Ma Vraie Nature:

Grotesque Figures Virginia E. Swain, 2020-03-03 Charles Baudelaire is usually read as a paradigmatically modern poet whose work ushered in a new era of French literature But the common emphasis on his use of new forms and styles overlooks the complex role of the past in his work In Grotesque Figures Virginia E Swain explores how the specter of the eighteenth century made itself felt in Baudelaire's modern poetry in the pervasive textual and figural presence of Jean Jacques Rousseau Not only do Rousseau's ideas inform Baudelaire's theory of the grotesque but Rousseau makes numerous appearances in Baudelaire's poetry as a caricature or type representing the hold of the Enlightenment and the French Revolution over Baudelaire and his contemporaries As a character in Le Po me du hashisch and the Petits Po mes en prose Rousseau gives the grotesque a human form Swain's literary cultural and historical analysis deepens our understanding of Baudelaire and of nineteenth century aesthetics by relating Baudelaire's poetic theory and practice to Enlightenment debates about allegory and the grotesque in the arts Offering a novel reading of Baudelaire's ambivalent engagement with the eighteenth century Grotesque Figures examines nineteenth century ideological debates over French identity Rousseau's political and artistic legacy the aesthetic and political significance of the rococo and the presence of the grotesque in the modern

The Persistence of the Human Matthew Escobar, 2016-09-07 Recent narrative fiction and film increasingly exploit explore and thematize the embodied mind revealing the tenacity of a certain brand of humanism The presence of narratively based concepts of personal identity even in texts which explore posthuman possibilities is strong proof that our basic understanding of what it means to be human has despite appearances remained mostly unchanged This is so even though our perception of time has been greatly modified by the same technology which both interrupts and allows for the rearrangement of our experience of time at a rate and a level of ease which until recently had never been possible Basing his views on a long line of philosophers and literary theorists such as Paul Ricoeur Daniel Dennett and Francisco Varela Escobar maintains in The Persistence of the Human that narrative plays an essential role in the process of constituting and maintaining a sense of self It is narrative's effect on the embodied mind which gives it such force Narrative projects us into possible spaces shaping a temporary corporeality termed the meta body a hybrid shared by the lived body and an imagined corporeal sense The meta body is a secondary embodiment that we inhabit for however long our narrative immersion lasts something which in today's world may be a question of milliseconds or hours The more agreeable the meta body is the less happy we are upon being abruptly removed from it though the return is essential We want to be able to slip back and forth between this secondary embodiment and that of our lived body each move entails both forgetting and remembering different subject positions loss and recuperation being salient themes in the works which highlight this process The negotiation of the transfer between these states is shaped by culture and technology and this is something which is precisely in flux now as multiple ephemeral narrative immersion experiences are created by the different screens we come into contact with

The Metamorphoses of the Self John M. Dunaway, 2021-12-14 American writer Julien Green's 1900-1998 origins artistic motivation and identity was a source of mystery and confusion even for those that most affected him The first non-French national to be elected to the Académie française Green authored several novels The Dark Journey The Closed Garden Moira Each Man in His Darkness and the Dixie trilogy a four-volume autobiography The Green Paradise The War at Sixteen Love in America and Restless Youth and his famous Diary In this study John M. Dunaway begins with an examination of the autobiographical context of Julien Green's works in which the duality of mystic and sensualist is quite clearly polarized He then proceeds through a selected series of Green's fictional works in an attempt to show the birth and nature of the third self as a personal myth of the artist He then considers the fiction in chronological order with the intention of demonstrating the evolution of the myth of the third self in Green's career

