The New Grove High Renaissance Masters Gustave Reese, 1984 The New Grove High Renaissance Masters, 1984

Composers at Work Jessie Ann Owens, 1998-11-19 How did Renaissance composers write their music In this revolutionary look at a subject that has fascinated scholars for years musicologist Jessie Ann Owens offers new and striking evidence that contrary to accepted theory sixteenth century composers did not use scores to compose even to write complex vocal polyphony Drawing on sources that include contemporary theoretical treatises documents and letters iconographical evidence actual fragments of composing slates and numerous sketches drafts and corrected autograph manuscripts Owens carefully reconstructs the step by step process by which composers between 1450 and 1600 composed their music The manuscript evidence autographs of more than thirty composers shows the stages of work on a wide variety of music instrumental and vocal sacred and secular from across most of Renaissance Europe Her research demonstrates that instead of working in full score Renaissance composers fashioned the music in parts often working with brief segments according to a linear conception The importance of this discovery on editorial interpretation and on performance cannot be overstated The book opens with a broad picture of what has been known about Renaissance composition From there Owens examines the teaching of composition and the ways in which musicians and composers both read and wrote music She also considers evidence for composition that occurred independent of writing such as composing in the mind or composing with instruments In chapters on the manuscript evidence she establishes a typology both of the sources themselves and of their contents sketches drafts fair copies She concludes with case studies detailing the working methods of Francesco Corteccia Henricus Isaac Cipriano de Rore and Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina This book will change the way we analyze and understand early music Clear provocative and painstakingly researched Composers at Work The Craft of Musical Composition 1450 1600 makes essential reading for scholars of Renaissance music as well as those working in related fields such as sketch studies and music theory A History of Song Denis Stevens, 1961 Story of almost a thousand years of song from the time of the troubadours to the present day The Josquin Companion Richard Sherr, 2000 The Josquin Companion presents both the scholarly and general reader with the most complete and concentrated discussion ever published in English on the music of Josquin des Prez c 1450 1521 the greatest composer of the late fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries Not a standard single author life and works the volume provides a basic survey of Josquin s music and of the many problems which attend it Through a collaborative effort of distinguished scholars it takes into account the most recent research on Josquin Beginning with a summary of the latest developments in the composer s constantly changing biography and a discussion of his stature as a great man then and now the Companion continues with chapters considering all the compositional genres employed by Josquin and offers wide ranging surveys as well as close studies of individual pieces Further chapters explore both traditional and untraditional analytical perspectives on Josquin s music and suggest new avenues of research A Worklist Bibliography
