Making Fast Food From The Frying Pan Into The Fryer:

Making Fast Food Ester Reiter, 1996 Some say the adventurous days of grueling and dangerous scientific exploration are long gone but Reiter sociology Brock U undertook a 10 month trek without pay into the uncharted wilds of a Burger King kitchen to bring us first hand accounts of the strange and marvellous customs of the natives The illustrations are hilarious Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Making Fast Food Ester Reiter, 1991-09-03 The flourishing fast food industry represents one particular blueprint of how to live Reiter analyses the profound consequences of this blueprint for many spheres of life women s work youth employment the labour movement the family and the community Since the 1970s young people and women have increasingly entered the job market in low waged service sector jobs Family life she explains has changed dramatically in the last forty years as many activities that were traditionally part of the home have been replaced by services available in the marketplace The production of meals and those who produce them have moved from the family kitchen to the highly regulated corporate workplace where workers are like the interchangeable parts of a machine

Fast Food Nation Eric Schlosser, 2001 An exploration of the fast food industry in the United States from its roots to its long term consequences Making Fast Food Ester Reiter, 1996 Working in America Amy S. Wharton, 2015-11-17 The Great Recession brought rising inequality and changing family economies New technologies continued to move jobs overseas including those held by middle class information workers The first new edition to capture these historic changes this book is the leading text in the sociology of work and related research fields Wharton s readings retain the classics but offer a new spectrum of articles accessible to undergraduate students that focus on the changes that will most affect their lives New to the fourth edition Eating Out Alan Warde, Lydia Martens, 2000-03-30 Eating Out first published in 2000 is a fascinating study of the consumption of food outside the home based on extensive original research carried out in England in the 1990s Reflecting the explosion of interest in food ranging from food scares to the national obsession with celebrity chefs the practice of eating out has increased dramatically over recent years Through surveys and intensive interviews the authors have collected a wealth of information into people s attitudes towards and expectations of eating out as a form of entertainment and an expression of taste and status Amongst other topics they examine social inequalities in access to eating out social distinction interactions between customers and staff and the economic and social implications of the practice Eating Out will be a valuable resource to academics advanced students and practitioners in the sociology of consumption cultural studies social anthropology tourism and hospitality home economics marketing and the general reader

Understanding Global Environmental Politics M. Paterson, 2000-04-07 Understanding Global Environmental Politics develops a new critical approach to global environmental politics It argues that the major power structures of world politics are deeply problematic in ecological terms and that they cannot be easily used to resolve major environmental challenges such as global warming Instead of simply advocating the construction of new international institutions to respond to such challenges therefore the book argues that the construction of alternative social and political structures is necessary

The Cinema of the Precariat Tom Zaniello, 2020-02-20 The Cinema of the Precariat is the first book to lay out the incredible range of the precariat the social class suffering from precarity as well as a detailed report on the cinematic record of their work and lives It discusses a thorough and definitive selection of more than 250 films and related visual media that take the measure of the precariat worldwide For example thousands of Haitians including children harvest sugar cane in the Dominican Republic The Price of Sugar while illegal Afghan refugees work in Iran Delbaran More familiar are the millions of Latino immigrants legal or not of all ages that work in the United States Food Chains Each chapter focuses on a sub class of the precariat or a contested zone of labor or the evolving political manifestation of the struggles of the unorganized and the dispossessed Among the hundreds of bewildering film choices available nowadays this book offers the reader reliable guidance to the films bringing to life the economic political and social dilemmas faced by millions of the world's global workforce and their families

The Canadian Labour Movement Craig Heron, Charles Smith, 2020-06-01 In The Canadian Labour Movement historian Craig Heron and political scientist Charles Smith tell the story of Canada's workers from the midnineteenth century through to today painting a vivid picture of key developments such as the birth of craft unionism the breakthroughs of the fifties and sixties and the setbacks of the early twenty first century The fourth edition of this book has been completely updated with a substantial new chapter that covers the period from the great recession of 2008 through to 2020 In this chapter Smith describes the fallout of the financial crisis how Stephen Harper's government restricted labour rights the rise of the gig economy and precarious work and the continued de industrialization in the private sector These pressures contributed to fracturing the movement as when Unifor the largest private sector union split from the Canadian Labour Congress the established house of labour Through it all rank and file union members have fought for better conditions for all workers including through campaigns like the fight for a 15 minimum wage The Canadian Labour Movement is the definitive book for anyone interested in understanding the origins achievements and challenges of the labour and social justice movements in Canada

