

THE ROBIN

Robins live in the city.
They live in the country.
They build their nests in trees.
The mother Robin lays one egg
a day for three, four, or five days.
She might not be able to fly
if she carried more than one egg inside her at one time.
Robins may not hear
or smell a worm.
But they can see worms
when they come out of the ground.

Look for:
Reddish breast, gray-brown back. Young Robin has brown spots on chest.

Prototypical Transitivity Åshild Næss,2007 This book presents a functional analysis of a notion which has gained considerable importance in cognitive and functional linguistics over the last couple of decades namely prototypical transitivity It discusses what prototypical transitivity is why it should exist and how it should be defined as well as how this definition can be employed in the analysis of a number of phenomena of language such as case marking experiencer constructions and so called ambitransitives Also discussed is how a prototype analysis relates to other approaches to transitivity such as that based on markedness The basic claim is that transitivity is iconic a construction with two distinct independent arguments is prototypically used to refer to an event with two distinct independent participants From this principle a unified account of the properties typically associated with transitivity can be derived and an explanation for why these properties tend to correlate across languages can be given
