Technologies Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,2006-08-04 This report focuses upon the Home Office s identity cards scheme which uses various technologies including biometrics information and communication technology ICT and smart cards It explores the ways in which scientific advice risk and evidence are being managed in relation to technologies that are continually developing The Home Office has followed good practice by the establishment of advisory committees the use of Office of Government Commerce OGC Gateway Reviews and the development of risk management strategies along with a policy of gradual implementation But the Committee has identified weaknesses in the use of scientific advice and evidence There has been a lack of transparency surrounding the incorporation of scientific advice the procurement process and the ICT system Consultations have been limited in scope and their objectives have been unclear Only some aspects of the scheme such as the biometrics have been determined The Home Office s decisions demonstrate an inconsistent approach to scientific evidence and the Committee is concerned that choices regarding biometric technology have preceded trials With extensive trialling still to take place the Committee is sceptical about the validity of projected costs The Committee recommends that the Home Office seeks advice on ICT from senior and experienced professionals and establishes an ICT assurance committee It is crucial that the Home Office increases clarity and transparency across the programme not only in problem areas The programme should also be flexible enough to change should evidence emerge that contradicts existing assumptions Cumulated Index Medicus ,1998 Risk in the Film

Business Michael Franklin,2022-07-25 This book explores the complex multifaceted and contested subject of risk in the film business How risk is understood and managed has a substantial impact upon which films are financed produced and seen Founded on substantial original research accessing the highest level of industry practitioners this book examines the intertwined activity of independents large media companies including major studios the international marketplace and related audio visual sectors such as high end television The book shows how risk is generally framed or even intuited rather than calculated and that this process occurs across a sliding scale of formality This work goes beyond broad creative industries characterisations of a risky sector and concentrations on Box Office return modelling to provide a missing middle This means a coherent analytic coverage of business organisation and project construction to address the complex practicalities that mobilise strategic operations in relation to risk often in unseen business to business contexts Informed by economic sociology s concepts addressing market assemblage and valuation alongside applications of science and technology studies to media and communications the book respects both the powerful roles of social and institutional actors and affordances of new technologies in dealing with the persistent known unknown the audience Examining a persistent business issue in a new way this book analyses top level industry practice through established mechanisms and innovations like data analytics The result is a book that will be essential reading for scholars with an interest in the film business as well as risk management more broadly
