Make and for Whom? Françoise M. Bodone,2005 Education is a discipline that is constantly emerging and for which there are more questions than answers Beyond the research reports the articles in refereed journals and the well crafted presentations what is happening in education What difference does our work make in the lives of those we research How is education as a whole different because of our effort And what is the nature of the difference we make This book provides some answers to those questions based on engaged and critical research from around the world It is also a critical reflection on new possibilities for qualitative research its implications and relevance to educational practice Andrew Hargreaves Enora practice Commerce ,1922 Unfinished Business Julia Staffel,2025-03-04 Explaining how people reason is central to understanding ourselves as human beings Complex deliberations that take unexpected turns are central to many good detective stories but they are also ubiquitous in everyday life and academic research While philosophers have studied both ends of complex deliberations learning new information and reaching justified conclusions little has been said about our states of mind when we are in the middle of thought Yet this stage of intellectual limbo is where we often produce genuine insight Unfinished Business advances a new theory of the transitional stages of complex deliberation integrating theoretical research in philosophy with empirical results from cognitive science It postulates a new attitude type transitional attitudes that we hold towards potential answers to the question at hand while we re deliberating Transitional attitudes possess their own rationality conditions that differ from the norms of rationality typically applied to conclusions of reasoning The resulting abstract framework reveals deep structural similarities among such varied intellectual pursuits as determining the significance of a historical artefact deciding on a person s guilt in court deliberating about a philosophical problem or searching for a mathematical proof It can help us make progress on difficult philosophical questions such as how we should respond to misleading higher order evidence how we should formally model logical learning and how confident we can rationally be in our own philosophical positions In this book Julia Staffel makes a novel contribution to the study of reasoning and rationality Most of the theorizing in these areas either studies the nature of simple inferences or the conditions under which we can reach justified conclusions Unfinished Business examines how we should theorize about the attitudes we have towards possible answers to a question of interest while our reasoning is ongoing It focuses on complex reasoning processes that don't necessarily progress towards an answer in a linear way Based on both philosophical arguments and empirical research Staffel argues that there is a previously unrecognized attitude type transitional attitudes that play a key role in carrying out complex deliberations Dialogue and Difference in a Teacher Education Program Marilyn

Johnston-Parsons, 2012-05-01 This book is a longitudinal study of a 10 year experimental teacher education program Follow up studies and writing continued for 6 years after the program closed This case study describes a search for effective and socially just practices within a long term reform initiative intended to prepare teachers for urban schools The program was run through a Professional Development School a collaboration between a university program and a diverse group of practicing teachers and the book was written collaboratively by many of the participants faculty mentor teachers doctoral students and teacher candidates graduates There are few longitudinal studies of teacher education programs especially ones that focus on what was learned and told by those who did the learning The narratives here are rich diverse and multivocal They capture the complexity of a reform initiative conducted within a democratic context It's difficult messy and as varied as is democracy itself The program was framed by a sociocultural perspective and the focus was on learning through difference Dialogue across difference which is more than just talk was both the method for doing research and the means for learning The program described here began in the ferment of teacher education reform in the early 1990s responding to the critics of the mid 1980s and this account of it is finished at a time when teacher education is again under attack from a different direction Criticized earlier for being too progressive teacher education is now seen as too conservative The longitudinal results of this program show high retention rates and ground the argument that quality teacher preparation programs for teaching in urban schools may well be cost effective as well as provide increased student learning This is counter to the current move to shorten teacher preparation programs at a time of low teacher retention in our under resourced urban schools The book does not advocate a model for teacher education but it aims to provide principles for practice that include school university collaboration democratic dialogue across differences and inquiry as a way to guide reform *Hapke v.
