Pueblo Stories:

Pueblo Indian Folk-stories Charles Fletcher Lummis, 1910 Indian Stories from the Pueblos Frank Guy Applegate, 1929 Reprint of the 1929 ed with a new pref by R B McCoy Pueblo Stories and Storytellers Mark Bahti, 1988 A revised edition of a classic Native American arts crafts title Features the best in new storyteller figures including many contemporary artists alongside the traditional Pueblo legends that inspired their creation Pueblo Indian Wisdom Teresa Pijoan, 2000 A collection of stories passed down orally for generations reflecting the customs and traditional beliefs of the Pueblo people Serafina's Stories Rudolfo Anaya, 2015-06-02 This innovative novel combines Spanish folktales with Native American legends to create a captivating Southwestern version of The Arabian Nights Like Scheherezade who ensured her survival by telling her royal husband stories the title character in Rudolfo Anaya's creative retelling of The Arabian Nights must entertain the recently widowed governor with legends of Nueva Mexicana or she and her fellow captives will die With fresh snow covering the high peaks of Sangre de Cristo a group of native dissidents prepare for revolt In seventeenth century Santa Fe insurrection against a colony of the king of Spain is punishable by death A Spaniard loyal to the governor names twelve conspirators One of them is a young woman Raised in a mission church fifteen year old Serafina speaks excellent Spanish and knows many of her country's traditional folktales She and the governor strike a bargain Each evening she will tell him a cuento If he likes it he will release one prisoner the following day The twelve tales recounted here mirror the struggle of a divided country They include the social and political symbolism behind Beauty and the Beast and retell Cinderella as Miranda's Gift Interspersed with these timeless cuentos is the story of Serafina herself and that of a people battling to preserve a vanishing way of life under the long shadow of the Inquisition Living Histories Chip Colwell-Chanthaphonh, 2010-11-16 This book is about the tangled relationship between Native peoples and archaeologists in the American Southwest Even as this relationship has become increasingly significant for both real world archaeological practice and studies in the history of anthropology no other single book has synthetically examined how Native Americans have shaped archaeological practice in the Southwest and how archaeological practice has shaped Native American communities From oral traditions to repatriations to disputes over sacred sites the next generation of archaeologists as much as the current generation needs to grapple with the complex social and political history of the Southwest's Indigenous communities the values and interests those communities have in their own cultural legacies and how archaeological science has impacted and continues to impact Indian country Stories from Mythology, North American Cora Morris, 1924 Folklore, Literature, and Cultural Theory Cathy L. Preston, 2014-06-23 First published in 1996 The need to write particularly in pre technological recording days in order to preserve and to analyze lies at the heart of folklore and yet to write means to change the medium in which much folk communication and art actually took and takes place In Part I of the collection the contributors address literary constructions of traditional and emergent cultures those of Leslie Marmon Silko

Sandra Cisneros Pat Mora Carmen Tafolla Julio Cortázar Milan Kundera Franz Kafka Philip Roth Thomas Hardy and Dacia Maraini The contributors to Part II of the collection offer readings of a variety of traditional vernacular and local performances Stories Changing Lives Corinne Squire, 2020-10-26 Personal narrative and its significance for social change is a prominent topic in the psychological and wider social sciences Yet while the importance of narrative for social change is commonly assumed by narrative researchers no single text addresses it exclusively and from a variety of scholarly perspectives Stories Changing Lives explores the strong and qualified significance of personal stories and how they catalyze and contribute to social change The first of the book's three sections examines the embeddedness of personal narratives within larger narratives and how these narratives shift towards justice The second section considers how narrative language supports and generates social change Finally the concluding section addresses the ways in which re narrations of the past taking place in the present and narrations of the future using the present and past impact social change Stories Changing Lives sets out the theory and methodology underpinning a range of narrative projects that are committed to progressive change delineating the strengths and limitations of that research Chapters focus on projects in Africa South and North America and Europe and bring to the fore the multiplicity of stories narrative multimodalities and the importance of intersectionality they also highlight the interdisciplinarity historical reach and transnationalism of narrative research This volume will further develop our understanding of generating narratives and pursuing social change as two intertwined processes that exemplify the personally and socially transformative characteristics of politics

Publications in History, 1927 New Mexico Historical Review Lansing Bartlett Bloom, Paul A. F. Walter, 1927 Publications in History Historical Society of New Mexico, 1927 Storyteller Leslie Marmon Silko, 2012-09-25 Storyteller blends original short stories and poetry influenced by the traditional oral tales that Leslie Marmon Silko heard growing up on the Laguna Pueblo in New Mexico with autobiographical passages folktales family memories and photographs As she mixes traditional and Western literary genres Silko examines themes of memory alienation power and identity communicates Native American notions regarding time nature and spirituality and explores how stories and storytelling shape people and communities Storyteller illustrates how one can frame collective cultural identity in contemporary literary forms as well as illuminates the importance of myth oral tradition and ritual in Silko's own work

The Broadview Anthology of Expository Prose - Third Edition Laura Buzzard, Don LePan, Nora Ruddock, Alexandria Stuart, 2016-08-29 The third edition of this anthology has been substantially revised and updated for a contemporary American audience a selection of classic essays from earlier eras has been retained but the emphasis is very much on twenty first century expository writing Works of different lengths and levels of difficulty are represented as are narrative descriptive and persuasive essays and new to this edition lyric essays For the new edition there are also considerably more short pieces than ever before a number of op ed pieces are included as are pieces from blogs and from online news sources The representation of academic writing from several disciplines has been increased and in some cases the anthology also includes news reports presenting the results of academic research to a general audience Also new to this edition are essays from a wide range of the most celebrated essayists of the modern era from James Baldwin Susan Sontag Joan Didion and Annie Dillard to Eula Biss and Ta Nehisi Coates The anthology remains broad in its thematic coverage but certain themes receive special emphasis notably issues of race class and culture in twenty first century America For the new edition the headnotes have been expanded providing students with more information as to the context in which each piece was written Questions and suggestions for discussion have been moved online to the instructor website

Rhetorics for Community Action Phyllis Mentzell Ryder, 2012-07-10 Rhetorics for Community Action Public Writing and Writing Publics by Phyllis Mentzell Ryder offers theory and pedagogy to introduce public writing as a complex political and creative action To write public texts we have to invent the public we wish to address Such invention is a complex task with many components to consider exigency that brings people together a sense of agency and capacity a sense of how the world is and what it can become All these components constantly compete against texts that put forward other public ideals opposing ideas about who really has power and who really can create change Teachers of public writing must adopt a generous response to those who venture into this arena Some scholars believe that to prepare students for public life university classes should partner with grassroots community organizations rather than nonprofits that serve food or tutor students They worry that a service related focus will create more passive citizens who do not rally and resist or grab the attention of government leaders or corporations With carefully contextualized study of an after school arts program an area soup kitchen and parks organizations among others Ryder shows that many so called service organizations are not passive places at all and she argues that the main challenge of public work is precisely that it has to take place among all of these compelling definitions of democracy Ryder proposes teaching public writing by partnering with multiple community nonprofits She develops a framework to help students analyze how their community partners inspire people to action and offers a course design that support them as they convey those public ideals in community texts But composing public texts is only part of the challenge Traditional newspapers and magazines through their business models and writing styles reinforce a dominant role for citizens as thinking and reading but not necessarily acting This civic role is also professed
