"More and more plugged" Social Representations of the New Economy Alexandra Steinberg, 2002-08-12 Inhaltsangabe Abstract This study set out to explore representations of the new economy amongst business professionals in Internet enabled business Going beyond the new economy hype the study was aimed at understanding the ways that business professionals make sense of the contemporary economy In doing so a social psychological perspective was taken allowing multiple realities to emerge Behavioural economists and economic psychologists conceptualisations of economic life are challenged They hinge on the presumption that individuals act independently from their social environment and deviate as cognitive misers from a single legitimate economic rationality By contrast this study drew on a social constructionist framework More specifically it employed social representations theory

Moscovici 1961 76 Moscovici 1984 which rehabilitated common sense as a legitimate form of knowledge The theory of social representations as a theory of knowledge proved as a sensitive and more sophisticated tool to analyse contemporary economy in its manifestations in professionals common sense It is suggested to view the notion of common sense independently of role constellations Given this framework this study took a snapshot of the contemporary representational field of the new economy amongst business professionals Particularly the study was focused on exploring the taken for granted and beliefs underpinning discourses and symbols Data from semi structured interviews and an in depth analysis of Web sites highlighted new findings Business professionals have constructed symbolic meaning centring around the notion of interaction Economic and social beliefs were not separated Interaction is the new economy The new and seemingly unlimited digital connectivity was perceived as a challenge and triggered a symbolic creation of a new space the faceless space of interaction Meanings around the faceless space of interaction are constructed in strong contrast to physical proximity and shared experience in communities the face to face space From numerous interlocking discourses and images a core set of values emerged at the heart of the representational field deeply embedded in professionals common sense Representations of new technology of business professionals skills and roles in the new economy of space and time were informed by symbolic coping with the challenges posed by the faceless space This was evident in situative OECD Annual Report 2002 OECD,2002-04-29 A comprehensive report on OECD activities in 2001 2002 Innovation and Small Business - Volume 1 , Report on the State of the European Union J. corporate sustainability involving the corporate delivery of long term value in financial social environmental and ethical terms In analysing the purpose of the company and the definition of value creation the hegemony of agency theory and shareholder primacy is challenged More expansive theoretical explanations are considered which recognise the deeper values companies are built upon the wider purposes they serve and the broader set of relationships they depend upon for their success This book will be of value to researchers scholars and students in corporate governance sustainability business and accounting Managers professionals and other general business readers will also find this text of interest
