Rifts in Time and in the Self Cheryl Dueck, 2021-11-01 The fall of the Berlin Wall in November 1989 marked the end of East Germany's socialist regime and a new beginning for a unified German Federal Republic Cultural historians agree that the event caused one of the deepest rifts in time and thinking seen by an entire generation of Germans a rift that left its mark on the psyche of every citizen challenging notions of the personal and the political and crashing traditional understandings of the individual and the collective self In this bold rethinking of the question Cheryl Dueck goes beyond the social political and psychological discourses that Marx and Freud Foucault and Lacan viewed as the initiators of modern socialist identities to explore the literature and discourse of the quest for unity of the female subject Reading such authors as Christa Wolf Brigitte Reimann Helga K nigsdorf and Helga Schubert Dueck traces the striking fissures which run through time and through the female self haunting women within the socialist project The book shows how two generations of women writers have struggled consciously and systematically in their letters aesthetic writings and literary production to create a new language to express their own sense of self within a restrictive socialist and patriarchal system Rifts in Time and in the Self offers an unprecedented look at the reconceptualizations of the female subject during several phases of GDR history and women writers persistent attempt to carve out spaces of identity and community

Neuropolitics William E. Connolly, 2002-07-24 Why would a political theorist venture into the nexus between neuroscience and film According to William Connolly whose new book is itself an eloquent answer the combination exposes the ubiquitous role that technique plays in thinking ethics and politics By taking up recent research in neuroscience to explore the way brain activity is influenced by cultural conditions and stimuli such as film technique Connolly is able to fashion a new perspective on our attempts to negotiate and thrive within a deeply pluralized society whose culture and economy continue to quicken In Neuropolitics Connolly draws upon recent brain body research to explore the creative potential of thinking the layered character of culture the cultivation of ethical sensibilities and the critical role of technique in all three He then shows how a series of films including Vertigo Five Easy Pieces and Citizen Kane enhances our appreciation of technique and contests the linear image of time now prevalent in cultural theory Connolly deftly brings these themes together to support an ethos of deep pluralism within the democratic state and a politics of citizen activism across states His book is an original and rigorous study that attends to the creative possibilities of thinking in identity culture and ethics

The Routledge Companion to Gender and Science Fiction Lisa Yaszek,Sonja Fritzsche,Keren Omry,Wendy Gay Pearson,2023-02-10 The Routledge Companion to Gender and Science Fiction is the first large scale reference work of its kind critically assessing the relations of gender and genre in science fiction SF especially but not exclusively as explored in speculative art by women and LGBTQ artists across the world This global volume builds upon the traditions of interdisciplinary inquiry by connecting established topics in gender studies and science fiction studies with emergent ideas from researchers in different media Taken together they challenge conventional generic boundaries provide new ways of approaching familiar texts recover lost artists and introduce new ones connect the revival of old hate based politics with the increasing visibility of imagined futures for all and show how SF stories about new kinds of gender relations inspire new models of artistic technoscientific and political practice Their chapters are grouped into five conversations about the history of gender and genre theoretical frameworks subjectivities medias and transmedialities and transtemporalities that are central to discussions of gender and SF in the current moment A range of both emerging and established names in media literature and cultural studies engage with a huge diversity of topics including eco criticism animal studies cyborg and posthumanist theory masculinity critical race studies Indigenous futurisms Black girlhood and gaming This is an essential resource for students and scholars studying gender sexuality and or science fiction The Politics of Speed Simon Glezos,2013-03-01 Everyone agrees that the world is accelerating With advances in communication transportation and information processing technologies it is clear that the pace of events in global politics is speeding up at an alarming rate The implications of this new speed however continue to be a significant source of debate Will acceleration lead to a more interconnected productive peaceful and humane world or a nightmarish descent into ecological devastation economic exploitation and increasingly violent warfare The Politics of Speed attempts to map the contours of the new global space of speed and investigates key issue areas including democratic governance warfare capitalism globalization and transnational activism to uncover the ways in which acceleration is shaping the world The book uses contemporary political theory especially the works of Deleuze and Guattari to develop an ontological account of speed showing how its effects are frequently far more complex and surprising than we might expect The result is an attempt to craft a way of engaging with global acceleration that might help avoid the dangers of speed while embracing the possibilities it provides us with to produce a safer more egalitarian democratic and pluralistic world Critical Reflections on Economy and Politics in India
