News Literacy, Informed Citizens and Consumer-Driven Media: The Future Landscape of American Journalism Caroline Elizabeth Klibanoff, 2012-05-04 Today Americans face the challenge of information overload through increasingly accessible mediums making it harder to identify valuable information and to move fluently and efficiently through social media news and entertainment platforms. And yet because of this profound connectivity, user engagement levels are at an all-time high. Individual consumers have more power than ever to shape the changing digital world and demand high-quality information merely by connecting with news sources online. It is of utmost importance then that this very consumer class is as informed and educated as possible in regards to the value of accurate, verified journalism and high-quality reporting in order to demand a better journalistic product and to fulfill the American ideal of an informed, engaged citizenry. News

Literacy Across the Undergraduate Curriculum Amy M. Damico, Melissa M. Yang, 2024-08-08 Librarians and faculty members offer perspectives, workshop initiatives and classroom strategies to assist readers in increasing news literacy on their campus. We are living in a time when the evolving media ecosystem requires individuals to pay critical attention to content, developing ways to make sense of information, data, news reports and research. Undergraduate college student learners in all disciplines must possess skills to critically identify, assess and challenge the ideas to which they are being exposed. Both librarians and faculty know this but they may not know how to develop and implement information literacy material. In this valuable collection, reference librarians, instructional librarians and undergraduate faculty across disciplines share best practices for establishing relationships with each other and for increasing students' news and information literacy skills. Contributions include perspectives on pedagogy, reflections on successes and challenges and reports of research on student learning. This book teaches librarians and faculty how to implement news and information literacy content across the curriculum to empower students to be smarter, more critical and more engaged news consumers. Integrating Technology in Literacy Instruction Jodi Pilgrim, Sheri Vasinda, Peggy S. Lisenbee, 2025-03-21 In the second edition, this text has been updated to address changing literacies surrounding students and the continued importance of effective communication using technology tools in K-12 classrooms.
