Promoting Positive Development in Early Childhood Karen VanderVen, 2008-09-08 This new volume in the Search Institute Series on Developmentally Attentive Community and Society represents a milestone in Search Institute's signature work on the Developmental Assets that children and adolescents need in their lives to succeed Through the research behind this book Karen VanderVen links this strength based community based approach to human development to early childhood development and practice In doing so she advances a long term vision of understanding child and adolescent development not merely as a series of discrete stages but as a trajectory of development in which experiences in each phase of development link to reinforce or redirect experiences in other aspects of life To be sure VanderVen explores with both breadth and depth a particularly critical time in child development the early childhood years ages 3-5 The latest research in numerous fields has only increased our understanding of how important it is for communities to attend to children's developmental experiences in these crucial years. Positive development in early childhood leads young people on a path to a healthy adulthood and a lack of positive development in early childhood has a blunting effect that extends into elementary and secondary schooling years.

The Early Care and Education Teaching Workforce at the Fulcrum Sharon Lynn Kagan, Kathleen C. Tarrant, Kristie Kauerz, 2008. In this important new book, Sharon Lynn Kagan and her colleagues focus on the more than 2 million individuals who care for and educate nearly two thirds of the American children under age 5 participating in nonparental care. Providing the most thorough synthesis of current research on the early care and education teaching workforce to date, the authors address frequently asked questions about teacher quality, teacher effectiveness, and the professional development necessary to achieve both. They conclude with a call for bold changes that would transform the early care and education workforce. Relying on empirical data and overviews of dozens of initiatives and programs that address early care and education teachers, the book provides a broad and deep analysis of issues surrounding the early care and education teaching workforce. Book Features: Practical, guided by research, offers common sense recommendations to better prepare, recruit, retain, and adequately compensate early care and education teachers. Current, synthesizes hundreds of articles and studies to provide the most up to date review of the research. Comprehensive, places the issues in a system based context to examine the entire early care and education teaching workforce in all settings. This book honors Dr. Julius Richmond's legacy by using his successful model of social change to comprehensively examine the important early care and education workforce issues facing our nation and to offer ambitious recommendations to address them. Sarah M. Greene, President and CEO, National Head Start Association.

Bringing Learning to Life Louise Boyd Cadwell, 2003. Building on her enormously popular book Bringing Reggio Emilia Home, Louise Cadwell helps American educators understand what it means to use ideas from the Reggio Approach in their classrooms. In new and dynamic ways, Cadwell once again takes readers inside the day to day practice of a group of early childhood educators. This time she describes the growth and evolution of the work in the St. Louis Reggio Collaborative over the past 10 years.

New Teachers for a New Century, 2000. During the reign of the Kingdom of Burgundy at the Rhone River, about 443-534, a Burgundian church developed with an Arian homoian profile. This led to disputes but also to an intensive theological exchange with the predominantly Nicene Gallo-Roman population and with Bishop Avitus of Vienne. For the first time, this monograph provides selected letters and fragments written by Avitus with German translation and annotation which indicate problems of church organization and refer to discourses on religion and theological discussions in particular on the Holy Spirit filioque in order to clarify more exactly the meaning of Arian at that time.

New Teachers for a New Century Diane Horm-Wingerd, 2001-04.

Outdoor Play Jane Perry, 2001 This book offers a description of the rich and complex world of pretend play in one play yard

