

SERIAL OF TWO YOUNG SISTERS,
THE ONLY CHILDREN OF THEIR PARENTS

There's love, in this world—these tender forms,
So kindly cherish'd, and so fondly loved,
They're here.

Sweet sisters! pleasant in their lives
And now in death divided—how 'tis sweet
That blessing now should linger here and here
How quick the hand to the silent tomb.
I do remember them, their pleasant hours
So rich'd with pure affections, and the glances
Of their mild eyes, when, in the house of God,
They gathered up the manna, that dwell'd,
Like dew, around.

The eldest, parted first,
And it was touching even to hear, to see
The perfect likeness of that child-like soul,
Turning 'mid sorrow's chastening to its God,
And leaving every link of earthly hope,
To glaze an angel's glorious garments on.
The younger lingered yet a little while,

Drooping and beautiful. Strongly the marks
Of that hour upon clasp'd its paralytic
Yet still in sweet unconsciousness reclined
The flesh of Agnes—while the Sister's tones
Confound'd its tears. "Fare thee well, sister,
To come to me."

And then her sister's couch
Undrew its narrow covering—and those forms,
Which side by side, on the same cradle-bed,
So oft had shared the sleep of infancy,
Were laid on that clay pillow, cheek to cheek
And hand to hand, until that morning break,
Which bade us night.

And ye are left alone,
Who surround these fair beds, and often meet
Unto each other, in the hour of rest,
"These names shall comfort us for all our toil."
Yes, ye are left alone. It is not soon
To heal such wound. Most hath too weak a hand,
All he can give, is tears.

But he who took
Your treasures to his keeping: He hath power
To hear you onward to that better land,
Where none are written children, and their hearts
Blend in a full eternity of bliss.
