Punishment Theory And Practice:

Punishment Mark Tunick, 2023-12-22 What actions should be punished Should plea bargaining be allowed How should sentencing be determined In this original penetrating study Mark Tunick explores not only why society punishes wrongdoing but also how it implements punishment Contending that the theory and practice of punishment are inherently linked Tunick draws on a broad range of thinkers from the radical criticisms of Nietzsche Foucault and some Marxist theorists through the sociological theories of Durkheim and Girard to various philosophical traditions and the law and economics movement He defends punishment against its radical critics and offers a version of retribution distinct from revenge that holds that we punish not to deter or reform but to mete out just deserts vindicate right and express society's righteous anger Demonstrating first how this theory best accounts for how punishment is carried out he then provides immanent criticism of certain features of our practice that don't accord with the retributive principle Thought provoking and deftly argued Punishment will garner attention and spark debate among political theorists philosophers legal scholars sociologists and criminologists What actions should be punished Should plea bargaining be allowed How should sentencing be determined In this original penetrating study Mark Tunick explores not only why society punishes wrongdoing but also how it implements punishment

Book Reviews In a time when restorative justice has been embraced with unbridled enthusiasm by virtually every criminal justice network and dispute resolution stakeholder outside of the criminal justice system Theo Gavrielides presents us with an original comprehensive and essential examination of the subject This work should be read by anyone and everyone who is the least bit interested in the future health of the restorative justice movement Prof John Winterdyk Ph D Department of Justice Studies Chair Mount Royal College Canada Theo Gavrielides has provided a constructive and thought provoking contribution to our understanding of the dynamics of one of the most significant contemporary developments in thinking about criminal justice Professor Nicola Lacey LSE UK Restorative justice is a noble concept but if the actual practice does not match the ideal it could be discredited That would be a great loss Theo Gavrielides has brought together some challenging thoughts about this danger Dr Martin Wright European Forum of restorative justice and Restorative Justice Consortium UK and EU It is a concise engaging innovative and informative book for practitioners and scholars This comprehensive introduction to restorative justice provides a much needed textbook for an increasingly popular area of study and practice which can be used as a basis for further theoretical development and elaboration on the concept s limitations and accountability Dr Effi Lambropoulou Professor of Criminology Department of Sociology Panteion University of Social and Politic Greece As a restorative justice practitioner for ten years I continue to be impressed with the in depth research Theo Gavrielides does in the field of restorative justice He meets the challenges with provocative and cutting edge topics directly and succinctly The struggle of theory vs practice has been a difficult one in the field since restorative justice began mostly with practice Gavrielides approaches this struggle with wisdom of historical roots and with encouragement that restorative justice is developing theory to catch up with practice Linda Harvey Program Director and Founder of the Restorative Justice Council on Sexual Misconduct in Faith Communities USA Dr Theo Gavrielides book provides a special journey from the underlying theoretical foundations to the daily practice of restorative justice By his thought provoking and critical approach he gifts the restorative justice field with an essential analysis that bridges theory and practice in an interdisciplinary and multisectoral way Borbala Fellegi researcher and lecturer at the ELTE University consultant of the Ministry of Justice in Hungary in the field of restorative justice Hungary

Theory and Practice of Seamanship Edmund March Blunt,1824 Capital Punishment Virginia Leigh Hatch,Anthony Walsh,2015-11-27 Capital Punishment Theory and Practice of the Ultimate Penalty is a fair balanced and accessible introduction to the greatest moral issue facing the American criminal justice system today Opening with a unique chapter that outlines the philosophical and theoretical explanations for punishment and its relevance to the death penalty debate the authors then explore the wide array of topics in the field The text covers the history of the death penalty in the U S from colonial times to the present day the relevant landmark U S Supreme Court cases from Furman v Georgia 1972 onwards the history of public opinion and how it shapes the debate on capital punishment the history of U S execution methods deterrence racial disparity in the application of the death penalty wrongful convictions the costs associated with capital punishment and federal military and international death penalties FEATURES Incorporates Perspectives from the Field boxes in most chapters that add valuable insights from people who have been personally involved in capital cases including a judge a prosecutor a neuroscientist a former death row resident and other key practitioners in the field Explores the process by which hard science DNA is used to address exoneration and mitigation in terms that are understandable to students Includes an in depth discussion of why we punish wrongdoers examining why our urge to punish is so strong An open access Companion Website provides chapter outlines chapter learning objectives sample quiz exam questions and links to helpful websites

