Macarthurs Jungle War The 1944 New Guinea Campaign:

MacArthur's Jungle War Stephen R. Taaffe, 1998 His book tells not only how victory was gained through a combination of technology tactics and army navy cooperation but also how the New Guinea campaign exemplified the strategic differences that plagued the Pacific War since many high ranking officers considered it a diversionary tactic rather than a key offensive MacArthur's Coalition Peter J. Dean, 2018-04-03 From 1942 1945 the Allies war in the Southwest Pacific was effectively a bilateral coalition between the United States and Australia under the command of General Douglas MacArthur By charting the evolution of the military effectiveness of the US Australian alliance MacArthur's Coalition puts the relationship between the United States and Australia at the center of the war against Japan Drawing on new primary source material Peter J Dean has written the first substantial book length treatment of the coalition as a combined military force This expansive and ambitious book provides a fresh perspective on the Pacific War by providing a close up in depth account of operations in the Southwest Pacific from the Kokoda Trail campaign to the reconquest of the Philippines and Borneo Dean's work takes the reader deep into the key military headquarters in the Southwest Pacific and reveals the discussions debates and arguments between key commanders and staff officers during the course of planning and waging a monumental conflict Drawing upon archival records across three continents Dean brings the qualities of these senior officers to life by exploring the critical importance of personalities and leadership in overcoming cultural doctrinal and organizational divides in the largely unequal alliance Set against the practicalities of fighting a fanatical enemy in some of the most inhospitable terrain in the war his book shows how despite these divides and MacArthur's difficult personality the US Australian coalition was able to forge a highly effective and ultimately triumphant fighting machine With its unprecedented view of the joint nature of operations in the Southwest Pacific and its focus on frontline commanders and units in forging a successful fighting force MacArthur's Coalition illuminates a critical aspect of the Allied victory in World War II Naval Warfare 1919-45 Malcolm H. Murfett, 2008-11-04 Naval Warfare 1919 45 is a comprehensive history of the war at sea from the end of the Great War to the end of World War Two Showing the bewildering nature and complexity of the war facing those charged with fighting it around the world this book ranges far and wide sweeping across all naval theatres and those powers performing major as well as minor roles within them Armed with the latest material from an extensive set of sources Malcolm H Murfett has written an absorbing as well as a comprehensive reference work He demonstrates that superior equipment and the best intelligence ominous power and systematic planning vast finance and suitable training are often simply not enough in themselves to guarantee the successful outcome of a particular encounter at sea Sometimes the narrow difference between victory and defeat hinges on those infinite variables the individual's performance under acute pressure and sheer luck Naval Warfare 1919 45 is an analytical and interpretive study which is an accessible and fascinating read both for students and for interested members of the general public

