New European Automobile Industry:

The New European Automobile Industry Michael Rawlinson, Peter Wells, 2016-07-27 The New European Automobile Industry is about the struggle for survival going on among the assembler and components firms which constitute the European automobile industry It describes and explains the competitive structural organisational and technological changes currently sweeping the industry and outlines the spatial and economic effects of those changes The empirical core of the book is a study of a number of technology fields in automobile components These sections draw on the latest research carried out by the authors in Europe through which they evaluate the extent to which lean production techniques have permeated the vehicle assemblers and components industry

The European Automobile Industry William A. Maloney, Andrew McLaughlin, 2005-07-08 This book presents an analysis of some of the changes that have transformed the automobile industry in the last thirty years illustrating some of the most significant consequences of globalization Focusing on the response of Europe's policy makers it analyzes government industry relations at both national and transnational levels demonstrating how national policy instruments have been eroded by regional political and economic integration There has been a significant and irreversible shift in the locus of decision making power from nation states to the regional level in the automobile sector

Towards a New Map of Automobile Manufacturing in Europe? Ray Hudson, Eike W. Schamp, 2012-12-06 This book is the product of four years of collaborative work within the framework of the European Science Foundation's Regional and Urban Restructuring in Europe RURE programme With one exception all of the chapters have been prepared by participants in RURE the exception being that commissioned from Conti and Enrietti on Fiat and Italy to provide a fuller coverage of changes in the main automobile producing companies and countries of Europe A perhaps the central theme around which the RURE programme was conceived is that the restructuring of the production system lies at the heart of the changing map of Europe Equally it continues to be the case that the automobile industry lies at the cutting edge of the search for viable new models of production Some eighty years ago the automobile industry occupied a pivotal position in the transition from craft to mass production indeed Fordism came to denote not just a particular micro economic model of production organisation in the factory but a macro scale model of economic development characterized by a particular pattern of relations between mass production mass consumption and national state regulation From the late 1960s however it became increasingly clear that Fordism as a macro scale model of advanced capitalist development was reaching its limits

The New European Automobile Industry Dr. Peter Wells, Michael Rawlinson, 1994 This book is about the struggle for survival going on among the assembler and components firms which constitute the European automobile industry It describes and explains the competitive structural organisational and technological changes currently sweeping the industry and outlines the spatial and economic effects of those changes