Hegel, Marx and the Contemporary World Kaveh Boiveiri, Emmanuel Chaput, 2016-06-22 This book is the result of a three-day conference held in April 2014 at the University of Montreal Canada discussing the relevance of the work of Hegel and Marx in today's world particularly with regard to the ecological economic political and anthropological crisis facing humanity Accordingly the book is an exploration of the specific nature of the crisis we face both in our everyday lives and in the realm of theory However if indeed the necessity of a proper critique Kritikos is intimately linked to a state of crisis Krisis the conceptual frame necessary to produce such a critique may itself be in crisis Among the vast number of critical oppositions to contemporary capitalism what are the keys available to understand the present forms of human conditions alienation and exploitation Controversies and divisions among the different tendencies within the critical tradition tend to highlight the point that there is also a theoretical crisis which prevents a proper diagnosis of the actual crisis and prevents in turn a proper plan of action from being established Looking back to Marx and Hegel allowed a return if not to the sources at least to two unavoidable influences among the various critical approaches to capitalism Be it with or against Hegel and or Marx the criticisms of modernity post modernity and capitalism cannot neglect the shadows of these thinkers Both Marx's and Hegel's philosophical sociological and political enterprises must be linked historically to the will to diagnose and solve what they saw as the most important crises of their own time from in Hegel's case the spiritual crisis which followed the advent of modernity and its accompanying turmoil to the social and political crisis caused by capitalism and the advent of a new industrial society in Marx's case. Both intellectual ventures are at every turn haunted by the notion of crisis. This book will appeal to anyone interested in Hegel's and Marx's philosophical and political theories. Not only does it provide the historical context necessary to understand properly the relation between Marx and Hegel but it also places the relevance of their teachings for the contemporary reader in perspective.

Baudelaire and Caricature: From the Comic to an Art of Modernity, Baudelaire's essays on caricature offered the first sustained defense of the value of caricature as a serious art worthy of study in its own right. This book argues for the crucial importance of the essays for his conception of modernity so fundamental to the subsequent history of modernism. From the theory of the comic formulated in De l'essence du rire to his discussions of Daumier, Goya, Hogarth, Cruikshank, Bruegel, Grandville, Gavarni, Charlet and many others, Baudelaire develops not only an aesthetic of caricature but also a caricatural aesthetic: dual and contradictory, grotesque, ironic, violent, farcical, fantastic and fleeting that defines an art of modern life. In particular, Baudelaire's insistence on the dualism and ambiguity of laughter has radical implications for such emblems of modernity as the city and the flâneur who roams the streets. The modern city is the space of the comic, a kind of caricature presenting the flâneur with an image of dualism, one's position as subject and object implicated in the same urban experiences, one seems to control. The theory of the comic invests the idea of modernity with reciprocity, one's status as laughter and object of laughter thus preventing the subjective construction and appropriation of the world that has so often been linked with the project of modernism. Comic art reflects what Walter Benjamin later defined as Baudelairean allegory at once representing and revealing the alienation of modern experience. But Baudelaire also transforms the dualism of the comic into a peculiarly modern unity, the doubling of the comic artist enacted for the benefit of the audience, the self-generating and self-reflexive experience of the flâneur in a communion with the crowd. This study examines his views in the context of the history of comic theory and contemporary accounts of the individual artists. Complete with illustrations of the many works discussed, it illuminates the history and theory of caricature, the comic and the grotesque and adds to our understanding of modernism in literature and the visual arts.

La psychologue Faith Frye exerce un métier haut risque, la prise en charge des déviants sexuels. Parmi eux se cache certainement l'homme qui la traque.

avec acharnement depuis qu'elle l'a envoyé en prison et qui tue au gré de ses besoins pour se rapprocher d'elle. Elle se réfugie dans la maison familiale dont elle vient d'hériter. Inhabitée depuis vingt ans, isolée, cette maison représente pour Faith la chance et l'espoir d'échapper à l'horreur d'une vie hantée et de sauver sa peau. Mais peine arrivée, Faith est plongée dans un nouveau drame : une jeune fille nue s'écroule devant sa voiture. Elle semble avoir surgi du sous-sol de la demeure. Sur ces traces, explore le thème de la maison isolée, lieu par excellence des déviances cachées, des secrets de famille et des souvenirs traumatisants. De découvertes inquiétantes en révélations macabres, Karen Rose rapproche son lecteur et une histoire aux abois de l'ultime menace et de son véritable visage d'autant plus saisissant qu'il est inattendu. A propos de l'auteur : Après des études scientifiques à l'université du Maryland et un premier métier d'enseignante, Karen Rose s'est tournée vers l'écriture. Son premier roman, publié en 2003, connaît une consécration immédiate. Traduite en 21 langues, elle voit ses ouvrages régulièrement classés parmi les meilleures ventes du New York Times et de USA Today. Il y a de l'action et de nombreux rebondissements dans ce thriller haletant. Tess Gerritsen propose de : Et tu périras par le feu.
