Natives, Europeans, and Africans in Sixteenth-Century Santiago de Guatemala Robinson A. Herrera, 2010-01-01 The first century of Spanish colonization in Latin America witnessed the birth of cities that while secondary to great metropolitan centers such as Mexico City and Lima became important hubs for regional commerce Santiago de Guatemala the colonial capital of Central America was one of these A multiethnic and multicultural city from its beginning Santiago grew into a vigorous trading center for agrarian goods such as cacao and cattle hides With the wealth this commerce generated Spaniards natives and African slaves built a city that any European of the period would have found familiar This book provides a more complete picture of society culture and economy in sixteenth century Santiago de Guatemala than has ever before been drawn Robinson Herrera uses previously unstudied primary sources including testaments promissory notes and work contracts to recreate the lives and economic activities of the non elite sectors of society including natives African slaves economically marginal Europeans and people of mixed descent His focus on these groups sheds light on the functioning of the economy at the lower levels and reveals how people of different ethnic groups formed alliances to create a vibrant local and regional economy based on credit This portrait of Santiago also increases our understanding of how secondary Spanish American cities contributed vitally to the growth of the colonies

Clothing the New World Church Maya Stanfield-Mazzi, 2021-02-15 The book provides the first broad survey of church textiles of Spanish America and demonstrates that while overlooked textiles were a vital part of visual culture in the Catholic Church When Catholic churches were built in the New World in the sixteenth century they were furnished with rich textiles known in Spanish as church clothing These textile ornaments covered churches altars stairs floors and walls Vestments clothed priests and church attendants and garments clothed statues of saints The value attached to these textiles their constant use and their stunning visual qualities suggest that they played a much greater role in the creation of the Latin American Church than has been previously recognized In Clothing the New World Church Maya Stanfield Mazzi provides the first comprehensive survey of church adornment with textiles addressing how these works helped establish Christianity in Spanish America and expand it over four centuries Including more than 180 photos this book examines both imported and indigenous textiles used in the church compiling works that are now scattered around the world and reconstructing their original contexts Stanfield Mazzi delves into the hybrid or mestizo qualities of these cloths and argues that when local weavers or embroiderers in the Americas created church textiles they did so consciously with the understanding that they were creating a new church through their work The chapters are divided by textile type including embroidery featherwork tapestry painted cotton and cotton lace In the first chapter on woven silk we see how a silk standard was established on the basis of priestly preferences for this imported cloth The second chapter explains how Spanish style embroidery was introduced in the New World and mastered by local artisans The following chapters show that in select times and places spectacular local textile types were adapted for the church reflecting ancestral aesthetic and ideological patterns Clothing the New World Church makes a significant contribution to the fields of textile studies art history Church history and Latin American studies and to interdisciplinary scholarship on material culture and indigenous agency in the New World

Textile Trades, Consumer Cultures, and the Material Worlds of the Indian Ocean Pedro Machado, Sarah Fee, Gwyn Campbell, 2018-02-09 This collection examines cloth as a material and consumer object from early periods to the twenty first century across multiple oceanic sites from Zanzibar Muscat and Kampala to Ajanta Srivijaya and Osaka It moves beyond usual focuses on a single fibre such as cotton or place such as India to provide a fresh expansive perspective of the ocean as an interaction based arena with an internal dynamism and historical coherence forged by material exchange and human relationships Contributors map shifting social cultural and commercial circuits to chart the many histories of cloth across the region They also trace these histories up to the present with discussions of contemporary trade in Dubai Zanzibar and Eritrea Richly illustrated this collection brings together new and diverse strands in the long story of textiles in the Indian Ocean past and present "Textiles, Fashion, and Design Reform in Austria-Hungary Before the First World War " Rebecca Houze, 2017-07-05 Filling a critical gap in Vienna 1900 studies this book offers a new reading of fin de siècle culture in the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy by looking at the unusual and widespread preoccupation with embroidery fabrics clothing and fashion both literally and metaphorically The author resurrects lesser known critics practitioners and curators from obscurity while also discussing the textile interests of better known figures notably Gottfried Semper and Alois Riegl Spanning the 50 year life of the Dual Monarchy this study uncovers new territory in the history of art history insists on the crucial place of women within modernism and broadens the cultural history of Habsburg Central Europe by revealing the complex relationships among art history women and Austria Hungary Rebecca Houze surveys a wide range of materials from craft and folk art to industrial design and includes overlooked sources from fashion magazines to World's Fair maps from exhibition catalogues to museum lectures from feminist journals to ethnographic collections Restoring women to their place at the intersection of intellectual and artistic debates of the time this book weaves together discourses of the academic scientific and commercial design communities with middle class life as expressed through popular culture Federal Register, 2008-03 Material Culture in America Helen Sheumaker, Shirley Wajda, 2007-11-07 The first encyclopedia to look at the study of material culture objects images spaces technology production and consumption and what it reveals about historical and contemporary life in the United States Reaching back 400 years Material Life in America An Encyclopedia is the first reference showing what the study of material culture reveals about American society revelations not accessible through traditional sources and methods In nearly 200 entries the encyclopedia traces the history of artifacts concepts and ideas industries peoples and cultures cultural productions historical forces periods and styles religious and secular rituals and traditions and much more Everyone from researchers and curators to students and general readers will find example after example of how the objects and environments created or altered by humans reveal as much about American life as diaries documents and texts Foreign Objects Craig N. Cipolla, 2017-04-11 Brass tinklers and pendants Owl effigies copper kettles crucifixes with blue glass stones What do they have in common The answer spans thousands of years and a multitude of peoples and places and reveals how people made sense of their world as they collected and used the objects they encountered Foreign Objects demonstrates the breadth and vibrancy of contemporary archaeology Taking a broad set of archaeological cases from across the Americas editor Craig N. Cipolla and the volume contributors explore how indigenous communities have socialized foreign objects over time The book critiques the artificial divide between prehistory and history studying instead the long term indigenous histories of consumption a term typically associated with capitalism and modern world colonialism The case studies range from exotic stone tools used millennia ago to nineteenth century patent medicines made and marketed by an Indian doctress Foreign Objects focuses on how indigenous groups and foreign objects became entangled with one another in myriad ways The book explores how the framework of consumption can shed new light on trade exchange materiality and cultural production Contributors place foreign objects in the spotlight and offer a comparison of how this general class of material played a part in indigenous and colonial worlds Each chapter illustrates how notions of consumption fit into their place in time and also delves into how foreign objects related to ideas of the body and personhood how people used them to participate in political and spiritual worlds and how they presented new ways of enduring or resisting European colonialism and capitalism Foreign Objects is a critical look at consumption through the lens of indigenous knowledge and archaeological theory Contributors Matthew A Beaudoin Lewis Borck Kathleen J Bragdon Craig N Cipolla Charles R Cobb John L Creese Diana DiPaolo Loren Martin Gallivan Meghan C L Howey Barbara J Mills Maxine Oland Lee M Panich Patricia E Rubertone Christopher Shephard Keith D Stephenson
