When are legislators inclined to cast votes in cooperation with their parties and when do they go their own way When and why do nations contend with each other and when are they more likely to cooperate Thematically arranged around the interplay of contention and cooperation A Comparative Introduction to Political Science encourages students to explore causal factors and consequences related to political phenomena to become knowledgeable and resourceful citizens of their nations and the world Alan Smith covers how patterns of contention and cooperation and the resulting government policies may be affected by such factors as the surrounding political framework the distribution of influence and political motivation including values as well as material interests To expose students to the politics of specific nations each chapter concludes with two country case studies that illuminate the theme of the chapter Students emerge with a sense of what is going on in the world today Pedagogically the book employs careful sequencing of topics and concepts for clarity and to introduce politics in a natural logical synchronized way At times Smith goes beyond sharp night and day terminological distinctions to add accessible ordinary language based terminology that better captures the real world spectrum between the extremes A Comparative Introduction to Political Science Contention and Cooperation provides a comprehensive teaching and learning package including these ancillaries

The EU's Government of Industries Bernard Jullien, Andy Smith, 2014-08-13 To what extent is business activity governed at a European scale Since the advent of the recent economic crisis the EU s choices about the euro debt ratios and interest rates have caught the headlines and highlighted the importance of EU decision making arenas However these macro economic events actually tell us only part of the story about the extent to which business activity is now governed at a European scale Based upon original research on four manufactured or processed goods industries cars wine pharmaceuticals and aquaculture and driven by theory that is constructivist institutionalist and sociological this book sets out to analyse just what Europe governs by whom and why In doing so it reveals three recurrent features of the European government of industries its omnipresence its incompleteness and its de politicization The authors show that the many gaps in the EU s mode of governing industries stem from struggles over economic doctrine as well as the continued unwillingness of many actors to accord the EU a legitimacy to act politically in the name of industrial government This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Studies and Political Economy as well as those studying Political Science Economics Sociology and Business Studies
