Critical Theory Ethics for Business and Public Administration

David M. Boje, 2008-09-01 The purpose of this book is to develop those ethical traditions For example Horkheimer's books Eclipse of Reason and Critique of Instrumental Reason and his early and now classic essay Materialism and Morality ask for a reformation of Kantian ethics The reform sought is that categorical imperative in an individualism capitalism serves to worsen the difference between business ethics and moral philosophy That is it is not enough to try to be good or ethical as individuals when it is the systemic processes that must be dealt with Therefore Horkheimer asks that the maxim that would be made universal be done at the level of people organizing with others to change the social system that is producing the unethical behaviors The book is organized into several sections The first section sets the stages beginning with a challenge to the field of social responsibility in business and public administration Jones Ten bos Parker have a new book out that is smashing Then we turn to Carr and to Zanetti who each have done critical theory work in public administration This is followed by Heather Hopfl who edited an issue on ethics of goodness and does the kind of writing that makes deep connections The next set of chapters make topic connections rhizomatics dialogics of co experience story narrative and postmodern The third set of topics focus on application technofuturist international business economics university environment accounting spirituality strategy and ending with Mills work on silence of race ethnicity in business and public administration ethics writing

Enterprise as a Carrier of Culture Hirochika Nakamaki, Koichiro Hioki, Noriya Sumihara, Izumi Mitsui, 2019-05-08 This book expands anthropological studies of business enterprise to include comparative and interdisciplinary perspectives A number of books on business anthropology have been published but most of them are written by anthropologists alone. By contrast this book engages interdisciplinary studies not only by anthropologists but also management scholars and other social scientists. It is the second volume of studies forwarding anthropological approaches to business administration, Keiei Jinruigaku. This volume focusses on the cultural dimensions of enterprise. Here enterprise is viewed as a medium carrying culture rather than solely an entity of production and management as is typical in mainstream studies. The approach is based on Tadao Umesao's definition of culture as a projection of instruments, devices and institutions into the mental/spiritual dimensions of life. Therefore, in our view, production and management are among the projections of the cultural aspects of enterprise. This perspective, we believe, constitutes a new frontier in the study of business administration. This book consists of three parts: the first being religiosity and spirituality; the second, exhibitions, performance and inducement; and the third, history and story. In Part I, Quaker Codes, ex-votos and spiritual leadership are discussed in relation to management and behavior and miracles and pilgrimage. Part II describes exhibitions justifying nuclear power industry within power plants in both Japan and England; the exhibition by English families of their porcelain collections and the performance skills of orchestral maestros. All of these examples indicate that through the use of narratives and myths, exhibits and performances overtly and covertly induce visitors or audiences to certain viewpoints and emotions. Part III offers examples of histories and stories of enterprise articulated through the branding and consumption of industrial products and their display in enterprise museums where the essence of culture and heritage is cherished and emphasized by and for the wider community and the enterprise itself. Conjoined as an interdisciplinary team of Western and Japanese researchers, we apply an anthropological approach to the cultural history of enterprise in both Britain and Japan.
