their use Learning About Drinking Eleni Houghton, Anne M. Roche, 2013-05-13 This book is based on the premise that drinking behaviors are primarily learned. The contributors to the book explore the complex array of individual and social factors that impact the development of drinking patterns. They traverse family and culture influences and the role played by schools, government, and the beverage alcohol industry. Learning About Drinking offers a rigorous and scholarly examination of drinking behavior brought to life with illustrative cases drawn from around the world. Social policymakers, historians, anthropologists, public health specialists, as well as mental health professionals, will find this book of value. Learning About Drinking offers a refreshing evidence-based look at a process that has too often been taken for granted. Intoxication

Thomas Thurnell-Read, Mark Monaghan, 2023-01-01 What images come to mind when you read the word intoxication? What behaviour do you associate with the word drunk? When you hear the word drug, what images do you recall? This textbook provides an essential and thorough grounding in debates about the role of intoxication in contemporary society from social and cultural perspectives. It examines intoxication in the broadest sense, as including both legal and illegal substances and both culturally accepted and socially stigmatised practices. Given the pace of recent changes in policy and practice, from the increasingly common legalisation of cannabis to the recent trend of sobriety amongst adolescents and young adults, this book stands out by offering both a thorough historical and theoretical overview and a topical and forward-looking exploration of current debates. It adopts a multi-scale approach to examine wider patterns of change, so it considers the subjective experiences of the role intoxication plays in the lives of individuals and groups in the construction of diverse identities and how this differs by age, gender, and ethnicity. The authors pay particular attention to the way in which the state justifies interventions based on moral health and criminal justice discourses, and also consider the role played by other individuals and institutions, not least the mass media and the alcohol industry, in propagating and challenging common-sense explanations of intoxication. It speaks to undergraduates, master's students, and above, with a range of pedagogic features and offers insights into policy and practice. Consuming Health Sara Henderson, Alan Petersen, 2004-03 Consuming Health explores the diverse meanings and applications of the term consumer in the field of health care and the implications for policy making, health care delivery, and experiences of health care.

Researching School Experience Martyn Hammersley, 1999 This book brings together material from a wide range of studies, mainly qualitative in character, concerned with exploring what actually goes on in learning situations and explores the perspectives of teachers and students. Addiction Nursing G. Hussein Rassool, Mike Gafoor, 1997 This book provides one of the few handbooks on areas of clinical issues and practice, interventions, management, education, and research on aspects of addiction nursing. In addition, the book provides a framework to assist practitioners in dealing with contemporary difficult issues related to substance misuse and addictive behaviour.

Growing up with Alcohol Emma Fossey, 2005-06-28 The use and misuse of alcohol by young people is an established concern. Initiatives designed to educate the young about the potential dangers of alcohol are frequently directed solely at teenagers Growing up with Alcohol argues that this may be leaving it too late Emma Fossey presents a detailed account of a study of children aged between five and ten years carried out through a series of ingenious game like activities She explodes the myth that young children are ignorant about alcohol and provides valuable insights about how very young children learn about alcohol and about their early perceptions of alcohol The study questions the effectiveness of past alcohol education and argues strongly that future initiatives should develop innovative and user friendly alcohol education materials for use in primary as well as in secondary schools and colleges New Perspectives on Disaffection Leo Hendry,1997-11-01

Traditionally home circumstances or school regimes have been blamed for the worst excesses of pupil disaffection The authors argue that this simplistic response to a complex problem needs to be re examined The book reports the findings of a research programme based in Aberdeen which explored the factors leading to pupil disaffection The views and experiences of pupils themselves are central to the study From this the authors make practical recommendations for policy makers at all levels

Illegal Leisure Judith Aldridge,Fiona Measham,Howard Parker,2013-10-23 Illegal Leisure offers a unique insight into the role drug use now plays in British youth culture The authors present the results of a five year longitudinal study into young people and drug taking They argue that drugs are no longer used as a form of rebellious behaviour but have been subsumed into wider acceptable leisure activities The new generation of drug user can no longer be seen as mad or bad or from subcultural worlds they are ordinary and everywhere Illustrated throughout with interview material Illegal Leisure shows how drug consumption has become normalised and provides a well informed analysis of the current debate The

SAGE Handbook of Drug & Alcohol Studies Torsten Kolind,Betsy Thom,Geoffrey Hunt,2016-10-20 With contributions from leading international academics across the social sciences this accessible handbook takes a critical look at the key theories disciplinary approaches contemporary issues and debates in the field Part I Central Social Science Theories Drug and Alcohol Studies Part II Pillars in Social Science Drug and Alcohol Studies Part III Controversies and New Approaches in Social Science Drug and Alcohol Studies This Handbook is an excellent reference text for the growing number of academics students scientists and practitioners in the drug and alcohol studies community Adolescent Drinking and Family Life

Geoff Lowe,David R. Foxcroft,David Sibley,2022-12-29 Originally published in 1993 Adolescent Drinking and Family Life portrays teenage drinking not as a symptom of pathology but as a perfectly normal developmental phase within the context of the home environment Drinking is predominantly social behaviour and the family is seen as a major agent of socialization The authors have therefore explored family dynamics and the influence which the home environment has upon adolescent drinking to come up with a new theoretical model A major feature of this approach is the interaction of ideas from family life psychology and human geography The authors present a typology of domestic regimes illustrated by case studies of boundary enforcement and transgression The general theme of boundary transgression applied here to both the psychosocial environment and built form represents an interesting new theoretical perspective The integration of these two fields is an innovation which should stimulate further interdisciplinary work in adolescence and addiction research Adolescent Drinking and Family Life will be interesting to researchers and practitioners in adolescence family dynamics and alcohol as well as any social scientist with an interest in the link between behaviour and the home environment This new approach had important implications for health education and for interventions concerned with adolescent alcohol use at the time Today it can be read in its historical context
