The Making of the European Union Max Haller, 2012-12-06 Outstanding social scientists economists sociologists political scientists and policy researchers discuss in this book the issue of the social aspects of European integration For each field they sketch out the main problems provide a survey on the relevant literature and point to areas wherein more research is needed The science and research policy of the European Union is examined critically both in terms of relevant social issues and in terms of its organizational efficacy Implementing European Union Education and Training Policy D.

Phillips, H. Ertl, 2007-05-08 The papers which make up this volume have for the most part emerged from the work of a team of young researchers based for varying periods at the Department of Educational Studies of the University of Oxford as part of an international network funded by the European Union The network known as PRESTiGE Problems of Educational Standardisation and Transition in a Global Environment involves teams at six European universities each of which can only employ young researchers from Member States other than that in which it is situated The Oxford part of PRESTiGE has been concerned with the interpretation transmission and implementation of European Union education and training policy in four Member States France Germany Sweden and the United Kingdom As the leader of the Oxford team I had the good fortune to work with young researchers from Denmark Germany Greece Sweden and Portugal Their work is included here So too are contributions from Jake Murdoch a member of the Dijon team based at the Universit de Bourgogne and Professor Ant nio N voa the leader of the Lisbon team Together the papers which we have allowed to overlap to some extent so that each one can be read independently represent a genuinely international collaborative effort to understand the intentions and the effects of EU education and training policy and we hope that they will contribute to further discussion of the important issues that those with an interest in European co operation and development will wish to pursue Restructuring of the Economic

Elites after State Socialism Jochen Tholen, David Lane, Gyorgy Lengyel, 2012-02-24 The collapse of the former socialist states has led to the transformation of their political economic and social systems as well as a major change in international orientations In this context new economic and political elites of the former state socialist societies have emerged How they have emerged from state socialism is a major component of this book which has two major themes First we consider the recruitment patterns of the new elites among others the extent to which the new leaderships have been reconstituted from the former cadres of state socialism Second we outline the consequences of transformation on the institutions particularly the formation of markets and privatisation in the context of the dynamic of the enlargement of the European Union and the entry of the new states into the world system This collection of papers is based mostly on two conferences out of six serial conferences under the general responsibility of David Lane Cambridge University The first conference was held in Budapest on 4 5 September 2004 at Corvinus University of Budapest Institute of Sociology and Social Policy Centre for Empirical Social Research and organized by Gy rgy Lengyel the second on 13 14 May 2005 at University of Bremen Institute of

Sociology Institute Labour and Economy led by Jochen Tholen      European Integration as an Elite Process Max Haller, 2008-05-05 Max Haller's impressive book presents an analysis of the process of European integration which keeps the relation between elites and citizens at the forefront. A timely and original read, this book will be a useful addition to the library of any political sociologist, political scientist or scholar of European integration      European Societies Mau, Steffen, Verwiebe, Roland, 2010-10-08 This title looks at the European model in historical perspective, commonalities and intra-European exchange and characteristics of the European social structure      Euroscepticism, 2016-08-29 The accelerated pace of European integration since the early 1990s has been accompanied by the emergence of increasingly prominent and multiform oppositions to the process. The term Euroscepticism has appeared with growing frequency in a range of political media and academic discourses. Yet the label is applied to a wide range of different and occasionally contradictory phenomena. Although originally associated with an English exceptionalism relative to a Continental project of political and economic integration, the term Euroscepticism is now also identified with a more general questioning of European Union institutions and policies which finds diverse expressions across the entire continent. This volume of European Studies brings together an interdisciplinary team of contributors to provide one of the first major multinational surveys of the growth of these Eurosceptic tendencies. Individual chapters provide detailed examinations of developments in France, Germany, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Sweden, Austria, the Czech Republic, Poland and Switzerland. Overall, the volume draws a distinctive portrait of contemporary Euroscepticism, situating the phenomenon not only relative to the progress of European integration but also in relation to broader questions concerned with the evolution of party politics and the reshaping of national identities      Inclusions and Exclusions in European Societies Martin Kohli, Alison Woodward, 2004-01-14 European social development over the last century has been characterized by an increasing inclusiveness of people into the ever larger collectives of the nation state, the European Union and categories of welfare entitlement. Yet recent empirical data suggests that income gaps are growing and that within the physical borders of Europe there is a greater cultural and ethnic heterogeneity than ever before. Effectively, many of the processes of inclusion are accompanied by exclusion and the creation of new borders, identities and rights. Inclusions and Exclusions in European Societies features eminent contributors from across Europe addressing the problems of inclusion and exclusion as they affect European societies today. Amongst the topics addressed are to what extent classical theory provides useful ways of reframing European societies which inequalities in work and welfare persist today and in what ways they have been transformed in processes of European integration, how considerations of new identities and the pressure of globalisation affect the forms of inclusion and exclusion in Europe. This book constitutes a unique stock taking of many of the central issues in European social integration or disintegration today      Cosmopolitan Europe Ulrich Beck, Edgar Grande, 2014-11-05 Europe is Europe's last remaining realistic political utopia. But Europe remains to be understood and conceptualized. This historically unique form of international community cannot be explained in terms of the traditional concepts of politics and the state which remain trapped in the straightjacket of methodological nationalism. Thus if we are to understand cosmopolitan Europe we must radically rethink the conventional categories of social and political analysis. Just as the Peace of Westphalia brought the religious civil wars of the seventeenth century to an end through the separation of church and state so too the separation of state and nation represents the appropriate response to the horrors of the twentieth century. And just as the secular state makes the exercise of different religions possible so too cosmopolitan Europe must guarantee the coexistence of different ethnic religious and political forms of life across national borders based on the principle of cosmopolitan tolerance. The task the authors have set themselves in this book is nothing less than to rethink Europe as an idea and a reality. It represents an attempt to understand the process of Europeanization in light of the theory of reflexive modernization and thereby to redefine it at both the theoretical and the political level. This book completes Ulrich Beck's trilogy on cosmopolitan realism the volumes of which complement each other and can be read independently. It is essential reading for anyone interested in the key social and political developments of our time.

