Soft Law in European Community Law Linda Senden, 2004-09-28 This book offers the first systematic investigation of the phenomenon of soft law within the framework of the EC the first pillar of the EU and its use by the European Commission and Council of Ministers It focusses upon how soft law fits into the Community legal system and how it is used and in particular how it relates to Community legislation Differentiation of the Community instruments including the instruments of soft law is often thought to enhance the effectiveness legitimacy and transparency of the Community This book asks whether soft law indeed provides a satisfactory alternative to legislation from this perspective and if so in what cases and under what conditions Furthermore the author asks to what extent the use of soft law implies good governance and throws fresh light on this very heterogeneous phenomenon by looking at frequently used instruments in many different areas of Community law such as competition law state aid environment social policy etc in the process identifying their different characteristics aims functions and legal effects What emerges is that the conditions under which soft law is used may be problematic in relation to increasing the legitimacy effectiveness and transparency of Community action This is a work which will interest legal practitioners confronted with the use of soft law and the question of its possible legal effect in an increasing number of sectors and academics interested in the vexed question of how the increased use of soft law can be justified in a Community legal order built upon the rule of law It is also critical of developments taking place within the framework of the European Convention and the proposed European Constitution and goes beyond the immediate problems of soft law to touch upon issues such as competence legal protection division of powers between the EC and the Member States institutional balance lawmaking by the Community Courts the scope of Community legal principles and the influence of soft law on the progressive development of both Community and national law

Centralised Enforcement, Legitimacy and Good Governance in the EU

Melanie Smith, 2009-09-10 Article 226 EC is the central mechanism of enforcement in the EC Treaty and has remained unchanged since the original Treaty of Rome It provides the European Commission as guardian of the Treaty with a broad power of policing Member States conduct Article 226 has been traditionally characterised as an arena of secretive negotiation focused on the sole function of effective enforcement This study seeks to move beyond this approach by characterising Article 226 as a multi functional mechanism within the Treaty It does this by examining the central mechanism of enforcement through the normative lenses of legitimacy good administration and good governance Centralised Enforcement Legitimacy and Good Governance in the EU is interdisciplinary in nature examining law in its political context It focuses on how the institutions interact and react to competing policy pressures and explores the tensions that lie at the heart of legitimacy in the actions of public actors by engaging with concepts such as democracy legitimacy and good administration Scholars and policy makers whose work explores Article 226 will find this work especially relevant It will also appeal to those who are interested in enforcement and regulation in the international EU arena as well as those whose work considers concepts such as good governance legitimacy and accountability in the EU It is also relevant to scholars engaged in the study of institutions and processes of interaction and change
