Technology-Supported Learning In and Out of the Japanese Language Classroom Erica Zimmerman, Abigail McMeekin, 2019-05-10 This book addresses several pressing concerns of teachers and researchers who are looking for ways to integrate technology use in and out of their classrooms and assess its usefulness in the learning process. It provides an up-to-date examination of technology-supported pedagogy and language acquisition in a variety of Japanese as a foreign or second language contexts. It equips readers with practical pedagogical information including methods of implementation and learning assessment and ideas for how technology can be applied to achieve a wide range of learning objectives. The topics examined include cultural learning, identity construction, speaking, reading, writing, pronunciation, collaborative online learning, digital and 3D virtual reality games, online text analysis, and participation in online communities. In addition, different e-learning configurations such as flipped online and distance learning classrooms are explored. Studies examine various current technologies, e.g., blogs, synchronous/asynchronous telecollaboration, corpus analysis software, modern pronunciation tools, and will have both direct and indirect consequences for teaching and learning a second foreign language with technology across all languages.

Attitudes to English Study among Japanese, Chinese and Korean Women Yoko Kobayashi, 2020-11-05 This edited book comprises chapters integrated around a central theme on college-educated Japanese, Korean, and Chinese women's orientation to English study. The collection is composed of two parts: 1. East Asian women's motivation to study in the West and 2. East Asian women's dream to use English as a career. The first part discusses their international migration as facilitated by factors characteristic of East Asian nations, e.g., middle-class women's access to advanced education and yet unequal access to professional career and other factors inherent in each nation, e.g., different social evaluations of women equipped with competitive overseas degrees and English proficiency. The second part sheds light on the dreams and realities of East Asian female adults who, having been avid English learners, aim for dream jobs, e.g., interpreters, or have few other career choices but to be re-trained as English specialists or even as Japanese language teachers working abroad. This collection is suitable for any scholar interested in the lives and voices of young educated women who strive to empower themselves with language skills in the seemingly promising neoliberal world that is however riddled with ideological contradictions.

Equity in Excellence Siao See Teng, Maria Manzon, Kenneth K. Poon, 2018-12-20 This book offers a comprehensive picture of high-performing East Asian education systems beyond their outstanding achievements in international assessments such as PISA and TIMSS. Situating excellence within discussions of equity, it contextualises the conceptions and pursuits of equity amid the development of education systems, policy, and curricula in selected East Asian societies. While parallels could be observed across the systems, including high stakes assessment culture, increasing credentialism, and high investment of family educational resources, there are also divergences in approaches and outcomes relating to equity policies and practices. In light of the challenges presented by low fertility rates ageing populations migration and the economic demands of the 21st century the book addresses these systems attempts to cater to further diversified student populations and maintain equity in excellence As the international community relentlessly seeks to enhance equity in education there is much these East Asian education systems can share This book has appeal internationally to researchers policymakers educators and anyone interested in East Asian education and equity
