Castoriadis Jeff Klooger, 2009 This book is a critical exploration of the philosophical underpinnings and implications of Cornelius Castoriadis reflections on Being society and the self The book introduces the reader to the main concepts of Castoriadis work but goes further to uncover the fundamental philosophical issues addressed by Castoriadis and to critically examine the issues his work opens up assessing and where necessary offering suggested amendments to the answers Castoriadis himself puts forward Key conceptual problems addressed include the distinction between autonomy and heteronomy the nature of the self and self creation and the nature of determination in a fundamentally indeterminate universe

Research Method in the Postmodern James Scheurich, 2014-01-02 In recent years research in the social sciences has been dominated by the debate on the merits of qualitative method versus quantitative methodology Until recently the debate appeared to have been won by those promoting the qualitative approach but then postmodern theory appeared on the scene challenging all our preconceptions about research method This book goes one step further than those working at the philosophical level showing the implications of postmodernism for practice

Educational Reciprocity and Adaptivity Abe Ata, Ly Tran, Indika Liyanage, 2017-12-22

Educational Reciprocity and Adaptability challenges the common belief that adapting to new educational settings is the responsibility of international students alone. The book argues that reciprocal responses are required by students and stakeholders alike for an efficient and equitable accommodation of international students in educational settings. Considering how international students negotiate academic challenges and social tensions, it presents both theoretical frameworks and practical tools to work around the tension regarding ethical academic practices. Crucially exploring these issues across a range of geographical and institutional contexts and therefore offering critical insights into significant developments in international education across the world, the much needed research in this edited collection explores institutional educational policies regarding international students and stakeholders, institutional practices and how they are received, educational adaptability and responses from different stakeholders, the experiences of international students and institutions in negotiating academic and social tensions. This important contribution to research on the experiences of international students in different geographical and educational contexts is of great interest to academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of international education, comparative education, sociology of education, youth studies, intercultural studies, migration studies and TESOL.

Everyday Agri-Environmental Governance Jérémie Forney, Dana Bentia, Angga Dwiartama, 2024-07-05. Revitalising the way the social sciences question agri environmental governance, this book introduces the everyday governance approach as a means to improving the sustainability of agriculture and food systems. The everyday refers to localised practices, specific networks and practical norms that emerge in a process of interaction, translation and reinterpretation. The authors build this approach on assemblage thinking and theory which focuses on the collective production of the social through complex sets of connections. For this reason, assemblage thinking becomes a particularly productive guide in exploring how everyday governance is co-produced in the interaction between numerous social processes involving a diversity of actors and instruments. The authors navigate between original and contrasting case studies from Switzerland, Indonesia and the European Union in order to reorient attention to the transformative nature of governance which they locate along four different dimensions of the everyday: 1. the interdependence of instruments within a wider governance assemblage; 2. the uncertainty and unpredictability of effects in agri environmental governance; 3. the distributed nature of agency and its implication for power relations; 4. the importance of capacities in the transformation of agri food systems. This book calls for a redesigning of agri environmental governance that should move away from the setting of fix and precise objectives and solutions and rather aim for a consolidation of sound foundations on which desirable futures can emerge. The book will be an essential read for students and scholars interested in sustainable agriculture and food systems, governance modes and approaches and sustainability more broadly.
