DOG AND PUPPIES Training and Maintaining Anuska Sharma, 2020-05-29

When you first take a new puppy home it can be easy to get caught up and forget to think and nurture I mean let's face it IS difficult But a new owner you have a responsibility to that adorable little ball of fur and its living relationship with a psyche and emotions that have just begun to develop Eventually will have more better or worse in your puppy's emotional development From day 1 there are a few simple ways to begin to build healthy behavior and development in your puppy The practices mentioned will seem like the most consoling and comforting but that's just the point A difficult as it is it's your responsibility to raise the best way possible The following are four of our best puppy training tips to help raise a sociable well-adjusted pup

Reinforcement Reinforcing the behavior you want to promote and negative reinforcement should only be used when you will understand what the dog is doing wrong Puppies are not intrinsically having fun when excited or nervous The moment a behavior is followed by negative reinforcement the dog doesn't learn to comprehend that the behavior had an accident Negative reinforcement in this situation will result in the dog learning that they cannot connect with any behavior which will result in long-term phobias Finally though there are many more ways to reinforce positive behavior and it's the right option for all We all want our dogs to be able to live and interact with other dogs in the world and a such a new owner of a dog is taking steps towards that goal is something that other people and animals from a young age should mean to throw them into the world with any guidance in the hands of a dog early in life with other dogs and people to meet them The dog may have moments of apprehension but it will feel safe and comfortable and for the dog's dogs It's important to coddle them in situations as much as you want to You are simply reinforcing the behavior you want with help to disconnect them from their own Puppies Let puppies develop their world with their own Upset the dog a little by moving furniture and provide learning opportunities by exposing them to new things that will require the dog's own cleaners to deal with but never force their natural urge to Give them the opportunity for growth and a puppy will do it on their own Always remember that for a young puppy it's the best to take experiences on their own
