

of twenty-four hours is equal to one-twelfth and four hours out of twenty-four hours is equal to one-sixth.
Here is what the pie graph should look like:

A 24 hour day

After showing the example to the class, ask the students if there are any questions on how to represent and show data on a pie graph. Give time for questions and answers. Ask, "Is there anything missing on the pie graph we just created on the overhead?" Give time for answers. Tell the students that it is very important to give their graph a title and labels. Point to the labels and title to make sure the students understand what each is. Tell them that the title and labels allow other people to understand what is being graphed.

Now that the students have an understanding of what pie graphs represent, work an example together with the class, but have the students follow the steps at their desks. Pass out a compass, paper, markers, and fraction circles to each student. Tell the students that they will now create a pie graph together as a class with the information on the overhead (see attachment).

Tell the students that the first thing they need to do is draw a circle using the compass. Now, looking at the given information, they need to make fractions in order for them to know how the circle will be split (do these together). After finding fractions for the data set as a class, put the fraction pieces (tenths) on the overhead for them to see how they cut the circle and if they agree with their decisions. The students should notice that the pie graph will be cut into tenths. Tell the students to now draw the pieces on their pie graphs using their fraction circles and label the correct value in each slice. They may lay the fraction pieces on their paper and trace them so they will have accurate angles. The teacher should walk around the room while the students are working to make sure they
