Making Of Elite Women:

Cultural Diversity in the Armed Forces Joseph L. Soeters, Jan Van der Meulen, 2007-01-24 This book addresses the different ways in which armed forces around the world respond to the cultural diversity of their parent societies ethnicity and gender in particular in order to enhance their quality and legitimacy Qualitative Analysis in the Making Daniella Kuzmanovic, Andreas Bandak, 2014-10-10 How do scholars transform qualitative data into analysis What does making analysis imply What happens in the space in between data and finalized analysis is notoriously difficult to talk about In other parts of the research process scholars and students are aided by method books that describe the technicalities of generating processing and sorting through data handbooks that teach academic writing and scholarly works that offer meta level theoretical perspectives Yet the path from qualitative data to analysis remains a black box Qualitative Analysis in the Making ventures into this black box The volume provides a means of speaking about how analyses emerge in the Humanities Contributors from disciplines such as anthropology history and sociology of religion all employ an analytical double take They revisit one of their analyses analyzing how this particular analysis came into being Such analyses of an analysis are neither confessions nor step by step recounts of what happened Rather the volume argues that speaking of the space in between requires analytical displacement and the employment of fresh analytical takes This approach contributes to demystifying the path from qualitative data to finalized analysis It invites novel epistemological reflections among scholars and assists students in improving their analytical skills Mapping Women, Making Politics Lynn Staeheli, Eleonore Kofman, Linda Peake, 2013-03-07 Mapping Women Making Politics demonstrates the multiple ways in which gender influences political processes and the politics of space The book begins by addressing feminism s theoretical and conceptual challenges to traditional political geography and then applies these perspectives to a range of settings and topics including nationalism migration development international relations elections social movements governance and the environment in the Global North and South Make Me a Man! Sikata Banerjee, 2012-02-01 Make Me a Man argues that ideas about manhood play a key role in building and sustaining the modern nation It examines a particular expression of nation and manliness masculine Hinduism This ideal which emerged from India s experience of British imperialism is characterized by martial prowess muscular strength moral fortitude and a readiness to go to battle Embodied in the images of the Hindu soldier and the warrior monk masculine Hinduism is rooted in a rigid us versus them view of nation that becomes implicated in violence and intolerance Masculine Hinduism also has important connotations for women whose roles in this environment consist of the heroic mother chaste wife and celibate masculinized warrior All of these roles shore up the us versus them dichotomy and constrict women s lives by imposing particular norms and encouraging limits on women s freedom Sikata Banerjee notes that the nationalism defined by masculine Hinduism draws on a more general narrative of nation found in many cultures If the outcomes of this narrative are to be resisted the logic of masculinity armed manhood and nation need to be examined in diverse contexts Making the Woman Worker Eileen Boris, 2019-08-26 Founded in 1919 along with the League of Nations the International Labour Organization ILO establishes labor standards and produces knowledge about the world of work serving as a forum for nations unions and employer associations Before WWII it focused on enhancing conditions for male industrial workers in Western often imperial economies while restricting the circumstances of women's labors Over time the ILO embraced non discrimination and equal treatment It now promotes fair globalization standardized employment and decent work for women in the developing world In Making the Woman Worker Eileen Boris illuminates the ILO's transformation in the context of the long fight for social justice Boris analyzes three ways in which the ILO has classified the division of labor between women and men from 1919 to 1958 between women in the global south and the west from 1955 to 1996 and between the earning and care needs of all workers from 1990s to today Before 1945 the ILO focused on distinguishing feminized labor from male workers whom the organization prioritized But when the world needed more women workers the ILO a UN agency after WWII highlighted the global differences in women's work began to combat sexism in the workplace and declared care work essential to women's labor participation Today the ILO enters its second century with a mission to protect the interests of all workers in the face of increasingly globalized supply chains the digitization of homework and cross border labor trafficking As Boris shows the ILO's treatment of women is a window into the modern history of labor The historic relegation of feminized labor to the part time short term and low waged prefigures the future organization of work The labor force is increasingly self employed and working as long as possible a steep price for flexibility with minimal governmental oversight How we treat workers in the next century will inevitably build upon evolving ideas of the woman worker shaped significantly through the ILO Making Do in Damascus Sally K. The Making of a Market

century Yucatán moved effectively from its colonial past into modernity transforming from a cattle ranching and subsistence farming economy to a booming export oriented agricultural economy Yucatán and its economy grew in response to increasing demand from the United States for henequen the local cordage fiber This henequen boom has often been seen as another regional and historical example of overdependence on foreign markets and extortionary local elites In The Making of a Market Juliette Levy argues instead that local social and economic dynamics are the root of the region's development She shows how credit markets contributed to the boom before banks and bank crises existed and how people borrowed before the creation of institutions designed specifically to lend As the intermediaries in this lending process notaries became unwitting catalysts of Yucatán's capitalist transformation By focusing attention on the notaries role in structuring the mortgage market rather than on formal institutions such as banks this study challenges the easy compartmentalization of local and global relationships and of economic and social relationships