Seamanship, Both in Theory and Practice ,1813 The Practice of Punishment Wesley Cragg,2003-09-02 This study focuses on the practice of punishment as it is inflicted by the state The author s first hand experience with penal reform combined with philosophical reflection has led him to develop a theory of punishment that identifies the principles of sentencing and corrections on which modern correctional systems should be built This new theory of punishment is built on the view that the central function of the law is to reduce the need to use force in the resolution of disputes Professor Cragg argues that the proper role of sentencing and sentence administration is to sustain public confidence in the capacity of the law to fulfil that function Sentencing and corrections should therefore be guided by principles of restorative justice He points out that although punishment may be an inevitable concomitant of law enforcement in general and sentencing in particular inflicting punishment is not a legitimate objective of criminal justice The strength and appeal of this account is that it moves well beyond the boundaries of conventional discussions It examines punishment within the framework of policing and adjudication analyses the relationship between punishment and sentencing and provides a basis for evaluating correctional practices and such developments as electronic monitoring The Individual in Political Theory and Practice Janet Coleman,1996 One of the main achievements of the research programme has been to overcome the long established historiographical tendency to regard states mainly from the viewpoint of their twentieth century borders

Discourse Theory and Practice Margaret Wetherell,Stephanie Taylor,Simeon J Yates,2001-05-25 A highly effective introduction to the range of approaches found in discourse analysis a lively and intellectually stimulating Reader David Silverman Goldsmith College University of London Discourse Theory and Practice is much more than a collection of key classic articles and papers in the field of discourse analysis The aim of the book is to introduce students to the major figures in the field and to some of their writings which combined with the interspersed editorial commentaries should allow students to understand the key epistemological and methodological issues of discourse theory and practice The Reader is organized into four coherent parts namely Foundations and Building Blocks Social Interaction Minds Selves and Sense Making and Culture and Social Relations Key readings include works by Stuart Hall Jonathan Potter David Silverman Erving Goffman Teun van Dijk Derek Edwards and Michael Billig Chapters introduce the student to each individual and their reading contextualizing each in terms of their contribution to the field theoretical standpoint and individual method of doing discourse analysis The many didactic elements of the book make it ideal as an introduction to the study of discourse for all students of psychology sociology linguistics or cultural studies This book is a course reader for The Open University course Discourse Analysis D843      Social Theory and Practice ,2016      Education in Theory and Practice Gilbert Haven Jones,1919      Islamic Public Law - Islamic Law in Theory and Practice Ahmed Akgunduz,2011-11-01 Islamic law contains explications and divisions that imply a classification in terms of public and private law In this book we will explain the outlines of Islamic public law e g First Chapter Islamic constitutional law al siy saḥ al shar iyyah and administrative law al siy saḥ al shar iyyah Second Chapter penal law al uq b t Third Chapter financial law zak t ushr ar j and other taxes Fourth Chapter trial law qa and Fifth Chapter international public law al siyar The fields of especially Islamic constitutional law administrative law financial law ta z r penalties and arrangements concerning military law based on the restricted legislative authority vested by Shar ah rules and those jurisprudential decrees based on secondary sources like customs and traditions and the public good maslahah all fell under what was variously called public law al siy saḥ al shar iyyah Shar ah policy q n n legal code q n nn mah orf uq q etc Since these laws could not go beyond Shar ah principles either at least in theory they should not be regarded as a legal system outside of Islamic law But Islamic penal law financial law trial law and international law depend mostly on rules that are based directly on the Qur an and the Sunnah and codified in books of fiqh Islamic law called Shar ah rules Shar i shar f or Shar ah law Such rules formed 85% of the legal system In this book we will focus on some controversial problems in the Muslim world today such as the form of government in Islamic law and the relation between Islam and democracy Islamic law does not stipulate a certain method of state government nonetheless we may say that the principles it decrees and its concept of sovereignty suggest a religious republic As a matter of fact ulaf al R shid n the Rightly Guided Caliphs were both caliphs and religious republican presidents We could say that this book has three main characteristics i We have tried to base our explanations directly on the primary Islamic law sources For example after reading some articles on the caliphate or t m r system in articles or books by some Western scholars and even by some Muslim scholars one might conclude that there are different views on these subjects among Muslim scholars This is not true Muslisms have agreed on the basic rules on legal subjects but there are some conflicts regarding nuances and interpretations If one reads works by Im m Gazzali Ibn Taymiyyah al M wardi and al Farr one will not find any disagreement on the main rules but there are some different interpretations of some concepts We have tried to discover where they agreed and we have sometimes pointed to where they differed ii We have researched practices of Islamic law especially legal documents in the Ottoman archives For example we explain add i sariqa but also mention some legal articles from the Ottoman legal codes q nunn mes and some Shar ah court decisions like legal decrees i l m t i shar iyyah It is well known that nobody can understand any legal system without implementing and practicing it That also holds for Islamic law because theory alone does not yield a complete understanding of Shar ah rules iii We have worked hard to correct some misconceptions and misunderstandings about Islamic law That is why we appeal to the primary sources For example some scholars claim that the anaf jurist Im m Sara s did not accept the idea of punishment for apostasy We have studied his work al Mabs t and found this claim to be unfounded The comparison between t m r and fief is another example because the t m r system is different from the fief system Some scholars confuse the concept of sovereignty and governance The Islamic state is not a theocratic state in the sense in which Europeans understand the term

