New Hardboiled Dicks:

Hard-boiled Masculinities Christopher Breu, 2005 The persona of the American male in the period between the two world wars was characterized by physical strength emotional detachment aggressive behavior and an amoral worldview This ideal of a hard boiled masculinity can be seen in the pages and even more vividly on the covers of magazines such as Black Mask which shifted from Victorian influenced depictions of men in top hats and mustaches in the early 1920s to the portrayal of much more overtly violent and muscular men Looking closely at this transformation Christopher Breu offers a complex account of how and why hard boiled masculinity emerged during an unsettled time of increased urbanization and tenuous peace and traces the changes in its cultural conception as it moved back and forth across the divide between high and low culture as well as the color line that bifurcated American society Examining the work of Ernest Hemingway Dashiell Hammett Chester Himes and William Faulkner as well as many lesser known writers for the hypermasculine pulp magazines of the 1920s and 1930s Breu illustrates how the tough male was a product of cultural fantasy one that shored up gender and racial stereotypes as a way of lashing out at the destabilizing effects of capitalism and social transformation Christopher Breu is assistant professor of English at Illinois State University New Hard-boiled Writers, 1970s-1990s LeRoy Panek, 2000 With an eye toward the origins and development of the hard boiled story LeRoy Panek comments both on the way it has changed over the past three decades and examines the work of ten significant contemporary hardboiled writers Chapters show how the new writers have used the hard boiled story and the hard boiled hero to make powerful statements about reality in the last quarter of the twentieth century BOOK JACKET The Hardboiled Dicks Ron Goulart, 1965