Loyalty First David A. Foy, 2023-08-31 Finalist 2023 Army Historical Foundation Distinguished Writing Awards provides critical texture to a historical figure often left pilloried without full context The balanced treatment of a complex flawed leader is valuable to understanding MacArthur's command and an instructive lesson for today's intelligence professionals and those who rely on intelligence to guide their decisions Aether A Journal of Strategic Airpower Spacepower Major General Charles A Willoughby served as Douglas MacArthur's stalwart chief intelligence officer G 2 for over a decade throughout World War II and the Korean War This first full biography examines Willoughby's shadowy origins in his native Germany his curious arrival in the United States and his military service in World War I as well as his work during the interwar years as a junior diplomat budding historian and neophyte intelligence officer His chance encounter with MacArthur in the mid 1930s would prove to be the genesis of a near symbiotic relationship between the two with significant consequences for both Throughout his life Willoughby identified with strong authoritarian leaders notably Franco and especially MacArthur The author also assesses Willoughby's performance as a professional intelligence officer both in World War II and Korea where he is often vilified for his inaccurate assessments of enemy strength and most likely courses of action as well as his sycophantic relationship with his commander Willoughby is most often criticized for his failing to foresee the entry of Chinese forces into the Korean War and its impact upon the US Army and the prosecution of the war Following MacArthur's removal by President Truman in 1951 Willoughby retired and spent the rest of his days engaged in right wing political activity and in staunchly defending his much maligned boss The legacy he left is one filled with lingering and important questions about loyalty to superiors in civilian as well as military environments how far that loyalty should extend and walking the tightrope involved in telling truth to power Army History , 1998 Over the Beach Donald W. Marshall and His Generals Stephen R. Taaffe, 2011-10-18 General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U.S. Army during World War II, faced the daunting task not only of overseeing two theaters of a global conflict but also of selecting the best generals to carry out American grand strategy. Marshall and His Generals is the first and only book to focus entirely on that selection process and the performances, both stellar and disappointing, that followed from it. Stephen Taaffe chronicles and critiques the background, character, achievements, and failures of the more than three dozen general officers chosen for top combat group commands from commanders like Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur to some nearly forgotten. Taaffe explores how and why Marshall selected the Army's commanders. Among his chief criteria were character including unselfish and devoted purpose, education whether at West Point, Fort Leavenworth, or the Army War College, and striking a balance between experience and relative youth in a war that required both wisdom and great physical stamina. As the war unfolded, Marshall also factored into his calculations the combat leadership his generals demonstrated and the opinions of his theater commanders. Taaffe brings into sharp focus the likes of Eisenhower, MacArthur, George Patton, Omar Bradley, Walter Krueger, Robert Eichelberger, Courtney Hodges, Lucian Truscott, J. Lawton Collins, Alexander M. Patch, Troy Middleton, Matthew Ridgway, Mark Clark, and twenty-five other generals who served in the conflict. He describes their leadership and decision-making processes and provides miniature biographies and personality sketches of these men drawn from their personal papers, official records, and reflections of fellow officers. Delving deeper than other studies, this path-breaking work produces a seamless analysis of Marshall's selection process of operational-level commanders. Taaffe also critiques the performance of these generals during the war and reveals the extent to which their actions served as stepping stones to advancement. Ambitious in scope and filled with sharp insights, Marshall and His Generals is essential reading for anyone interested in World War II and military leadership more generally.

Unconditional Defeat Thomas W. Zeiler, 2004 Unconditional Defeat is the second book in a Pacific War trilogy that is part of SR Books' Total War series. It examines the concluding stages of World War II in Asia and the Pacific from November 1943 until September 1945. Thomas W. Zeiler argues that this war without mercy could only come to one conclusion: the complete unconditional defeat of Japan by a mobilized, overwhelming, vengeful United States. Zeiler describes these final 22 months of the Pacific War as a story of contrasts. While the U.S. launched a methodical, smothering attack with all the means at its disposal, Japan fought a fierce yet hopeless defense with diminishing supplies. By November 1943, Japan lacked the necessities not just for victory as in the earlier phases of the war but for adequate defense. The Japanese had no options. The strategic planning rested with the Americans. Zeiler's gripping and thorough overview discusses other contrasts between the two foes. The Americans planned multiple advances in the Pacific Ocean and on the Asian mainland. They used a massive number of troops, devised and adopted new amphibious techniques, and deployed the new nuclear category of weapons The Japanese stubbornly but desperately clung to their territory often with the basest of defenses By August 1945 the United States forces at sea on land and in the air had brought Japan near complete defeat In addition the Japanese Empire was diplomatically isolated Japanese politics was in turmoil the government faced rebellion and the Emperor stood on the brink of extinction Wracked by the destruction of the homeland from the air and blockade by sea Japanese society veered near chaos and the people peered into the abyss of an uncertain future In the meantime America s military had experienced such horrors at the hands of Japan that the U S made the difficult decision to unleash the atomic bomb Despite the stark differences between the U S and Japan argues Zeiler there was one aspect of the war that both sides held i

They emerged as leaders beloved by their men as they chose selfless devotion over national accolades. The Battle of Manila. Nicholas Evan Sarantakes, 2025. Douglas MacArthur had a special relationship with the city of Manila. Many years before when he had decided to make a career in the U.S. Army like his father and had bounced around the globe, he kept coming back to the city. He received his first promotion in Manila and contracted malaria so severe the Army had to send him back to the United States. The city was a constant in a life without many others. He was by any measure an exceptional soldier. At the U.S. Military Academy, he earned an athletic letter in baseball, became the First Captain of the Corps of Cadets, and finished first in a class of ninety-three. Commissioned in the Corps of Engineers, he had first assignment in the Philippines.