Youth Justice: Theory & Practice Jane Pickford,2012-12-06 This innovative text examines contemporary issues in youth justice in the light of the sweeping reforms introduced by the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 and the Youth Justice and Criminal Evidence Bill 1999 It brings together current debates in both the practice and theory of youth justice intervention and in the light of the governments inter agency approach to the problem of youth criminality provides an inter disciplinary examination of these discussions Including contributions from both academics magistrates and social work practitioners it is a useful text for students of criminology law and social work as well as a valuable resource for youth justice practitioners

Theoretical Foundations of Law and Economics Mark D. White,2009 A book length examination of the methodology and philosophy of law and economics

Penal Theory and Practice Antony Duff,1994 This book offers a transatlantic interdisciplinary perspective on the crisis in penal policy facing the governments of both Britain and the United States Some of the issues addressed include sentencing guidelines the organization of prisons and their function the use of non custodial sentences and informal justice and women and the criminal justice system The contributors include criminologists sociologists lawyers and philosophers judges civil servants involved with penal policy and those with practical experience in prisons and in other aspects of penal practice and reform

Overreliance on Prisons Gregory Christopher Brown,1985

Fundamentals of Sentencing Theory Andrew Ashworth,Martin Wasik,1998 The Oxford Monographs On Criminal Law And Justice series aims to cover all aspects of criminal law and procedure including criminal evidence the scope of the series is wide encompassing both practical and theoretical works Series Editor Professor Andrew Ashworth Vinerian Professor of English Law All Souls College Oxford This volume is a thematic collection of essays on sentencing theory by leading writers The essays fall into three groups Part I considers the underlying justifications for the imposition of punishment by the State and examines the relationship between victims offenders and the State Part II addresses a number of areas of sentencing policy that have given rise to particular difficulty such as the sentencing of drug offenders the rationale for discounting sentences for multiple offenders the existence of special sentencing for young offenders and cases where the injury done to the victim is of a different magnitude from what might have been expected Part III raises various questions about the unequal impact on offenders of different sentencing measures and examines the extent to which sentences should be adjusted to take account of these different impacts and of broader social inequalities This volume is dedicated to Professor Andrew von Hirsch whose continuing work on sentencing theory provided the stimulus for the collection
