The Real and the Reflected: Heroes and Villains in Existent and Imagined Worlds ,2020-09-25 The Real and the Reflected Heroes and Villains in Existent and Imagined Worlds unpacks many of the issues that surround heroes and villains It explores the shadows that fall between the traditional black and white definitions of good and evil Film Noir Ian Brookes,2017-03-09 Film noir may seem a familiar term to many with its use of a complex narrative structure flashbacks and voiceover narration and with such archetypal characterisations as the femme fatale and private eye But this introduction is not so much an account of what film noir is but more an interrogation of the ways in which the term came to be applied to a particular group of American films of the 1940s and 1950s Ian Brookes asks What is film noir With this sharply focused question active throughout the book students will benefit from an introductory text designed to provide a sophisticated treatment of the problems inherent in the category This will be the first critical introduction to film noir which takes into account the complexity of the term and the difficulties of straightforward definition and classification Brown Gumshoes Ralph E. Rodriguez,2009-03-06 Winner Modern Language Association Prize in United States Latina and Latino and Chicana and Chicano Literary and Cultural Studies 2006 Popular fiction with its capacity for diversion can mask important cultural observations within a framework that is often overlooked in the academic world Works thought to be merely escapist can often be more seriously mined for revelations regarding the worlds they portray especially those of the disenfranchised As detective fiction has slowly earned critical respect more authors from minority groups have chosen it as their medium Chicana o authors previously reluctant to write in an underestimated genre that might further marginalize them have only entered the world of detective fiction in the past two decades In this book the first comprehensive study of Chicana a detective fiction Ralph E Rodriguez examines the recent contributions to the genre by writers such as Rudolfo Anaya Lucha

Corpi Rolando Hinojosa Michael Nava and Manuel Ramos Their works reveal the struggles of Chicanas/os with feminism homosexuality familia masculinity mysticism the nationalist subject and U S Mexico border relations He maintains that their novels register crucial new discourses of identity politics and cultural citizenship that cannot be understood apart from the historical instability following the demise of the nationalist politics of the Chicano movement of the 1960s and 1970s In contrast to that time when Chicanas/os sought a unified Chicano identity in order to effect social change the 1980s 1990s and 2000s have seen a disengagement from these nationalist politics and a new trend toward a heterogeneous sense of self The detective novel and its traditional focus on questions of knowledge and identity turned out to be the perfect medium in which to examine this new self

Glimpses of Phoenix David William Foster, 2013-04-19 Part of the self image of Phoenix is that the city has no history and that anything of importance happened yesterday Also that Phoenix the Arizona state capital is a clean city despite a past of police corruption and social oppression The real Phoenix easygoing sun drenched a place of ever expanding development and economic growth guarantees it is said an enviable lifestyle low taxes and unfettered personal freedom and opportunity Little of this is true Phoenix has been described as one of the least sustainable cities in the country This sixth largest urban area of the United States has an alarmingly superficial and tourism oriented discourse among its leaders This book examines a series of narrative works novels theater chronicles investigative reporting personal accounts editorial cartooning even a children's television program that question this discourse in a frequently stinging fashion The works examined are anchored in a critical understanding of the dominant urban myths of Greater Phoenix and an awareness of how all the newness modernity and fun in the sun mentality mask a uniquely dystopian human experience

H. Hinsley, Francis Harry Hinsley, 1967-10 In the last years of the nineteenth century peace proposals were first stimulated by fear of the danger of war rather than in consequence of its outbreak In this study of the nature and history of international relations Mr Hinsley presents his conclusions about the causes of war and the development of men s efforts to avoid it In the first part he examines international theories from the end of the middle ages to the establishment of the League of Nations in their historical setting This enables him to show how far modern peace proposals are merely copies or elaborations of earlier schemes He believes there has been a marked reluctance to test these theories not only against the formidable criticisms of men like Rousseau Kant and Bentham but also against what we have learned about the nature of international relations and the history of the practice of states This leads him to the second part of his study an analysis of the origins of the modern states system and of its evolution between the eighteenth century and the First World War

The Walker Matthew Beaumont, 2020-11-10 From Charles Dickens London to today s megacities a fascinating exploration of what urban walking tells us about modern life for fans of Rebecca Solnit Olivia Laing s The Lonely City and literary history A labyrinthine journey into the literature of walking and thinking as seen in the lives and works of Edgar Allan Poe Virginia Woolf Ray Bradbury and other literary greats Guardian There is no such thing as a false step Every time we walk we are going somewhere Especially if we are going nowhere Moving around the modern city is not a way of getting from A to B but of understanding who and where we are In a series of riveting intellectual rambles Matthew Beaumont retraces episodes in the history of the walker since the mid 19th century From Dickens s insomniac night rambles to restless excursions through the faceless monuments of today's neoliberal city the act of walking is one of self discovery and self escape of disappearances and secret subversions Pacing stride for stride alongside literary amblers and thinkers such as Edgar Allan Poe Andr Breton H G Wells Virginia Woolf Jean Rhys and Ray Bradbury Beaumont explores the relationship between the metropolis and its pedestrian life Through these writings Beaumont asks Can you get lost in a crowd What are the consequences of using your smartphone in the street What differentiates the nocturnal metropolis from the city of daylight What connects walking philosophy and the big toe And can we save the city or ourselves by taking to the pavement