The Walls between Conflict and Peace, 2016-11-21 The Walls between Conflict and Peace discusses how walls are not merely static entities but are in constant flux subject to the movement of time Walls often begin life as a line marking a radical division but then become an area that is to say a border within which function civil and political societies national and supranational societies Such changes occur because over time cooperation between populations produces an active quest for peace which is therefore a peace in constant movement These are the concepts and lines of political development analysed in the book The first part of the book deals with political walls and how they evolve into borders or even disappear The second part discusses possible and actual walls between empires and also walls which may take shape within present day empires The third part analyses various ways of being of walls between and within states Berlin the Vatican State and Italy Cyprus Israel and Palestine Belfast Northern European Countries Gorizia and Nova Gorica the USA and Mexico In addition discussion centres on a possible new Iron Curtain between the two Mediterranean shores and new and different walls within the EU The last part of the book looks at how walls and borders change as a result of cooperation between the communities on either side of them The book takes on particular relevance in the present circumstances of the proliferation of walls between empires and states and within single states but it also analyses processes of conflict and peace which come about as a result of walls Contributors are Eliezer Ben Rafael Sigal Ben Rafael Galanti Melania Gabriela Ciot Hastings Donnan Anneli Ute Gabanyi Alberto Gasparini Maria Hadjipavlou Max Haller Neil Jarman Thomas Lunden Domenico Mogavero Alejandro Palma Dennis Soden

presents optimistic socio liberal conclusions about Islam in the world system Countering some alarmist voices in the West neither migration nor Muslim culture are to be blamed for the contemporary crisis but the very nature of unequal capitalist accumulation and dependency that is at the core of the world capitalist system For one the analysis is based on current thinking on Kondratiev waves of world political development inherent in recent work by IIASA and the NATO Institute for Advanced Studies Analyses are also presented on the framework of the debate on cross national determinants of human well being in the world system While the author is cautiously optimistic about a socio liberal non interventionist policy alternative he has come to the conclusion that present patterns of global governance modeled around the neo liberal Washington Consensus and American hyperpower are doomed for failure A new socio liberal global consensus on global migration global order and global governance could emerge instead

The Political Implications of Scientific Knowledge. EU Funded Policy Research and Immigration Policies in Italy Marco Boschele, 2020-03-09 The work endeavours to assess the impact of EU funded research on both social science policy research and the policy making process at national level Attempts in the past to include the social sciences in the decision making process have raised questions about the validity of scientific knowledge in terms of its objectivity and in terms of its legitimizing element The starting point of this investigation therefore is the relationship between research and policy making Subsequently it considers the development of social science research in the field of immigration At EU level it analyses the changes in the dynamics of migration and how the EU research Framework Programmes have responded At national level it seeks to place the concept of citizenship and nationality law within the tradition of the social sciences in Italy and to understand how social science research has contributed to the development of policies The investigation also analyses the research policy approach at institutional level in Italy and the involvement of Italian universities and organizations in the FP6 and FP7 to determine if there takes place an internationalization Europeanization of social science research on immigration and or the construction of a non national discourse There is a formation of a discourse in the field of immigration research which follows the Commission directives but due to the Italian policy making process closed to academic and experts influence this discourse does not permeate the process of immigration policies making
