Welsh, 2010-02-23. From All Quiet on the Western Front and Gone with the Wind to No Country for Old Men and Slumdog Millionaire, many of the most memorable films have been adapted from other sources. And while courses on film studies are taught throughout the world, The Pedagogy of Adaptation makes a strong case for treating adaptation studies as a separate discipline. What makes this book unique is its claim that adaptation is above all a creative process and not simply a slavish imitation or reproduction of an original. This collection of essays focuses on numerous contexts to emphasize why adaptations matter to students of literature. It is the first such volume devoted exclusively to teaching adaptations from a practical, teacher-centered angle. Many of the essays show how adaptation as a discipline can be used to prompt reflection on cultural, historical, and political differences. Written by specialists in a variety of fields ranging from film, radio, theater, and even language studies, the book adopts a pluralistic view of adaptation, showing how its processes vary across different contexts and in different disciplines. Defining new horizons for the teaching of adaptation studies, these essays draw on such disparate sources as Frankenstein, Moby Dick, and South Park. This volume not only provides a resource book of lesson plans but offers valuable pointers as to why teaching literature and film can help develop students' skills and improve their literacy. Art and Freedom Edgar Evalt Sleinis, 2003. Art and Freedom introduces a novel classificatory system for representation, expression, and formalist theories of art. Sleinis argues that a characteristic defect of contemporary theories of art is their neglect of the issue of value. Probing the issue of progress in art, he also emphasizes the need for art to contribute to positive values. BOOK JACKET Library of the World's Best Literature, Ancient and Modern: A-Z Charles Dudley Warner, Hamilton Wright Mabie, Lucia Isabella Gilbert Runkle, George Henry Warner, 1902. Dissertation Research Methods Philip Adu, D. Anthony Miles, 2023-09-11. Dissertation Research Methods: A Step by Step Guide to Writing Up Your Research in the Social Sciences focuses specifically on the methodology for planning, writing, and submitting your dissertation thesis. Written by two methodology experts in the social sciences, the book provides a step-by-step guide through each stage of the dissertation process. It covers all aspects of the methodological considerations needed from choosing a topic or research question, developing a literature review, identifying research gaps, accessing potential study participants, utilizing the right sampling strategies, analyzing data, and writing up findings. Readers are introduced to the main research methods normally used in dissertations and their characteristics, and they are guided to choose an appropriate research method for their study, provide a substantial description of the selected method, and articulate strong arguments in support of it. The book is filled with templates, exemplars, and tools to help students write about methodology in their thesis and to equip readers to successfully troubleshoot any methodology challenges they may face This compact book will be of use to all graduate students and their supervisors in the Social Sciences and Education and Behavioural Sciences who are looking for a guide to working with robust and defensible methodological principles in their dissertation research and theses The Sacred Books and Early Literature of the East Charles Francis Horne,1917 The Wiley Handbook of What Works in Violence Risk Management J. strategies as much as the institutional and the legal framework do. The failure to clear the backlog of maintenance which normally results largely from deferment of scheduled maintenance due to insufficient annual budgetary allocation to the road sector maintenance programs has led to the significant deterioration in road network condition. Exorbitant road construction costs have posed additional challenges to the fiscus thereby constraining both the quantity and quality of road infrastructure that could be constructed and maintained at any given time. Recent policy drives have been categorical in their preference of new road construction aimed at linking Zambia over road maintenance which plays a pivotal role in road asset management. This creates a perception that policy pronouncements are at variance to policy documents which promote sustainable economic development through efficient road investments and could be seen as being paradoxical in that the actual financing strategies are skewed towards road construction a recipe of comfort for the next election challenge due to increased visibility on the ground rather than to maintenance as an astute and effective way of managing the road asset. The difficulty of establishing congruence between government pronouncements and actual road business strategies in the implementing agencies has over the years posed challenges to the fiscal policy implementation. Consequently this has often led to serious budget overruns due firstly to unplanned expenditure and secondly variations due to scope increase resulting from project implementation without having prior designs. This has led to high operating inefficiencies of existing roads due to the high level of pavement degradation with the eventual effect of higher vehicle operating costs, longer travel times, driver and passenger discomfort and ultimately higher agency pavement replacement costs. The damage caused to the economy is apparent in all this. The author carried out an analysis of road financing strategies in Zambia taking a special look into the past decade with the view to ascertaining the extent to which roads budgets have been employed to fund new construction and maintenance. This was necessary to establish whether there was a mismatch in allocation of resources for roads in terms of needs and policy in which new road construction is highly favored in preference to maintenance. It was hoped that if the mismatch existed it would espouse some paradoxes which existed between the road asset management policies and actual strategies.

Contemporary Women Writers Look Back Alice Ridout, 2011-01-13. Long before John Barth announced in his famous 1967 essay that late 20th century fiction was The Literature of Exhaustion, authors have been retelling and recycling stories. Barth was however right to identify in postmodern fiction a particular self-consciousness about its belatedness at the end of a long literary tradition. This book traces the move in contemporary women's writing from the self-conscious ironic parodies of postmodernism to the nostalgic and historical turn of the 21st century. It analyses how contemporary women writers deal with their literary inheritances offering an illuminating and provocative study of contemporary women writers re-writings of previous texts and stories. Through close readings of novels by key contemporary women writers including Toni Morrison, Doris Lessing, Margaret Atwood, Zadie Smith, Emma Tennant and Helen Fielding and of the ITV adaptation Lost in Austen.

Alice Ridout examines the politics of parody and nostalgia exploring the limitations and possibilities of both in the contexts of feminism and postcolonialism      Looking Into Primary Headship Geoff Southworth, 2002-11-01 This is both a study of leadership and a research methods text It offers an analytical description of a primary headteacher at work over the course of one school year Using a mix of participant observation and interviews the book provides a portrait of this head s approach to his work his background beliefs the school as a context what he did how he dealt with change and development power and the personal dimension of headship The portrait is matched to the contemporary literature and an hypothesis is formulated about primary headship and is then used to critique existing ideas about school leadership The book also suggests ways of developing heads and school teachers      Routledge Revivals: Language in Tanzania (1980) Edgar C. Polomé, C. P. Hill, 2017-09-29 Originally published in 1980 Language in Tanzania presents a comprehensive overview of the Survey of Language Use and Language Teaching in Eastern Africa Using extensive research carried out by an interdisciplinary group of international and local scholars the survey also covers Ethiopia Kenya Uganda and Zambia The book represents one of the most in depth sociolinguistic studies carried out on this region at this time It provides basic linguistic data necessary to policy makers administrators and educators and will be of interest to those researching the formulation and execution of language policy
