Making It Up As We Go Along The Story Of The Albany Free School:

Making it Up as We Go Along Chris Mercogliano, 1998 Founded in 1969 in an inner city neighborhood the Albany Free School is based on real freedom community democratic principles and affection and trust between teachers and students This book provides an in depth history of the Free School including a brief analysis of its place in the broader scheme of things describes the school with reference to the various alternatives to conventional schooling and addresses certain fundamental subjects often neglected in our national thinking about children Various anecdotes describe ways of working with children as unique individuals based on faith in every child s inborn desire to learn The anecdotes are organized into chapters that demonstrate school philosophy about handling disruptive or aggressive children the apprenticeship model of learning children s emotional and interpersonal issues fear concentration television s effect on children religion and spirituality race and class sexuality teaching and community The concept of community is central to the school s philosophy Children profit immensely from exposure to the practice of community at the Free School because it establishes an interior template that helps them find personal meaning based on their ability to connect with others TD Free School Teaching Kristan Accles Morrison, 2012-02-01 Free School Teaching is the personal and professional journey of one teacher within the American educational system Faced with mounting frustrations in her own traditional middle school classroom and having little success in resolving them Kristan Accles Morrison decided to seek out answers first by immersing herself in the academic literature of critical education theory and then by turning to the field While the literature on progressive education gave her hope that things could be different and better for students locked into America s traditional education system she wanted to find a firsthand example of how these ideas played out in practice Morrison found a radical free school in Albany New York that embodied the ideas found in the literature and over a period of three months she observed and documented differences between alternative and traditional schools In trying to reconcile the gap between those systems Morrison details the lessons she learned about teachers students curriculum and the entire conception of why we educate our children
