importantly how they have successfully managed to find new ways to inscribe their alternative fictions within this tradition Puig's and Sarduy's novels reproduce discourses popular culture and the mass media that lack prestige within the traditional archive These discourses mirror realities of marginal groups gay people children the poor the illiterate women and racial minorities Their cultural variants sub versions of hegemonic masterstories are endowed with truth bearing power for them but were previously left out of the archive as legitimate novelistic models To date this is the only study of contemporary Latin American fiction that puts current theories of the archive especially that of Roberto Gonz lez Echevarría to practice in such a systematic way Riobó's analysis of how Puig and Sarduy reformulate the Latin American canon is both a necessary complement of Gonz lez Echevarría's work and an intelligent answer to the first of his projected masterstories Riobó's multidisciplinary approach