Ready or Not Stacie G. Goffin, Valora Washington, 2007 After more than a century of evolution early childhood care and education in the United States is in transition In this frank discussion of the field's purpose, identity, and responsibility, the authors examine the major issues that must be addressed if children are to be given more and better opportunities. They show how adaptive leadership work can unify the field, create openness to new change strategies, generate a shared vision, and build a viable strategy for its achievement. This provocative volume examines the leadership challenges of early childhood education, drawing lessons from extensive interviews and focus groups and from historical analyses. Suggests how the early care and education field can position itself to take charge of its future rather than being driven by external influences. Outlines the need to focus internally along with a challenging assessment of the field's resistance to change. Focuses on the necessity for the early care and education field to engage in critical adaptive work or risk the consequences of not doing so. This is a powerful book that has the potential to reinvent the field in ways that have yet to be determined. It should be required reading for all who work in early care and education. Josu Cruz Jr, Dean, College of Education and Human Development at Bowling Green State University, Ohio, and past president of NAEYC. They get it. We need a true system of services for young children and their families in America. The authors explain to us why and present options for all of us to consider as we move forward. Dick Clifford, Associate Director, National Center for Early Development, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Goffin and Washington employ a variety of tactics to help us acknowledge an imminent fork in the road, options in our field. If we fail to engage in this adaptive work, we will be no better than the elected officials whom we criticize for their partisan stubbornness and refusal to collaborate for the good of the whole. Marilyn M. Smith, Council for Professional Recognition, Washington, DC.

Serious Players in the Primary Classroom Selma Wassermann, 2000-07. After 10 years of accolades for Serious Players in the Primary Classroom: Empowering Children Through Active Learning Experiences, Selma Wassermann provides readers with a second edition to her classic. Building on the original work, this new edition offers further insight into Wassermann's notion of organizing for instruction, known as Play Debrief Replay, a way of structuring curriculum experiences to promote children's active learning in cooperative groups and to foster independent thinking. The book also provides a theoretical framework for implementing teaching for thinking in primary classrooms. By updating references and adding a new chapter on moral dilemmas, including information that is consonant with constructivist ideologies, Wassermann continues to promote ways of teaching that stimulate children's appreciation for social and ethical issues. Her approach is holistic; it not only honors the play of children but also the work of teachers. Accessible and enlightening, this new edition is a must read for all early childhood professionals. Parents, too, will find this volume useful.

Don't Leave the Story in the Book Mary Hynes-Berry, 2015-04-24. Drawing from 30 years of teaching and professional development experience, this book offers a roadmap for using children's literature to provide authentic learning. Featuring a storyteller's voice, each chapter includes a case study about how a particular fiction or nonfiction work can be used in an early childhood classroom, a series of open-ended questions to help readers construct their own inquiry units, and a bibliography of children's literature. This book provides a unique synthesis of ideas based on constructivist approaches to learning including the importance of positive dispositions and learning communities the nature of higher order thinking and the relationship between methods such as guided inquiry in the sciences and balanced literacy

The Story in the Picture Christine Mulcahey, 2009 This book provides teachers with the skills and freedom to design rich and open ended art experiences for young children The author demonstrates that using fine art reproductions in the early childhood curriculum allows children to construct their own meanings teaches diversity fosters thinking skills and encourages storytelling Based on the NAEYC and NAEA standards this teacher friendly resource includes lesson ideas examples of activities and photographs of children The Story in the Picture has the capacity to have a profound impact on how art is viewed by educators by changing the art experience from one of insignificance to one that contributes greatly to the cognitive growth of the child Sharon Shaffer Executive Director Smithsonian Early Enrichment Center Christine Mulcahey's watchwords are freedom creativity and imagination One can almost feel perspectives opening on her side of the looking glass as children's voices break through the hush and we come in touch with the unexpected From the Foreword by Maxine Greene Teachers College Columbia University Early childhood teachers will find this well written engaging and easy to read book to be a gift It makes sense of current research on early childhood and art and speaks to many common insecurities with easy to implement suggestions for the classroom Cathy Topal Smith College In the tradition of Geraldine Dimondstein and W Lambert Brittain Christine Mulcahey shares wise counsel gleaned from conversations with young children about the art they make and the art that they encounter in richly varied preschool programs Christine Marm Thompson Pennsylvania State University

Let's be Friends Kristen Mary Kemple, 2004 This book describes methods of support and intervention teachers can use to create social inclusion in preschool and the primary grades Combining general early childhood education with special education this unique volume explains a wide variety of strategies ranging from environmental arrangement on the spot teaching and cooperative learning to more intensive individually targeted interventions for children experiences challenges and disabilities
