The Parents' Guide to Psychological First Aid Gerald Koocher, Annette La Greca, 2010-11-01 Does your young daughter talk endlessly about invisible friends dragons in the basement and monsters in the closet Is your teenager about to start high school or being victimized by bullies Is your son mortally afraid of certain insects or of injections at the doctor's office Compiled by two seasoned clinical psychologists The Parents Guide to Psychological First Aid brings together articles by recognized experts who provide you with the information you need to help your child navigate the many trying problems that typically afflict young people Written in an engaging style this book offers sage advice on a raft of everyday problems that have psychological solutions The contributors cover such topics as body image and physical appearance cigarettes drugs and alcohol overeating and obesity dental visits the birth of a sibling and sibling rivalries temper tantrums fostering self esteem shyness and social anxiety and much more Each expert article provides an overview of the issues offers reassurance for minor problems and strategies for crisis management and discusses the red flags that indicate that professional help is needed In addition the book is organized into various categories to make it easier to find information For instance the Family Issues section includes articles on Blended Families Divorce and Traveling the Adolescent Issues section covers such topics as Dating and Driving and the Social Peer Issues section explores such subjects as Sportsmanship Homesickness and Making Friends An encyclopedic reference for parents concerned with maintaining the mental health of their children this indispensable volume will help you help your child to deal effectively with stress and pressure to cope with everyday challenges and to rebound from disappointments mistakes trauma and adversity

New Families, No Families? Frances K. Goldscheider, Linda J. Waite, 1991 Is the American family a thing of the past Almost anyone can tell a story that illustrates how dramatically things have changed in the past decades Nonmarriage childlessness and divorce are commonplace Most children leave their parents home and live for increasing periods before marriage as independent adults But there are also signs of strengths Some parents play more equal roles both financially and in coping with household tasks In this revealing new study Frances Goldscheider and Linda Waite discuss cogently the question of whether we are headed for no families or new families Adults across the nation who reached thirtysomething in the early 1980s are the primary focus of the book although broader patterns of social change are seen in the influence of their parents experiences on them and in their own children's experiences of family life The authors begin with their subjects as very young adults examining their plans for work and family and their attitudes toward women's work and family roles As these young men and women move farther into adulthood we learn what influences their chances of marriage their patterns of family building and dissolving and the division of labor in the families they form In each case the authors focus on the effects of exposure to different family structures in childhood and young adulthood The authors find surprisingly that the real threats to the family are in the home itself the new option of a home of one s own in a variety of circumstances outside of marriage most men s noninvolvement in the home and its tasks and the fact that knowledge of and respect for basic skills involved in making a home are not being taught to today s sons and daughters
