Making Things Happen Jane Murphy Thomas, 2022-07-08 Drawing on the Pakistan Earthquake Reconstruction and Recovery Project PERRP this volume explores the sociocultural side of post disaster infrastructure reconstruction As the latter is often fraught with delays and even abandonment one cause being ineffective interactions between construction and local people PERRP used anthropological and participatory approaches Along with strong construction management such approaches led to the rebuilding being completed on time As disasters are increasing in number and intensity so too will be the need for reconstruction for which PERRP has lessons to offer

How to Make Things Happen Beatriz Muñoz-Seca, 2017-08-21 This book offers models and frameworks to analyze your service delivery systems as a whole It presents the framework to solve customer problems by delivering the right knowledge at the right time to the right place and take advantage of the efficiency that technology and algorithms offer Why do so many brilliant plans fail to deliver in practice Why can't your employees just do what you want them to do In most cases because the operations ecosystem in which those plans must be deployed fails to fully understand the problem that needs to be solved The fourth industrial revolution is seeing advances in Artificial Intelligence industrialize the service sector But despite the cost cutting that these advances offer firms are still struggling to stay competitive That is because they think that cost cutting delivers increased efficiency whereas it is the other way around increased efficiency cuts costs And the heart of efficiency in delivering services is people and their knowledge As industrialization drives ever more standardized offerings and ever little human contact it is in those rare moments of human interaction where the greatest opportunity to add or destroy value lies It is human brains and the knowledge they contain that are best suited to problem solving and individualizing client solutions The real competitive edge will become the ability to foresee and individualize problem solving To do this firms must start thinking of knowledge as inventory who knows what who needs to know what and where and when do they need to know it

What Makes Things Happen Kim Treiger-Bar-Am, 2025-06-30 People consider luck chance fate and freedom to be forces that bring about events This book explores the customs associated with each of these concepts alongside practices rooted in Judaism Sometimes incidents seem to be the result of luck Often no apparent reason lies behind them Indeed people live with uncertainty It is also often supposed that chance causes things to occur In modern science the world is deemed to be governed by randomness Perhaps it is fate that makes things happen Yet the Jewish tradition does not abide by the idea from classical Greece which has continued until today that one s path in life and its endpoint are predetermined by fate Rather in Judaism repentance is an open avenue always People have free will and at any moment can change their behavior for the better In Jewish thought as well as in many modern day notions freedom is presumed to be the real cause of events With freedom someone can choose to act and can make things happen The instances of climate change democracy and the current war that

Israel faces illuminate the necessity of holding onto the belief in our freedom People can make a difference I make things happen Gnomo Orzo,2020-05-03 Metal is made of time Its encounter with light ignites the power to make things happen The archeological findings and myths of our planet show that a great power is concealed in the connection between human beings and metals It is the power of making things happen and it has influenced human events since the dawn of time Today on the threshold of the Third Millennium after a long period of research a technology arises that can once again bring us close to this extraordinary potential This book is an impassioned tribute to this new chapter of history It is also proof that what is highly complex is also extremely simple in its essence The Science of Making Things Happen Kim Marcille Romaner,2010 Entrepreneur speaker and consultant Kim Romaner has spent years researching the latest advances in science and technology and then working with colleagues and clients to apply those discoveries in practical and profitable ways In these pages she reveals five principles from recent and little known scientific discoveries that you can use right now to accomplish your dreams whether those dreams are focused on career relationships fitness creative projects or businessendeavors You ll learn how to wield the power of quantum neurological and biological mechanisms already in play to change your life as if by magic The big lesson of this book is that the universe is designed to turn the possibilities you choose into realities and Kim guides you through the cutting edge science of amplifying those possibilities and achieving your goals

Design, Philosophy and Making Things Happen Brian Dixon,2023-02-03 Drawing from the work of Dewey Wittgenstein and Heidegger this book aims to relate a series of philosophic insights to the practice of engaging in design research for change These insights are explored and presented as a set of potential strategies for grounding transformative design research within an intellectual context which both embraces and celebrates experience process and uncertainty Chapter by chapter through theory practical examples and case studies an accessible narrative opens up around the coupled themes of existence and experience language and meaning and knowing and truth The outcome is a rich and detailed perspective on the ways in which philosophy may afford design research for change a means to both explain as well as understand not only what it is and what it does but also what it could be The book will be of interest to scholars working in design studies design theory and design research Making Things Happen James Woodward,James Francis Woodward,2003 In doing so he shows how the manipulationist account both illuminates important features of successful causal explanation in the natural and social sciences and avoids the counterexamples and difficulties that infect alternative approaches from the deductive nomological model onward BOOK JACKET How Words Make Things Happen David Bromwich,2019-04-04 Sooner or later our words take on meanings other than we intended How Words Make Things Happen suggests that the conventional idea of persuasive rhetoric which assumes a speaker s control of calculated effects and the modern idea of literary autonomy which assumes that poetry makes nothing happen together have produced a misleading account of the relations between words and human action Words do make things happen But they cannot be counted on to produce the result they intend This volume studies examples from a range of speakers and writers and offers close readings of their words Chapter 1 considers the theory of speech acts propounded by J L Austin Speakers Who Convince Themselves is the subject of chapter 2 which interprets two soliloquies by Shakespeare s characters and two by Milton s Satan The oratory of Burke and Lincoln come in for extended treatment in chapter 3 while chapter 4 looks at the rival tendencies of moral suasion and aestheticism in the poetry of Yeats and Auden The final chapter a cause of controversy when first published in the London Review of Books supports a policy of unrestricted free speech against contemporary proposals of censorship Since we cannot know what our own words are going to do we have no standing to justify the banishment of one set of words in favour of another
