Teaching Academic ESL Writing Eli Hinkel,2003-10-17 Teaching Academic ESL Writing Practical Techniques in Vocabulary and Grammar fills an important gap in teacher professional preparation by focusing on the grammatical and lexical features that are essential for all ESL writing teachers and student writers to know The fundamental assumption is that before students of English for academic purposes can begin to successfully produce academic writing they must have the foundations of language in place the language tools grammar and vocabulary they need to build a text This text offers a compendium of techniques for teaching writing grammar and lexis to second language learners that will help teachers effectively target specific problem areas of students writing Based on the findings of current research including a large scale study of close to 1 500 non native speakers essays this book works with several sets of simple rules that collectively can make a noticeable and important difference in the quality of ESL students writing The teaching strategies and techniques are based on a highly practical principle for efficiently and successfully maximizing learners language gains Part I provides the background for the text and a sample of course curriculum guidelines to meet the learning needs of second language teachers of writing and second language writers Parts II and III include the key elements of classroom teaching what to teach and why possible ways to teach the material in the classroom common errors found in student prose and ways to teach students to avoid them teaching activities and suggestions and questions for discussion in a teacher training course Appendices to chapters provide supplementary word and phrase lists collocations sentence chunks and diagrams that teachers can use as needed The book is designed as a text for courses that prepare teachers to work with post secondary EAP students and as a professional resource for teachers of students in EAP courses

Crossing Borders, Writing Texts, Being Evaluated Anne Golden,Lars Anders Kulbrandstad,Lawrence Jun Zhang,2021-12-14 This book provides critical perspectives on issues relating to writing norms and assessment as well as writing proficiency development and suggests that scholars need to both carefully examine testing regimes and develop research informed perspectives on tests and testing practices In this way schools institutions of adult education and universities can better prepare learners with differing cultural experiences to meet the challenges The book brings together empirical studies from diverse geographical contexts to address the crossing of literacy borders with a focus on academic genres and practices Most of the studies examine writing in countries where the norms and expectations are different but some focus on writing in a new discourse community set in a new discipline The chapters shed light on commonalities and differences between these two situations with respect to the expectations and evaluations facing the writers They also consider the extent to which the norms that the writers bring with them from their educational backgrounds and own cultures are compromised in order to succeed in the new educational settings

International Student Adaptation to Academic Writing in Higher Education Ly Thi Tran, 2014-07-08 Academic writing is a key practice in higher education and central to international students academic success in the country of education International Student Adaptation to Academic Writing in Higher Education addresses the prominent forms of adaptation emerging from international students journey to mediate between disciplinary practices cultural norms and personal desires in meaning making It introduces new concepts that present different patterns of international student adaptation including surface adaptation committed adaptation reverse adaptation and hybrid adaptation Drawing on these concepts of adaptation this book provides readers with new and deeper insights into the complex nature of international students adjustment to host institutions It works through many unresolved issues related to cross border students intellectual cultural linguistic and personal negotiations This book presents a trans disciplinary framework for conceptualising international students and lecturers practices within the institutional structure This framework has been developed by drawing on a modified version of Lillis heuristic of talk around text and positioning theory The framework enables an exploration of not only the reasons underpinning international students specific ways of meaning making but also their potential choices in constructing knowledge A distinctive contribution of the book is the development of a dialogical pedagogic model for mutual adaptation between international students and academics rather than the onus being on exclusive adaptation from the students Existing research on international education indicates the significance of reciprocal adaptation between international students and academics Yet very little has been done to conceptualise what mutual adaptation means and what is involved in this process The dialogical model introduced in this book offers concrete steps towards developing reciprocal adaptation of international students and academics within the overarching institutional realities of the university It can be used as a tool to enhance the education of international students in this increasingly internationalised environment This book is a significant contribution to the field of international education It takes a critical stance on contemporary views of globally mobile students The insights into international students voices hidden intentions and their potential choices in meaning making presented in this book will attract dialogues about the critical issues related to inclusive practices internationalised curriculum and institutional responses to the diverse needs of international students