Agricultural Standards Jim Bingen, Lawrence Busch, 2006-03-08 Food and agricultural standards have recently risen to the top of both national and international agendas Popular concerns about the power of the World Trade Organization focus on the intertwined relationships between environmental protection labor and human rights and the standards used to produce and supply our food and fiber globally In the developing world agricultural grades and standards are an important part of the reconfiguration of roles and responsibilities between various public and private actors in market reform This original and informative collection of studies of agri food standards in the modern economy addresses these and helps to define the scope of the emerging study of the politics of standards setting Following an overview essay dealing with the multiple ways of thinking about approaching and defining food and agricultural standards eleven case studies offer a rich body of evidence that assesses the processes dynamics and potential consequences

define for those both inside and outside the community what it means to be Chinese and what it means to be Chinese Canadian

The McDonaldization of Society George Ritzer, 2020-12-03 George Ritzer's seminal work of critical sociology. The McDonaldization of Society continues to stand as one of the pillars of modern sociological thought. Building on the argument that the fast food restaurant has become the model for the rationalization process today, this book links theory to contemporary life in a globalized world and resonates with students in a way that few other books do. Getting by in Hard Times David Livingstone, Meg Luxton, June Shirley Corman, 2001-01-01 Describes the experiences of daily life for predominantly white working class women and men during the period of economic restructuring begun in the 1980s.

Wheel of Fortune Jamie Swift, 1995-05-01 Jamie Swift combines sharp-eyed journalism that brings out the nuances of daily life with a penetrating analysis of jobless recovery. He describes the emerging world of work through the eyes and experiences of people in Kingston and Windsor, two Ontario cities with roots in the pre-industrial past, places poised for the post-industrial information age.

Standards Lawrence Busch, 2013-08-16 An investigation into standards, the invisible infrastructures of our technical, moral, social, and physical worlds. Standards are the means by which we construct realities. There are established standards for professional accreditation, the environment, consumer products, animal welfare, the acceptable stress for highway bridges, healthcare, education for almost everything. We are surrounded by a vast array of standards, many of which we take for granted but each of which has been and continues to be the subject of intense negotiation. In this book, Lawrence Busch investigates standards as recipes for reality. Standards, he argues, shape not only the physical world around us but also our social lives and even our selves. Busch shows how standards are intimately connected to power that they often serve to empower some and disempower others. He outlines the history of formal standards and describes how modern science came to be associated with the moral/technical project of standardization of both people and things. Busch suggests guidelines for developing fair, equitable, and effective standards. Taking a uniquely integrated and comprehensive view of the subject, Busch shows how standards for people and things are inextricably linked, how standards are always layered, even if often addressed serially, and how standards are simultaneously technical, social, moral, legal, and ontological devices.

Language and Hegemony in Gramsci Peter Ives, 2004-07-20 Language and Hegemony in Gramsci introduces Gramsci's social and political thought through his writings on language. It shows how his focus on language illuminates his central ideas such as hegemony, organic and traditional intellectuals, passive revolution, civil society, and subalternity. Peter Ives explores Gramsci's concern with language from his university studies in linguistics to his last prison notebook. Hegemony has been seen as Gramsci's most important contribution, but without knowledge of its linguistic roots, it is often misunderstood. This book places Gramsci's ideas within the linguistically influenced social theory of the twentieth century. It summarizes some of the major ideas of Ferdinand de Saussure, Ludwig Wittgenstein, language philosophy, and post-structuralism in relation to Gramsci's position. By paying great attention to the linguistic underpinnings of Gramsci's Marxism,

Language and Hegemony in Gramsci shows how his theorization of power language and politics address issues raised by post modernism and the work of Michel Foucault Jacques Derrida Chantal Mouffe and Ernesto Laclau The Eclipse of Morality
Lawrence Busch, Using the works of Bacon Hobbes and Adam Smith as well as historical examples drawn from the last two centuries Busch shows how the ideas initially proposed by these thinkers became reified as scientism statism and marketism systems of belief that a single mode of ordering could solve the riddle of society and thereby supplant moral responsibility Busch contrasts this approach with concrete examples of successful attempts to extend democracy into these areas to create multiple orderings so that moral responsibility is neither crushingly heavy on individuals nor unbearably light on society
